MISS BORDEN'S CHANGES

Not Thought That the Grand Jury Will Indict Her.

NO NEW EVIDENCE WAS PRESENTED.

Believed That the Proceedings Are Delayed Because the Testimony Adduced Is Not Considered Sufficient to Warrant Bringing in a True Bill.

TAUNTON, Mass., Nov. 26.—The impression prevails that the grand jury will not indict Lizzie Borden for the murder of her father, Andrew Borden, but the public is no more certain of this than it was when the case first went into the hands of the jury, only by inference, since no member of that body has expressed himself in any way.

It is quite certain, however, that no new evidence of any importance has been given before the jury and that proceedings are delayed because the evidence is not considered sufficient to warrant the finding of an indictment.

There is yet a week nearly for unearthing fresh evidence and in that time enough may be gathered to make things assume an entirely different aspect. It is a fact, however, that as conditions are now the chances for Miss Borden's early release from confinement are bright.

If she is indicted and the jury at the trial fail to convict, there would be little hope of ever bringing her before the court again, even though she should be charged the next time with murdering the other member of the family, whose name was not mentioned in the warrant for her arrest.

If the grand jury sets her free it does not mean that she is forever cleared of any future action of the body, but on the contrary, she can be hauled up at any time on a new charge provided there is at the time fresh and convincing evidence against her.

It is felt that the Attorney-General realizes that it would be better for all concerned to make no error of judgment now, even at the risk of conjuring up false appearances, and to place Miss Borden in a position where she will not be beyond the reach of justice.

The probabilities are strongly in favor of no bill.

THE READING INVESTIGATION.

President McLeod Appears Before the Committee and is Examined.

New York, Nov. 26.—President McLeod said during his examination before the Congressional Committee investigating the Reading coal combis, that in addition to being president of the Reading Railroad he was president of the Reading Coal & Iron Company, capitalized at $5,000,000.

He said that the total number of acres of coal land controlled by the Reading through the coal and iron company was 113,317, two-thirds of it unimproved.

Leases of the lines of the Lehigh Valley and the Central Railroad of New Jersey to the Reading, dated Feb. 11 and Feb. 12, 1892, were offered in evidence.

Mr. McLeod admitted that since those dates contracts had been made by the Reading with individual operators along the lines mentioned to pay 60 per cent. of prices realized for coal.

Mr. McLeod said that at a meeting held either in June or July prices of coal were fixed and they were in advance of those prevailing previously. There had been no advance in prices since July.

WHERE IS O'CONNOR?

Mysterious Disappearance of Utica's Ex-Assemblyman.

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Where is O'Connor? He left Little Falls Saturday, came here, as he said, because his father was sick, and left his barrow at "Aunt Jo" Voshburgh's home, one mile east of Little Falls. Monday morning he left home and wife, saying he did not know whether he would continue his trip or not, as he must see certain parties first. One was his photographer. Since then nothing has been heard of him. His wife said to-day she had not heard from him and was anxious about him.

There are several rumors afloat—one that he left for New York Monday and would be found at the bottom of New York harbor. O'Connor's brother will neither deny nor confirm the above. The wife, a much liked young woman, whom O'Connor married about a year ago, seems much dejected. O'Connor is a lawyer, and rumor has it, is so entangled in financial matters that it is convenient for him to be absent. The wife is domiciled with her mother.

PLEA FOR MORE SILVER

American Delegates Present Resolutions at Brussels.

THE PROPOSALS COLDLY RECEIVED.

Outline of the Plan on Bimetallism Which Was Offered—Most of the Member Declined to Consider the Proposition Without First Consulting Their Respective Governments.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 26.—The American suggestions for bimetallism were submitted by Senator Allison and Senator Jones to the International Monetary conference.

The American delegates presented a resolution declaring that, in the opinion of the conference, it is desirable that means be found for an increasing use of silver in the currency systems of the nations.

A document prepared by the American delegates and presented with the resolution explained that they wished that an opportunity be afforded to consider their plans. At the same time, they submitted a general plan on bimetallism offered by the United States, showing first, that the re-establishment and maintenance of a parity between gold and silver, and the continued use of both as coined money of full debt paying power would be productive of important benefit to the whole world.

The document thus proceeds: "The objects to be accomplished by the removal of the legal restrictions now existing, and the coinage of silver into full legal tender money, restoring by international agreement the parity of value between the metals at such a ratio as the conference may decide upon. The essentials of such an international agreement should be: (1) The unrestricted coinage of both gold and silver into money of full debt paying power; (2) fixing a ratio in the coinage between the two metals; (3) the establishment of a uniform charge, if any, to the public for minting gold and silver coins."

The American proposals were coldly received. M. Tirard of the French delegation, who speaks with authority as a former Minister of finance, declined to consider the proposals without first consulting the French Government, and in this position M. Tirard was sustained by most of the other delegates, who also declined to give consideration to the American proposals without consulting their respective governments. Thereupon the American delegates decided to withdraw their proposals provisionally.

Alfred de Rothschild of the British delegation, announced that he would propose to-day to create an international syndicate to purchase silver, with the view of effecting an appreciation in the value of the metal.

Cornelius Vanderbilt's Newport Villa Destroyed by Fire.

Newport, R. I., Nov. 26.—Just before 5 o'clock yesterday evening Cornelius Vanderbilt discovered fire in the main hall of his beautiful villa "The Breakers," on Ochre Point. He at once sent an alarm by telephone to headquarters, but owing to a misunderstanding only the emergency wagon was sent.

Fifteen minutes later, when a general alarm was sounded, the villa was enveloped in flames. The family were just able to escape without saving anything. The entire place is gutted to the ground, entailing a loss of $500,000 or $600,000.

When the firemen arrived there was only half pressure from the mains, the stream being perfectly useless. The servants saved some few articles of clothing, but even these were thrown out without regard to ownership. An immense crowd of cottagers and citizens gathered, and there were hundreds of willing helpers, but the flames spread so rapidly that all aid was futile.

TO SAVE THE MILITARY BILL.

Conditions on Which the Clericals Will Assist to Pass It.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—The Clerical party have decided to force Count Caprivi's hand by introducing in the Reichstag a bill providing for the return to Germany of the Jesuit orders expelled during the Kulturkampf.

Their object is to compel the Government to grant this concession so as to save the Military bill. They control about 110 votes in the Reichstag and with their aid the Government could pass the Military bill.

Count Caprivi's bargaining for their support recently has been shattered on his declaration that the Jesuit orders could not be considered for some time.

The Clericals now say that the Military bill and the bill for the return of the Jesuits must stand or fall together.
