Review of the Document-Annual Report of the United States Civil Service Commission-Anti-Option Fight to Go On-General Resecrans' Condition Precarious

Washington, Dec. 7 .- In marked con trast with the bustling scenes of the opening day was the meeting of the House yesterday. Few persons were in the galleries, and upon the floor the members seemed to have settled into the old rou-

Mr. Rayner, of Maryland, introduced a bill for the better protection of commerce and to establish a national quarantine Referred.

At 12:15 Mr. Pruden, one of the Presi dent's secretaries, was announced, and presented the annual message, which Clerk Kerr immediately commenced to read.

In the Senate as soon as the secretary finished the reading of the journal Mr Pruden appeared and delivered the President's annual message, which was there unon laid before the Senate and read by Secretary McCook.

The Message.

President Harrison's last annual mes sage is devoted to a review of the condisage is devoted to a review of the condi-tion of the country and its progress dur-ing the last four years. In it he points out that the intional wealth has in-creased from $15,159,616,068 in 1860 to $62,610,009,000 in 1800. He details a number of most important and interest-ing statistics, which support his statement that "so high a degree of prosperity and so general a diffusion of the comforts of life were never before enjoyed by our

The official returns of the Eleventh Census and those of the Tenth Census for 75 leading cities furnish the basis for the following comparisons:

In 1880 the capital invested in manufactur-ing was $1,237,830,670.
In 1890 the capital invested in manufactur-ing was $5,000,750,884.
In 1880 the number of employes was 1,20,-

In 1800 the number of employes was 2,251,- in 1880 the wages carned were $501,005,778, in 1880 the wages carned were $1,221,170,454, in 1880 the value of the product was $2,711, In 1800 the value of the product was $4,800,

He then quotes figures from other sources showing the industrial growth of the country under the influence of the McKinley tariff. Figures are given to show the extent and value of our foreign trade, and that our coastwise trade is developing great-ly. The value of our exports during the fis-Ty. The value of our exports during the fis-cal year 1892 reached the highest figure in the history of the Government, amounting to $1,030,278,148, exceeding by $145,797,-338 the exports of 1891 and excessing the value of the imports by $202,875,686. During the fiscal year 1892 the value of imports free of duty amounted to $457,-988,638 the largest acceptance. 999,658, the largest aggregate in the his tory of our commerce.

The President says that "those who have advocated a protective tariff can well afford to have their disastrous forecasts of a change of policy disappointed. If a system of customs duties can be framed that will set the idle wheels and looms of Europe in motion and crowd our ware-houses with foreign-made goods, and at the same time keep our own mills busy; that will enable the American manufacturer to pay to his workmen from fifty to a hundred per cent, more in wages than is paid in the foreign mill and yet to com-pete in our market and in foreign markets with the foreign producer; that will forther reduce the cost of articles of wear and food without reducing the wages of those who produce them; that can be cole bruted, after itseffects have been realized as its expectation has been, in European as well as in American cities, the authors and promoters of it will be entitled to the

The advantages of reciprocity are fully stated. Detailed statements of our rela-tions with foreign powers follow. It is recommended that support be given to the Nicaragua Ship Canal company. The President says "it is too early to predict what results may be accomplished by the international Monetary Conference." Attention is then directed to a sum-mary of the work of the administration and to the fact that "public revenues and to the fact that "public revenues amounting to $1.414.079,292.28 have been collected and distursed without loss from collected and distanced without loss from misappropriation, without single defalcation of such importance as to attract the public attention 'and at a diminished cost for collection.' The President says the revenues for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1802, from all sources were $425, 808,200,22, and the expenditures for all purposes were $415,855,806,56, leaving a balance of $0,004,453,66. There were used during the year upon the public debt $40,570,467,88. The surplus in the Treasury and the bank redemption fund, passed by the act of July 14, 1800, to the general fund, furnished in large part the cash available and used for the payments made upon the public debt. Compared with the year 1804, our receipts from customs duties fell off $42,063,341,08, while our receipts from internal revenue increased $50.041,000 to the actions duties fell off $42,063,341,08, while our receipts from internal revenue increased $50.041,000 to the payments made and the state of the second contents of the second conte receipts from internal revenue increased $8,284,833.18, leaving the net loss of evenue from these principal sources $33,-84,417.95. The net loss of revenue from all sources was $82,675,972.81.

Special attention is called to Treasury Secretary Foster's report, "in view of the many misleading statements that have been made as to the state of the public revenues," and detailed ngures are given. The revenues, estimated and actual, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, are blaced by the Secretary at $463,335,350,4 and the expenditures at $40,336,550.44, showing a suplus of receipts over expendi-tures of $2,000,000. The cash bulance in the Treasury at the end of the fixed year it is estimated will be $20,002,077.03.
