FIRE IN THE FIRST!

A THREATENED CONFLAGRATION FOR A TIME.

FIVE BUILDINGS DESTROYED!

They Were Small Structures Conducted as Polish and Hungarian Boarding Houses. The Loss Was Small.

THE town was again threatened by a conflagration yesterday morning and the excellence of the volunteer fire department was again demonstrated.

The fire started shortly after 2 a. m. in one of the skeleton frame buildings at the end of Centre street owned by Jerry Conaghan.

The situation was a most discouraging one for the firemen, but in face of all the handicaps they did splendid work.

Meanwhile the flames spread from the starting point to the adjoining small frame structures owned by the estate of Mrs. Lamb, who died recently.

For a time the First ward residents were panic stricken. All the structures in that section are frame and the fire had such a hold before the water was turned on it seemed the flames would spread west to the Lehigh Valley depot before the firemen would be able to check them.

Although five buildings were destroyed the loss will not exceed $1,000, outside of household goods and personal property. It is believed that $1,500 will cover losses although a number of Poles and Hungarians claim to have lost considerable money.

These claims were partly confirmed to-day, but it is not believed that the money lost is by any means as large as some of the losers claim.

One of the men who were in the place when the fire started said to a reporter to-day: "The fire started so suddenly and spread so rapidly that we barely escaped it. Some fellows were playing 66 and 21 in a room and in the kitchen other fellows were boiling alcohol to make whiskey. The stuff splashed over upon the stove and the next instant the whole place was in a blaze."

Of the buildings destroyed four were owned by the Lamb estate. This fire again demonstrates the necessity for an alteration of the bell tower, whereby the sounds of the bell may be better thrown out.

It also seems that there should be some other arrangement made for a supply of water when fire occurs. The water should be turned on during certain hours of the night. It is too hazardous to have empty pipes in such emergencies.

A POTTSVILLE BLAZE.

The Loss Amounts to Several Thousand Dollars.

Pottsville also had a fire early yesterday morning. It started in a millinery store in the Shisler building.

The heaviest loser is George M. Bretz, the photographer, who had his gallery in the Shisler building.

Albert Pollock, proprietor of the millinery store in the Shisler building, lost nearly $2,000 and has $6,000 insurance. The building was damaged to the extent of $5,000, which is covered by insurance.

A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION!

ANOTHER P. & R. ENGINE GOES TO PIECES.

FIVE MEN MEET THEIR DEATHS

Two Engineers, Two Firemen and a Conductor the Victims. Cause of the Explosion a Mystery.

ANOTHER P. & R. locomotive exploded to-day and five men lost their lives. The explosion took place at Conner's crossing, a short distance above Schuylkill Haven, at 2 o'clock this morning.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. It is said that the engine was a very old one.

At the time the accident happened there were five men on the engine, Harry Allison, of Port Carbon, the engineer in charge; Cowhey, an engineer who had finished his work and was on his way to his home in Palo Alto; T. F. Kendrick, the conductor of the train, and the two firemen of the engineers. Their names could not be learned.

The bodies of the victims were horribly mutilated and some parts of them were found with pieces of the engine many yards distant from the scene of the calamity.

RASH RUDDY.

Held Under the Postal Laws for His Act.

Peter Ruddy, of Lost Creek, is in a bad fix and he owes his position to excessive enthusiasm over the election of Cleveland.

While in a hilarious state Friday night he called at the office of Postmaster George W. Johnson. Not content with taunting the postmaster with the boast that the official would soon be "jired," Ruddy behaved himself so disgracefully that Johnson was obliged to eject him.

This act incensed Ruddy and after declaring that Cleveland was president and that the Democrats would show the Republicans a thing or two he attacked the doors and forced an entrance to the post office. He was like an infuriated bull and played havoc with everything in reach, including the letter cases and boxes and other property pertaining to the government business of the office.

Saturday morning Detective Amour, armed with a warrant sworn out by the postmaster, went in search of Ruddy and found him. The accused was taken before Squire Elmer Johnson, at Lost Creek. He pleaded guilty, but being unable to furnish $1,000 bail was committed to the county jail.

For the destruction of the post office property Ruddy is amendable to the postal laws and it is thought the United States authorities will take charge of the case. If they do Ruddy will be liable to a penalty of $1,000 fine and imprisonment for five years.

BECOMING SERIOUS.

Another Threatened Loss by the Scarcity of Water.

The drought now threatens to cripple the operation of the electric railway. The power house of the company at Rappahannock is supplied from the Lost Creek dam and the condition of that source is so critical that the people of Girardville are scarcely able to secure enough water for household purposes.

The electric railway company has been exercising the strictest economy in its use of water the past ten days and in that way has managed to keep up just enough power to keep its cars going. On Saturday and yesterday the supply became so low that suspension of traffic on the line was barely averted.

The cars were running to-day, but it took all the ingenuity and patience the company could command to keep up the power. Unless the Lost Creek dams are replenished very soon or some other means by which the company may be supplied with water can be devised traffic on the road will be badly crippled.

ASHLAND APPENINGS.

A Bright Correspondent Sends an Interesting Batch of Localisms.

J. C. Wagner, one of Frackville's enterprising business men, spent one day last week in town looking up his business interests.

During the glass blowers visit here the town has been quite lively. Chairman Marr, of the Democratic party, is a bigger man than his party. To him, more than any other, is credit due for the Democratic victory.

Miss Virgie Groff, one of the graduates of the class of '92, has been appointed teacher of a school at Lavelle. Virgie began her duties as a school marm last week.

The Democrats of town are making preparations to participate in the grand "blow out" to be held in Pottsville on Thursday evening, in honor of Cleveland's election. Special trains will, no doubt, be run from here.

Harry Wallauer, after spending a week of pleasure among friends, returned to New York on Friday last. Harry is an industrious and energetic young man and will no doubt be a credit to his town.

J. Harry James, Esq., takes his defeat for District Attorney with good grace. His large vote here is evidence of popularity among his neighbors.

Miss Josie Pelstring, who had been visiting friends in Philadelphia the past few months, returned home Friday evening last.

F. J. Kehler and wife, of Locust Dale, passed through town Friday evening to catch the "Caution Bell" for Buffalo, N. Y., where they expect to spend a few weeks.

Miss Tillie Ebert is lying seriously ill at her home on North Third street.

F. O. S. of A. Notice. A special meeting of Washington Camp, No. 206, F. O. S. of A., will be held on Wednesday, November 16th, at 12:30 o'clock, in Robbins' hall, South Main street, to make arrangements to attend the funeral of our late brother, John Bickelbach, which takes place at 2 o'clock on above date.

Members of our sister camps cordially invited to attend. W. S. LINDENMUTH, Pres. Airtel.—C. T. STRAUSS, Sec. 11-14-2t

Another Old Soldier Gone. John Bickelbach, of Wm. Penn, after a short illness, died at his late residence on Saturday. The deceased was well known in this community; served in Company B, 9th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, during the rebellion and was Commander of Watkin Water Post, No. 146, Grand Army of the Republic of this place, a few years ago. He was in his 52d year.

Shows which way the wind blows and so does the amount of travel on the Nickel Plate show that the new train service has made that line more popular than ever.

Because the election is over. Because we are permitted to live. Because we were not a candidate. Because the country will now escape the terrible flood of cheap English labor foreseen by Democratic papers.

Because we are to have free trade—buy goods cheaper, &c., and get the same wages as before. Because Pennsylvania is saved, anyhow. Because Frick went over to the Democratic party. Because the Republican party will have loss of a lead to carry hereafter.
