In the matter of promotions I have to account the torm of service, their selfo ship, their professional ability and their particular adaptability for the positions which | - ine is it is proposed to put them in.

"It is next to impossible, if not utterly so, to make appointments so that all will be satisfied; and perhaps some will be disappointed and dissatisfied with my appointments, but they are made on just and impartial grounds. If there should be any dissatisfaction I suppose we can meet the criti-

"I would like to say that the certificates our teachers hold represent them as being competent to teach in any of the schools within $50,000 in cour central, and to say that any of the teachers are not qualified to teach a grammar school would be unwarranted; but, of contact there is a difference as to the way in which Caracive Syrap an echoels not be conducted, the scholarty The former is qualifications, cm) proulfar fitness and it is quite important, so far as possible, to make the teachers satisfied with their position because then they can do better work and will not look elsewhere for positions.

With these lines in view I would re comend that Miss Anna Dengler be pronoted to one of the second grade gramma chools. She is one of our most scholarly young ladies, so far as I have had an opportunity of Judging, that have ever graduated from our High school, and has Lee cream all the year 'round. All the other sularies of Mesers. Britt, Scheubing and Barke be increased $5 per month.

As to the other grammar positions, Misses Cavanaugh and Kimmel have had the same length of service and number of years in tenching, and I cannot discriminate between them as to other qualifications, but there are some other discumstances which lead me to choose Miss Cavanaugh.
