LOCUST DALE MAN'S SLEIGH-ING EXPERIENCE.

HE WAS DESPERATELY ASSAULTED

Thanks to His Mufflings a Mur derous Blow Fell Harmlessly. The Assailant Makes His Escape From the Shots.

MAN who said his nam was Adam Luke and claimed residence at Locust Dale told sensational story is town last night. Mr. Luke is an English man about 40 years of age. He and his wif were scated in a sleigh and had just returned from New London, where they had spent the day visiting friends. Mrs. Luke was very much excited and it was while she was trying to dissuade her husband from continuing the drive back to their home in Locust Dale that a reporte gleaned the story that the couple told. They said that on the read about three hundred yards above the Greek Catholic cemetery, when they were on their way to town, a man halfed them. When the stranger approaches the sleigh he asked them to give him a cor r something else, that he was perishing with the cold. Mr. Luke said he had nothing be could spare, but asked the man where h lived. The stranger said his home was in New Jersey and said that he had straggled into this section of the county in search o work in the mines, but had failed to secure it

The stranger was asked why he was on the nountain and said that he had sought relie at one of the houses on "the flat," the small set lement on the mountain, and failing to find assistance had started to return to Shen andoah.

Luke turned his head to whisper to his wife on the advisability of taking the man in the sleigh, when the fellow struck him; blow on the back of the neck with some instrument and the next moment threw his arms about Links and tried to pull him back wards out of the sleigh.

The blow delivered by the stranger had no ffeet upon Luke's muffled neck. It has evidently been intended for the head, but te ort. Luke yelled to his wife to take th eins, which she did. The husband was muctronger than the stranger and succeeded is breaking the latter's hold, after which he jumped from the sleigh. The stranger was already speeding in the distance. USE DANA'S SARSAPARILLA, 178 "THE KIND THAT CURES,"

There are many remarkable successes o the road this season, but none succeed the popularity enjoyed by the latest New York success, "She Couldn't Marry Three." Press and public accord it an evation wherever presented. The scenic effects are superb, the story an intense and interesting one, unlike the many unreasonable and unnatural plays with which the public are surfeited. It is full of hearty laughter, bright and catchy music, the most sensational climaxes. The company is one of the strongest on the road, the scenery the most magnificent ever built, and as the curtain rises on each act, prolonged applause attest the public appreciation of each beautiful stage picture. The great scenic artists, Messrs. Daniel Crimmins and So Close Out Surplus Stock-a few pieces Floor Oil Herbert Speck feel justly proud of their work on this production.

Miss Maggie Cavanaugh was the second eacher voted for. When the envelope was pened ten coupons drepped out.

The record of these votes had hardly bee corded when a messenger handed the conest editor a bulging cuvelope. An inspec tion and count disclosed fifty-two bona fide coupons for Miss Libbie B. Phillips.

At noon thirty three votes made their ap earance for Miss Irene Shane.

Miss Phillips seemed to have excellent hances for heading the official list on its sublication to-day, up to 2 o'clock yesterday fternoon, when a boy delivered to the con test editor a large envelope that looked like small porker. The editor counted one undred and ton coupons for Miss Mary A. Connelly, and that lady's name was placed at he head of the list, with a lead of 58 votes over her nearest competitor.

The vigor with which the contest has opened warrants the presumption that the ontest will be a very lively and interesting

All the coupons thus far received have seen scrutinized and all are bona fide in all

The returns given to day by no means rives an idea of the interest that has already een taken in the contest. There are a number of known competitors who are helding mack until the contest gets well under way and will then come out with their strength. They and their friends are making an netive will be in batches.
