EDWARD S. HOLDEN, DIRECTOR OF THE LICK OBSERVATORY.

Undoubtedly our possession most celebrated throughout the intellectual world is the great telescope at Lick Observatory on Mt. Washington, California. It is by far the finest that has yet been made.

Professor Holden is director of the observatory and superintended the mounting of the instruments. These have mainly been manufactured in Europe, and they are all of the most modern design, and the best calculated to perform the work to be required of them.

Edward S. Holden, B. S., A. M., was born in St. Louis, Mo., in 1846, and was graduated from the scientific school of Washington University, St. Louis, in June, 1866. Four years later he was graduated at West Point, and was Second Lieutenant of the Fourth United States Artillery from 1870 to 1872, when he became Second-Lieutenant, United States Corps of Engineers. In 1873 he resigned, and was commissioned Professor of Mathematics in the United States Navy, which commission he resigned in June, 1882. He was Assistant Professor of Natural and Experimental Philosophy at West Point, 1872-73. In 1873 he was appointed Astronomer of the United States Naval Observatory at Washington. In 1881 he left this position to become Director of the Washington Observatory at Madison, Wis. Professor Holden was in charge of the government expedition to observe the total solar eclipse of 1878 in Colorado, and that of the transit of Venus in 1883 in the South Pacific Ocean.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 28.—Numerous arrests continue to be made at Kiev of persons suspected of Nihilism. Nine more officers are among those imprisoned, either under suspicion or direct charges of connection with a conspiracy against the Czar. The Russian authorities believe they have unearthed a widespread plot in which a number, not only of the lower officials, but also those of higher rank are involved, and several officers having positions of trust and confidence near the person of the Czar have been put under surveillance.

The extent of the plot is not yet known, and there seems no doubt this time of its genuine character, although it is not certain that the motives of the plotters are Nihilistic.
