Hebels Writes Again.

EDITOR HERALD:—I would like to say something in reply to Martin Fahy answering my challenge and calling me to Shenandoah to make a match. Now, then, Mr. Fahy answered my challenge to run one hundred yards and he took good care not to answer it in the papers, after I had asked him to answer through the HERALD, or the Wilkes-Barre News-Dealer. When my backer and me went to his own hotel in Shenandoah to make the match he was afraid to put up. The only excuse he had was that he would not run me 100 yards. But he said he would run me 125 yards. He claimed that was his distance. Now he has only run one race at that distance. All his other races were at 100 yards and he wants to take me out of my distance. Fahy is trying to hold up his reputation as a foot runner in Schuylkill county, but if he wants to hold it up he will have to put up and run me. He has more wind than speed. What I say through the newspapers I am willing to back with the stuff. All Schuylkill county papers please copy.

MR. LECKIE SURPRISED.

The School Teachers Waited Upon Him Last Night.

Surprised indeed was Mr. Leckie when at 7:30 o'clock last evening the school teachers in a body entered his home, and for a few hours took undisputed possession. Mr. Leckie is the most popular teacher in the corps, and many were the expressions of delight when his co-laborers heard of his good fortune in securing an appointment in the department service at Washington.

To pay a tribute to his merit as a man and teacher, and to evidence their friendship for him personally, forty-three admiring friends—all teachers—called at his home and in the most enthusiastic merry makings whittled away a few joyous hours. Solos and duets were rendered, instrumental music admirably performed; declamations and speeches, glowing with fervid eloquence, were delivered. Every speech contained a tribute to Mr. Leckie's ability and accomplishments.

Prof. Freeman, wisely affected, in substance said: "Mr. Leckie's work in the grammar school has been of the most excellent nature, and I fear we will have considerable difficulty in filling his place. In saying this I do not reflect upon the ability of the other teachers. But it does not matter how excellent your scholarly attainments, how good a teacher you may be in the lower grades, yet without the experience in the grammar school you will find that position a very difficult one to manage."

Mr. Ehrhart heartily endorsed what Prof. Freeman had said, and after speaking about Mr. Leckie's intellectual attainments said, in substance: "He was a faithful, industrious and conscientious student, and apt scholar and a devoted pupil, and if the same qualities inspire him in his future action, I entertain no doubts of his ultimate success."

The following are the names of those who were present: Misses Jennie Ramage, Clara Cline, Lizzie O'Connell, Lydia Eisenhower, Anna Dengler, Mahala Fairchild, Bridget Burns, Amelia C. Schoener, Annie Musnell, Jennie Lambert, Carrie Faust, Eliza J. Finerty, Mary Stack, Mary Ladferty, Ella Clauser, Lizzie Lebe, Minnie Harnett, Sallie Conry, Annie Kimmell, Mary Connelly, Maggie Brennan, Sallie Fadden, Mary Wasley, Corinne Tempest, Mary Fox, Carrie Smith, Irene Shane, Mary Roberts, Nellie Baird, Ida Kolb, Lillie Phillips, Hannah Morrison, Annie Sheehy, Mary L. Lynch, Kate Cunningham; Superintendent Freeman, Principal Ehrhart, and Messrs. Wm. H. Britt, John B. Scheuering, J. W. Burke, M. F. Conry, F. J. Williams and J. R. Lewis.
