"Jeff" and His Dogs. B. J. Yost is a great dog fancier, and he never tires of talking of and caring for them. The dogs seem to know "Jeff's" weakness and take liberties with him that few other fanciers would tolerate. When they do not jump through the show window of his barber shop, they hide themselves and put "Jeff" to an expense for advertisement. Saturday one of his best setters disappeared. "Jeff" put an "ad" in the HERALD and learned that the dog was in St. Nicholas. From there the animal was traced to Mahanoy City and yesterday "Jeff" went to the latter place to follow up the clue. J. N. Knevels, with A. J. Shoner, says: For the past three years I have been a sufferer with letter on the hands. I have been compelled to leave several positions on account of it and have used dozens of so-called cures but until I used Mexican Herb Ointment I got no relief. I have used one box and my hands are now almost entirely well. I am glad to be able to recommend it to all sufferers from the same complaint.
