FLAG RAISING.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. Present a Flag to Girardville's Schools, Yesterday was a gala day for the members of the Jr. Order United American Mechanics of Girardville in particular, and for the citizens of our neighboring borough in general. The members of this patriotic organization ertainly acted wisely in selecting Thanksgiving Day spon which to present an Ameriof the day prove the wisdom of their selection. The numerous flag presentations to public schools by Councils of this order have brought public attention to their claims as the friends of "the corner stones" of our liberties. While not claiming originality in placing flags over the public schools, yet it was the first to put that idea into practice Corps, an auxiliary to and there are few schools where the order the Grand Army of the exists that the stars and siripes does not float

The parade preceeding the flag raising cerenonies moved at 2:30 p. m., and consisted of a majority of the societies of Girardville and a number from distant points. The exercises, mmediately after hoisting the flag over the West ward school building, were conducted Germans who were hunting on the mountain in the Palace theatre. Rev. The head was slightly elevated and the eyes were wide open. The hunters hurried from the scene with all possible haste and made known their dissovery to Squire Dengler, who notified Deputy Coroner Bremman.

Undertaker Frank Bonin, the Deputy Coroner, Chief Burgess Smith and a number of others went to the place designated. The Burgess loosened the strap and the body was losused to the ground. It was combatably diesed. A light brown evercost, two black cutaways, a vest and two airless had a fo ded warmth for the upper part of the body, and the rest of the apparel was equally as good. From the position in which the body was found it appears that death must bave been marsed by strangulation. The left fool was a little higher than the right and havely readd upon a block of wood. The remains of a fire were also onder the feet. It is hell-eved raident of St. Clair for many years.
