MOST REMARKABLE MAN OF HIS TIME

Marvelous Rise of a Poor Boy to P.wer and Fame-His Wealth Estimated in the Neighborhood of One Hundred Million-His Children His Death as Vet Produces Little Effect on Wall Street-Incidents of His Career.

New York, Dec. 3 — Arrangements for the funeral of Jay Gould, the millionairs, who died yesterday, have now been completed. It will be held from the house Monday at 10 a. m.

Rev. Dr. Paxton, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in which Mr. Gould worshipped, will conduct the services. will be assisted by Rev. Chancellor Mc-Cracken and Rev. Roderick Terry. The choir from Dr. Paxton's Church will take part in the services. The interment will be at Woodlawn. The utmost secrecy was observed at the health office regarding the certificate of death of Mr. Gould, which was filed in the Bureau of Vital Statistics in the afternoon. An undertaker, and even his name will not be told, called upon Secretary Clark and requested that the representatives of the press should not have access to the certificate.

This is all that is known of the certificate, that it was signed by Dr. Munn and that it gave the cause of Mr. Gould's death as pitthis is pulmonarius.

The end came at 9:15 o'clock,
Just before he died, Mr. Goold, realizing that he had but a little while longer to live, expressed a desire that all the members of his family be called, that he might look upon them for the last time. He was perfectly conscious and en-tirely composed, meeting the end with culmness. His mind was clear to the last, as was demonstrated by the fact that he missed the face of a member of the family who had left the room for a moment.

Mr. Gould's last words were in the form of a request that he might, at the closing moments of his life, be sur-rounded by the beloved members of his family.

"WIZARD" GOULD-Wall Street Operations-His Domesticity -Habits and Character.

Of Mr. Gould's career since he began to operate in Wall Street, columns might be written, were the story not pretty well known to the public. The specula-tions in Eric, the "Black Friday" and other episodes are familiar to most New Yorkers and have been often retold. Suffice it to say that from the time he went into Wall Street Gould forged straight ahead; there was no going back, and but little standing still, Line after line of railroad fell under the control of this man, whom other financiers called the "Wizard" of Wall Street, until thousands upon thousands of miles of road were to all intents and purposes his own. With a single move in the stock market he could affect financial matters not only in every city in this country, but in London, Paris and Vienna as well.

He turned his attention to the telegraphic system of the country, and did not rest until he had a monopoly of that, and controlled the Atlantic cable as well. Was this enough? Not at all. There were elevated railroads in New York city representing millions in money. Here was more work to the hand of this remarkable man, and in the end this Talk of Aladdin's lamp. It was but a duil, rusty affair placed alongside the brilliant light of this man's genius. There is nothing in fact or flotion since Adam delved for a living that can rival the plain, straightforward story of this man's life. It is simply unparalleled. There has never been anything like it. and good figurers say that there is never likely to be again.

Cared Naught for Society.

Mr. Gould matried when he was a young man, and was always domestic in his habits. He loved his family and bonce more than most men do to-day. he cared nothing for and paid little atten-tion to it. Though he paid for a box in the Metropolitan Opera House he was seen there but rarely.

He attended the theaters at times, but not with any regularity. He never, so far as known, expressed any high appre-ciation of high arts, of music, the drama, or literature, although he did write a history of Delaware county that is regarded with favor by collectors of rare and curious books.

The financier has always had a liking for fine flowers. He spent a large amount of money on beautiful flowers and rare plants for his bothouses and gardens at Tarrytown, and some very line specimens of orchids have been developed there.

But in the main Mr. Gould lived more plainly than many men whose income is less toan $10,000.

He had his hands full of business at all times. But he was never nig-gardly. Like most other business men, he could not be his own almoner. As he said, while his wife was alive she dis-tributed his money for him and did it with a free hand, as many know. Mr. Gould gave in addition to the cieties that are organized for the purpose of relieving the needy.

Nor was Mr. Gould what some persons call a religious man. But he was as re ligious as most of his neighbors. For years he kept a pew in a local Episcopal

JAY GOULD'S FORTUNE. Estimated by His Business Friends at Not Less Than $100,000,000.

Just what Jay Gould's wealth amounted to has always been a matter of interest-ing speculation. Those nearest to him in business transactions have always been in doubt as to his holdings and inwestments, apart from railroad stocks and bonds, but the dead multi-millionaire's friends agree that his fortune will foot up about $100,000,000.

He holds 22 millions, par value, of Western Union Telegraph, which at to-day's prices would fetch about $18,700, 000; $10,000,000, par value, of Missouri Pacific, which is now worth in the mar-ket $5,500,000.

He is supposed to hold in the neighborhood of $5,000,000, probably more of Manhattan Railway stock, worth $10,-400,000: His holding of all these stocks have been larger than this, but he sold them to either invest the money in new issues of bonds of the Missouri Pacific and Manhattan companies or to finance those companies until bonds could be issued. Excellent information is that he holds about one-third of the bonds issued on the Missouri Pacific system, which would be about $30,000,000. His estate holds over $12,000,000 of Wabash Railway stock which shows a loss of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,

As long ago as 1884 Mr. Gould was known to hold about $3,000,000 of first-class railway mortgage bonds upon roads other than those controlled or

Besides these items he had large investments in a great number of properties oncerning which the general public knows little or nothing.

His holdings of Union Pacific and Kausas Pacific bonds, which have never been stated, must be large but it is not believed that he owned of late years much if any Union Pacific stock.

HIS EARLY DAYS.

incidents at Rexbury, Where the Financier Was Born.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Dec. 3 .- In the little village of Roxbury, Delaware county. where Jay Gould was born in 1838, the news of his death caused much sorrow, as the great financier had many boyhood friends there, some of whom are now living. He came of Puritan stock, his gran father coming to Dolawara county from Connecticut in 1779.

The eldest son of this famous Captain Gould was the first male child born in that wilderness. Jay's father was a strict Methodist, and Jay, his brothers and sisters always attended meeting in the Taller meeting house.

EFFECT ON WALL STREET.

Considerable Offerings of Gould Stock, But No Break Occurred. There was an interval of nearly an hour between the time that the first news of his death reached the "Street" and the opening of the Stock Exchange, and nothing else but the death of the sage financier and the probable effect of his death on the properties with waich

he was prominently identified was discussed It was the consensus of opinion among brokers that there would be some selfing of those properties, but none mit that there was any fear of an extensive selling.

Some brokers were of the opinion that the properties were well protected and nothing in the shape of a very decided break would occur

When the market did open there was a a large crowd in the board room, and for a time there were considerable offerings of the Goulders, notably Missouri Facilic. Western Union, Manhattan and Atchison stocks were also soid to a considerable extent, but they only broke considerable extent, but they only broke fractionally. Missouri Panile made the greatest decline 1 3-4 per cent, to 54, but recovered in the first fifteen minutes to 55. The market then steaded somewhat

There was very little excitement at the opening of the market.

Miss Helen Gould Will be the Richest Unmarried Woman in America.

George J. Gould and Edwin Gould were in business with their father. They are both wealthy in their own right, George Gould married Edith Kingdon, of Augustin Daly's company. They have five persons, four children. Sportly before election George Gould purchased the mansion at the corner of Fifth avenue and 69th street from Jacob H. Schiff, and, it is said, gave his check for $865,900 for it. He has a summer home and a yacnt. He is worth $10,000,000.

Worth $10,000,000, Edwin Gould married Miss Shrady about a month ago. "Eddie," as he is called, is said to be worth $2,000,000 to his own right.

Summary Action of Wyoming's Governor-elect.

ssues a Proclamation Calling Upon Loya Citizens to Support Him-How the Pres ent Complications Have Arisen. They Was Doubt as to When Mr. Osbori Should Assume Office.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec.3.-Gov.-elect Os Osborn, Dem., with several men, went to the Capitol building yesterday and asked the janitor to show him into the Executive rooms, on the plea that he wanted to see the condition of the furni;

The janitor refused to let him in with out the authority of the acting Governor. Osborn sent for a carpenter and ordered him to open a window leading into the Lagislative chamber.

By the use of a large chisel the window casing was removed, the sash thrown up and the party took possession, Osborn announcing himself as Governor, saying that he had taken the oath of office before a notary public.

The returns from the various counties have not all been received, consequently the State Board of Canvassers have not yet canvassed the returns.

Acting Gov. Barber told Osborn on Monday that he would surrender to him the office as soon as the State Board canwould take place as soon as possible.

This hasty action on the part of the Governor-elect is quite astounting to this community.

The present complications arise from the fact that the constitution of Wyoming provides for no Lieux-Gov., and since Gov. Warren became Senator Secretary of State Barber has been acting as Gov ernor. There was doubt about when and how the newly elected Governor should assume the office, so he takes this means of bringing matters to a focus.

Shortly after taking possession of the office Gov. Oshorn issued a proclamation which was in part as follows:

"The returns from the several boards of county canvassers, now on tile in the office of the Secretary of State showing that I have been unquestionably elected to the office of Governor, I have duty and it selections as discovernor of the State and an now said Governor, and I do call annual true and loval citizens of the State to support my authority as

Gov. Osborn last night sent notices to the Secretary of State and State Auditor that on Mooday next the Board of Can-vassers will meet and canvass the State vote.

CONFESSES TO FIVE MURDERS. A Springfield, O., Man Makes a Startling

Admission. SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 3 .- Henry Laudeniager, a seedy-looking man, came into police headquarters and gave him-self up for murder, claiming that his onscience drove him to the act. In the last 20 years he claims to have poisoned five people, and that all of them died. They were as follows: Nora O'Netti, McVeyton, Pa. Barbara Killereaz, Mapieton, Pa. B. Murray, New Moordeld, O. John Laudenlager, his father.

Mrs. Fox, a colored woman, of Springfield. Laudenlager was locked up. He appears rational, and there are reasons for believing part of his story, at least. The prisoner is about 40 years old, single, and a common laborer.

TO RELIEVE HOMESTEADERS. Contributions Being Solicited for the Destitute Families of Strikers. HOMESTEAD, Dec. 3.-The meeting of citizens here resulted in active sleps being taken to relieve the destitute families of the town.

Committees were appointed in each ward to solicit contributions of cash or goods, which will be turned over to the relief committee for proper distribution to the needy.

The committee is in communication with trades unions of the different cities, who say they are anxious to do some-thing toward relieving the distressed workingmen in Homestead, and ar-rangements are being perfected in those tties to contribute cash and goods for the purpose above stated.
