AT KEITER'S

THE SITUATION SURVEYED

A TOWNSMAN'S VIEWS ON PRACTICAL POLITICS.

SOME MISTAKES POINTED OUT

Cartor Made a Good Looking Chairman But He Was Not "In It" for Practical Work. Reid's Contribution.

THE article contributed by me in yesterday's HERALD was intended to convey to the public mind the impression that the attempt to purify politics as made by the recent national management of the Republican party was a complete failure. And I here assert that it was a failure. It was like the purified water that is used at the collieries—it destroyed the linings of the Republican leaders and they went up under slight pressure.

A lack of political work, a lack of common sense was what subjected the party to the tornado. Why just think! Here were the Democrats drumming into the heads of the workmen of the country the argument that the Republican party was responsible for the affairs at Homestead, and in the face of this argument the Republican national management allowed the Democratic assertions that Frick and Carnegie had contributed to the Republican campaign fund to pass by without notice. That was a mistake!

If it is true that the Fricks and Carnegies did contribute to the National Republican campaign fund the committee was foolish in accepting it. If such contributions were not made, then the national committee neglected its duty when it failed to so inform the masses who must have been influenced by the report. I like the sentiment of Hon. James S. Clarkson when he says that in the day of new energy the Republican party will draw its line openly and boldly and free itself alike from the Carnegies, Fricks and others who betrayed protection to gain cheap labor, and from all others wearing its name for purposes of their own gain.

Let us hear no more about purifying politics. The present system of purification is a failure. It destroys our boilers and leaves us high and dry without a presidency, a Senate, or a Congress.

Mr. Cartor made a good looking chairman, as a paper I have just laid down remarks, and he looks so much like the typical "Uncle Sam" that one would think the people would be willing to flock to his standard for almost solely that reason. Mr. Cartor is generous and affable, but he is a failure as a national chairman. His politics are not practical. The people would no doubt like to see the politics of the country purified, but that they first want to stand by the party that seems to hold out the greatest inducements in dollars and cents was demonstrated last Tuesday. It would take a thousand years to purify Tammany Hall, but the people took its word and we are in the soup.

And there was another millstone, Whitelaw Reid. Egad! it will be a long time before the Republican party will look for a candidate in the Tribune building again. The ghost of Horace Greeley seemed to have hold of his coat tail and he couldn't run a little bit. True he made a magnificent contribution to the campaign fund, $70,000 I believe; but several days before the election his newspaper put in a bill of $70,000 to the Republican National Committee, which, by the way, very much resembles the loyalty of one of the newspapers in this county.

Contrast this $70,000 transaction with Democratic methods. Last year the Democratic National Committee was in debt to the extent of over $80,000. This was suddenly wiped out. How, or by whom, is not stated directly, but some of the most prominent and reliable Democratic papers say that a look at the stub book of Calvin S. Brice would solve the problem.

The millionaires who surrounded Chairman Cartor this year were not practical men and, as I said yesterday, the method in which the late campaign was conducted for the Republican party made me sick. C. * Y.

ASHLAND 'APPENINGS.

A Bright Correspondent Sends an Interesting Batch of Experiences.

Miss Rachel Ross, of Centalla, did some shopping in town to-day.

The family of the late John Maurer, of Grandville, is moving into the Cleaver building here.

Daniel Polan, one of Cleveland's staunch upholders at Lost Creek, paid a business trip to town Thursday.

"Tim" Hurst, one of "ye sports," was sightseeing at Pottsville Wednesday.

Miss Sallie Bostinger, who was pleasantly entertained the past week by Mahanoy City friends, returned home Thursday.

Miss Nan McDonald, daughter of Land Agent McDonald, went to Pottsville Wednesday to attend the wedding of her cousin, Miss Mame Fitzpatrick, which took place at Pottsville on Thursday.

P. J. Ogden, one of the P. & R. passenger conductors and who resides at Catawissa, came down to congratulate his friends on Cleveland's election Thursday.

The glassblowers are creating quite a sensation in town. Wednesday evening a prize in the shape of a beautiful glass ornament, said to be worth twenty-five dollars, was given to the best lady waiter. It was carried off triumphantly by Miss Strivets, of this town.

VICTORY THAT DIDN'T COME

Our King of the Air Cannot Sound His Clarion Notes.

A great clearing out of campaign illustrations is now going on at this office. Before the election we made arrangements to visit with our most enterprising contemporaries in announcing the re-election of President Harrison and had an immense eagle fattened and trained to shout the glad notes of victory over Grover Cleveland and Free Trade. He was a handsome bird and we pinned great faith on his ability to convey the tidings of victory. His English was in excellent trim at about eight o'clock Tuesday night. We thought we had him safely caged and that he was beyond all danger, but during the night a tiger got into his coop. The condition in which we found the bird Wednesday morning is ably illustrated by our artist.

NO PAVING THIS FALL.

Indications Point to a Postponement Until Spring.

There is every reason to believe that the predictions made by the HERALD some time ago concerning the paving of streets will be fulfilled. Nothing has been done thus far and the streets are rapidly hardening, so that within a few days we may expect an official announcement that no paving will be done until next spring. It was expected that the work of reducing Main street to grade would at least be accomplished this fall, but the arrival of genuine winter weather will no doubt postpone that, too, until the flowers bloom again. The reducing of the street to grade was to have commenced last Monday. It is understood that there is a sentiment of postponing all the work.

"Underground."
The successful new comedy drama of mingling life, entitled "Underground," will be seen at Ferguson's theatre on Thursday evening next, November 17th, with its wealth of scenery and mechanical effects. The play is the work of Daniel L. Hart, a young journalist of Wilkes-Barre, and has met with the hearty endorsement of the press in the cities where it has been produced. It is undoubtedly the strongest attraction of the season.

Highly Appreciated.

The Nickel Plate management is pleased to note the substantial manner in which the public show their appreciation of the improved train service on their line. If you have not recently patronized that line, we cordially commend it to you. 1-nov-92

EXCITING FALSE RUMOR!

NO CHANGES MADE ON THE ELECTRIC ROAD.

BUSINESS PRINCIPLES ONLY!

Ashland and Centalla to be Connected by an Electric Railroad—The Future of Electricity, &c.

AN absurd rumor was current on our streets yesterday that the Schuylkill Traction Company had discharged all the conductors and motor-men who were Republicans and filled their places with Democrats. What probably gave rise to this story was that a crew was given the usual two-weeks suspension for being late, and another crew was put on half time, owing to the taking off of a car. The Traction Company is composed of gentlemen who are running the road on strictly business principles, and have no time to monkey with politics. As long as employees perform their duties they will be retained, no matter what their politics are.

OBSE'S OBSERVATIONS.
What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

The newspaper men of Scranton will pay a visit to the Schuylkill coal regions next Sunday as the guests of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company. The party, including ladies, will number about 125. They will be accompanied by a full orchestra. The departure from Scranton will be made at 5 a. m. via the New Jersey Central to White Haven, and over the Lehigh Railroad to Hazleton, Delano, Mahanoy City, Shenandoah, Mt. Carmel and Susquehanna. Dinner will be served at the latter place. The homeward journey will be over the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad via Mahanoy Plane, Pottsville and Mauch Chunk.
