Charges Against Him Declared False by the Defense.

THE CASE DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

M. Herz to be Arrested England Sends Troops to Egypt—France Moves Protest Against Great Britain's Interference—Shorea to a Berlin Avioner Other News from Abroad.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Public interest in the Panama trial is increasing as the case draws to a close. The consensus of opinion is that in view of the evidence presented by the prosecution conviction is certain.

Maitre Barbeau opened the case for his clients. Men whose names are known all over the world testified that "monoliths" in their efforts to secure points of vantage from which to listen to the proceedings.

Excitement was at a high pitch when, sternly dignified, the judges, headed by President Faucher, entered the courtroom and took their places on the bench. All eyes were next directed upon Maitre Barbeau, whose face plainly showed that he fully realized the responsibility resting upon him.

In a few words in opening his address he complimented the court upon the fairness of the verdict in the case, and then proceeded into an exposition of his firm's defense. He argued volubly and at such length that he was not alone moral rectitude that had led to the arrest and prosecutions of the accused. Political considerations, he declared, had much to do with the prosecution, and he emphatically insisted that the men he was defending should not be made scapegoats for the advantage of any party or faction.

A Tribute to de Lesseps. M. Barbeau eulogized M. Ferdinand de Lesseps as a man of the highest character. So keen was his sense of honor that after appearing before Magistrate Priet at the opening of the inquiry he was overwhelmed. For two months he had not left his bed, and during that time had not uttered a word.

Had the great Frenchman appeared in court the whole audience would have risen to salute his name. Maitre Barbeau gave full vent to his oratory in recounting the struggles of M. Ferdinand de Lesseps, and his particular stress upon his statement regarding M. de Lesseps' contact with England over the Suez canal.

He proceeded to examine into the duties and responsibilities of the directors of the company, which, he declared, had been faithfully and correctly carried out by them.

He dealt with the charges against M. de Lesseps, and endeavored to show that they were unfounded. When Maitre Barbeau finished, Chair adjourned until Tuesday next.

M. Barbeau's speech was a masterpiece of oratory, and through his eloquence was forced to never carried him beyond the point where it could be construed as admitting in the slightest degree anything derogatory to the character or methods of the great engineer who was his client. His address made a great impression.
