STILL THEY COME.

More Unsolicited Encouragement From Other Newspapers.

The Shenandoah borough council must be dandy. It has decided that the HERALD shall not be allowed to print its proceedings. —Herald Sentinel.

The Shenandoah council played the baby act at their last meeting by passing a resolution in effect that Associate Editor Watkins, of the HERALD, was hereafter to be debarred from the chamber, when that august body is in session; and all because he did not report the proceedings in a way to their liking. We venture that "De Ate" will not deter Brother Watkins from being in this accursed chair at the next meeting of council, and if he isn't, and for no better reason than that they said he shouldn't be, we'll read the resolution that fires him out of the profession. —Ashland Telegram.
