A VOICE FROM ATLANTA

Mrs. Iverson Denies the Soft Impeachment.

SENATOR HILL IS SAYING NOTHING.

The Southern Lady Apparently Much Pu Out Over the Rumor-Says She Would Not Know the Statesman Should She See Him Again.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 15 .- The report of Senator Hill's engagement to Mrs. Fan-nie Iverson, of Atlanta, is unequivocally

She met Senator Hill five years ago or his first visit to Atlanta at one of the receptions tendered him here. The report of their engagement was circulated a short while after Mr. Hill's visit at that time, and the report has been revived at

To ascertain the truth or falsity of the rumors a reporter called upon Mrs. Iver-Although somewhat indisposed by constant nursing of one of her little boys, Mrs. Iverson granted the reporter an interview, and upon hearing the object of his visit assured him in the most em-phatic manner that there was absolutely phatic manner that there was absolutely no ground for the association of her name with that of the New York Senator.

"Why," said the lady, "I have never met Senator Hill but once, and that was but for a very brief period at a reception in this city when I, in common with many other Georgia ladies, was formally presented. presented. I am sure that I should not know Senator Hill if I should meet him, and I feel quite sure in asserting that he would not know me.
"The publicity these rumors have occasioned is exceedingly embarrassing to me and I suppose they are equally so to Senator Hill. I have been so annoyed about the matter that it has become a necessity for me to decline to answer the telephone. I really cannot conceive how the story was started and I trust it may be speedily dropped. When the rumors first reached me some time ago, Mrs. Barret called on me in connection with the matter and I then as now with great surprise pronounced them entirely un-founded."

Mrs. Iverson is justly regarded as one of the most beautiful women in the South. In manner she resembles Mrs. Grover Cleveland and as her friends here claim, she certainly has all the attributes that go to making up an ideal Southern

The crime for which Petrillo was hanged was a cold-blooded premeditated murder. He was an inveterate gambler and made a great deal of money by successful "monte throwing."

on Lafayette street, this city, Petrillo wor money from him repeatedly before Demec realized that he was being swindled.

He resolved to get svenjand win some of his money back, so he engaged a pro-fessional gambler from New York to come to this city and play "monte" with Petrillo. The gambler came and Petrillo fell into the trap.

THE POPULATION UNDER ARMS

Reported Uprising at Caps Hayti, Whiel President Hippolyte Has Set Ou to Suppress-Cabinet Composition the Cause of the Present Trouble.

New York, Nov. 15.—Captain Sanson of the Atlas line steamer Adirondack which has arrived from West India ports brings the news that war is again 1mmi nent in Hayti. Captain J. W. Sansom reports that when his vessel was in port at Port-au-Prince on Nov. 6, the place was fairly boiling with excitement.

"Almost the entire population," he said, 'was under arms, and President Hippolyte was on the point of setting out with a strong force for Cape Hayti, in order to suppress a threatened uprising there. I learned that the cause of the hostile sentiment toward Hippolyte at the Cape is due to the dissatisfaction felt among the leaders there over the con-among the leaders there over the construction of the President's Cabinet.

"Hippolyte is himself a man of the North or Cape region, and it was through the loyal support given him there that he was enabled to descend upon Port-au-Prince in the war with Legitime and overthrow the latter's government. Naturally, therefore, the leaders in the North felt that they were entitled to a large representation in Hippolyte's Cabinet.

"At first they had nothing to complain of, as the President, it is said, gave the portfoliosammost exclusively to the men who had belied him to conquer. Lat-terly, however, it is charged, be has filled vacancies as they occurred with men of the South—men who fought against him under the banner of Legitime. "The Cape Region has not only resented this exclusion of their representatives from among Hippolyte's advisors, but has grown very jealous of what appears to them to be a surrender on the part of Hippolyte's a Southern Library to S. Hippolyte to Southern influences. Hence it is easily understood that they bestow upon him the epithets of 'traitor,' 'rene-gade,' 'ingrate,' and the like."
