THE HIGH SCHOOL BLAZE!

UGLY FIRE PROMPTLY PLACED UNDER CONTROL.

OVER TWO HOURS OF HARD WORK

The Building Was Principally Damaged by Water—Several Rooms Will be Unfit for Use for Some Time.

HERE was a blaze at the High School building last night that at one time threatened the structure with destruction. The alarm brought out the three fire companies, and the Columbia Hose Company was obliged to take out the two fire engines. The alarm was sounded when an immense volume of smoke poured forth from the southeast corner of the building. When the firemen reached the scene the walls and ceiling of the High School room on the top floor were hot. The seat of trouble was located in the chimney in the southeast corner of the room and it was evident that the woodwork in the walls and ceiling had been scorching for days. The "Shenandoah" engine was placed at the plug corner of Main and Lloyd streets and the "Columbia" was located at the plug corner of Main and Coal streets. All lines of hose of both companies were connected and all streams were turned into openings made to drown the hidden flames.

Notwithstanding the immense amount of water poured into the place the south side of the building broke out in a blaze, but this outbreak was speedily overcome, and the firemen again turned their attention to inside work, tapping the water laden ceiling and giving the room a thorough drenching.

After constant work extending over two hours and a half the firemen succeeded in placing the building beyond all danger.

When the School Directors found that the fire was under control they met in special session in one of the north rooms on the first floor of the building to take action on suggestion for arranging school accommodations pending the repairing of the damaged rooms. Superintendent Frothingham present and stated that he had already made arrangements to hire Franny's hall and the board endorsed his action. The board also decided to leave all the arrangements of the schools in the hands of the superintendent and committee on buildings.

The damage done by fire and water will reach about $5,000, which is fully covered by insurance, the building being insured for $40,000. It will take some time to put the damaged section of the building in good condition again. The ceilings and walls of four of the rooms will need considerable repairing and the High School a thorough overhauling. The cause of the fire was a defect in the chimney at the southeast corner of the building, and it will quite likely be necessary to tear down and rebuild the chimney.

The efficiency of the fire department was demonstrated last night. When the firemen located the source of trouble and started work they did excellent service. Had the fire got beyond their control the effect would have been disastrous in that section of the town as all the buildings about the High School structure are frame and would have been easily caught up by a blaze.

Joseph Wyatt, proprietor of one of the hotels at the corner of Main and Coal streets, did royal service for the fireman in furnishing them with an abundance of hot coffee and eatables. His hospitality was enjoyed with a relish.

A Second Alarm.

When the firemen were engaged at the fire in the High School building last evening an alarm of fire was sounded from the First ward. Fire Marshal Early arranged his forces so that detachments from the two hose companies could respond to the second alarm and yet leave a sufficient force at the fire then in hand. The detachments started for the First ward, but when half way there learned that their services were not required and returned to the High School building. The second alarm was caused by a volume of smoke and steam rushing from a house occupied by a Hungarian family at the east end of Centre street. Something that was cooking on a stove boiled over and the rush of smoke and steam into the street when the door was opened caused a boy to cry, "Fire!"

In case of hard cold nothing will relieve the breathing so quickly as to rub Arnica and Oil Liniment on the chest.

Stimulate the Blood.

Brandreth's Pills are the great blood purifier. They are a purgative and blood tonic, they act equally on the bowels, the kidneys, and the skin, thus cleansing the system by the natural outlet of the body—they may be called the purgative, sulphuric and diuretic medicine. They stimulate the blood so as to enable nature to throw off all morbid humors, and cure disease no matter by what name it may be called. One or two of them taken every night will prove an infallible remedy. Sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

The chap that took a bottle of medicine and coughed no more, used Dr. Coxe's Wild Cherry and Seneca. It cured him.

The enormous sale of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has brought to the surface numerous imitations. Keep a sharp look out when you buy.

"NEGLECTING SALVATION."

The Topic of Rev. Foxwick's Discourse Sunday Evening.

The sermon in the M. E. church on Sunday evening was on "Neglecting salvation." Hebrews 2:3: "If the word spoken by angels proved steadfast and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward, how shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation which was first spoken by the Lord?" The comparison here made is between the revelation of duty and privilege that was made by God, who "spoke in time past unto the fathers by the prophets;" and the richer revelation He has made through "His Son whom He hath appointed heir of all things." God upheld the honor of His law under an inferior dispensation. When Korah, Dathan and Abiram rebelled against the authority of Moses, the vice-gerent of God, the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them.

When Nadab and Abihu offered strange fire upon the altar in contempt of God's order there went out fire from the Lord and devoured them. When the curious inhabitants of Beth-Shelesh peered into the sacred ark in defiance of God's law, He smote fifty thousand of them. And when Uzzah put forth his hand to steady it he fell dead upon the spot. Thus the word spoken by angels proved steadfast.

Those who doubt the doctrine of future punishment will find it no less difficult to reconcile these indubitable facts of sacred history with their notions of God's goodness. The fact is He gave the world a few specimen exhibitions of His determination to uphold the honor of His law, whether spoken by an angel or man. And the argument of the text is, if God is careful to honor the word of angels and to uphold its majesty, how much more will He vindicate the word of His own Son? And if He is so careful to enforce His will concerning what appears to men to be such paltry affairs as the touching of the ark, or looking on it, or offering strange fire, how much more may He be relied upon to enforce His word concerning the salvation of the gospel, which touches the highest interests of the soul throughout eternal ages.

This salvation is great because God is great. It pertains of His own infinity. It was secured for us by the sacrifice of His Son. When God wanted to create worlds "he spoke and it was done, he commanded and it stood fast." When it comes to upholding what he has made it requires but "the word of His power." When he desired to raise the dead he had but to stand at the mouth of the grave and cry, "Lazarus, come forth!" But when he would raise the spiritual dead he must "roll up his sleeves;" he makes bare his holy arm; the sin hides his face; mighty earthquakes rend the rocks and open the tombs; the veil of the temple rends, and the awful tragedy culminates in the death of heaven's choicest treasure, Truly,

"'Twas great to speak a world from naught, 'Twas greater to redeem."

Again, it is because the transformations it effects in human character are great. He is able to save to the uttermost all that come unto God by Him. Earth offers her treasures to select characters. Men must possess the qualities that win or lose in the conflicts of life. But it is the crowning glory of this great salvation that it presents its rich prizes to all who will accept them. It lays a hand beneath the besotted wretch who wallows in the gutter and lifts him up, and, if he will, exalts him to a child of God and an heir of heaven.

How then shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation? We need not despise it, nor trample on it. We need but neglect it and our damnation is sure. A man has but to neglect his business to destroy it. He need not blow his brains out to commit suicide; let him neglect to take food and the work will soon be done. He need not get drunk and beat his wife to destroy domestic happiness; just let him neglect her—nothing stings like neglect. So there is nothing that exhibits the deep, dark, damnable depravity of the human heart so much as its neglect of this "great salvation." Stand up and answer, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" At the close of the sermon several persons presented themselves at the altar for prayer and were converted.

DOINGS AT THE COURTS!

A NUMBER OF CASES CONSIDERED YESTERDAY.

OPENING OF THE CIVIL TERM

Bobbin-Tobin License Squabble. The Court Revokes its Order Granting the Former a License—Other Cases.

Special Herald Correspondence

POTTSVILLE, Jan. 16.

Two weeks of January civil court proceedings this morning with Judge Bechtel and Green on the bench. Some court appointments were expected, and decisions in the Shenandoah water case and ward divisions were also looked for, but they came not. Motion court occupied the larger part of the forenoon, in which a number of minor decisions were handed down, and motions made, and rules granted. It was a busy day at the office of the Clerk of the Courts, the place being jammed by lucky license seekers. There is a good deal of comment here and there as to the $10,000 Boebe-Taylor compromise, but the general opinion sustains the decision of the Auditors and the court.

In the case of Barr vs. Barr, the court ordered the divorce to be granted. M. M. Burke, Esq., examiner.

The court refused to order a new trial in the damage suit of McDonald against the borough of Mahanoy City.

Joseph Miller was appointed auditor for Union township.

Monday next, at 10:30 a. m., has been fixed for hearing on the exceptions to payment of costs in case of Commonwealth vs. Frank Bavin. Holopecer for exceptions, M. M. Burke, contra.

The case of Ann Henley vs. Borough of Shenandoah has gone over to the March term.

The case of Matthew Delaney and wife, of Shenandoah, against Thomas Conerton, of Philadelphia, was ordered for trial this week.

Exceptions were filed this morning to the license applications of David Egan and C. Laubenstein, both of Potsville.

James M. Newlin, Esq., of the Philadelphia bar, was sworn in as attorney to try the case of Newlin vs. county of Schuylkill. Attorney Newlin is plaintiff in the case.

The Italian prosecuted for assaulting Contractor McAdams on the new Pennsylvania railroad branch, at Shenandoah, was given two months at Fort Mifflin.

J. K. Oyle, Esq., presented the petition of M. P. Whitaker, praying for a commission in lunacy to pass upon the mental soundness of William Dery, of West Mahanoy township, S. G. M. Holopecer, Dr. D. J. Langton and Joseph Knapp were appointed.

The saloon stand on the corner of Jardin and Coal streets, Shenandoah, is a bone of contention. There are two applicants for the place, William Bobbin, who now occupies it, and James Tobin, a new applicant. Bobbin's term as tenant to the premises expires on the 31st of this month. On Wednesday last his license was granted, through his attorney, George J. Wadlinger, Esq. On application of M. M. Burke, Esq., who represents the owners of the property, Judge Green today revoked the order granting Bobbin's license and now Tobin and Bobbin are "in the same boat."

There is considerable disappointment among Democratic attorneys that P. M. Dunn, Esq., did not get the Democratic County Chairmanship.

There is a striking proof of the tardiness of some of our Justices of the Peace in the office of District Attorney Ryan in the shape of a return of a case of assault and battery with intent to ravish, which had been held in the justice's office three months or more before returning it to court. Mr. Ryan proposes issuing a circular to our county justices intended to encourage prompt return.

Andrew Zuenfisky holds the old Gerrity saloon stand at Lost Creek, No. 2. Attorney Holopecer filed exceptions to his license on Wednesday last. Zuenfisky's attorney, Mr. Whitehouse, endeavored before Judge Green to have the exceptions set aside and the license granted, because the exceptions were not filed as required by the rules of court. His Honor permitted the exceptions to stand and Mr. Zuenfisky must run the gantlet.
