REV. POWICK'S SERMON.

The second states of the secon vening was on "Seeking God," Isalah 55-6-7 Seek ye the Lord while He may be found call ye upon Him while He is near: let the wicked formake his way and the unrighteon man his thoughts, and let him return untthe Lord and He will have mercy upon his and to our God for He will abundantly pardon," The Bible declares that "All we like sheep, inve game astray," and that "Christ Jesus came into the world to see and to may a that which was lost."

But as it also teaches that God is every there present and that He knoweth al hings the question may arise "In what sets oor Jesus sock that which was lost and h what sense is the simmer to neck  $\operatorname{God} 2^n$ . Th eparation alluded to is not that which re ills from the intervention or space but from ac alignation of the affections. Space can ot separate true friends. Their souls are 'knit" like these of David and Jonathan But though you join hands with one you nate you are in the truest sense as for apar as the poles. The sinner is separated from lod by the alienation of his affection. An the text exhorts him to return to the Lord by estoring those affections. To seek the Lord to pause in our mad carper to consider on ways and the claims of God and by penence and faith to implore His forgivene und renew our allegiance

The text scenes to distinguish between the 'wicked" and the "unrighteous." But this i a condecension to human notions. Every ody admits the need of the wicked b forsake his way-the drunkard, liar, liber ine, prostitute, thief-must formke their evi ways if they want to be saved. We have a couble in convincing them of their need to Seek the Lord." But there is another class of respectable sincers who are nu less offenive to God though they boast of their corality and no less in need of His pardon ig mercy though like the Pharisee they may hank God they are not as other men are or even as this publican. This is that large nd, to men, respectable class who are faithful o their follow-men and shamefully negligen

f their God. They think God ought to say hem because they deal housestly and closely anly with their fellows though they take a ecount of the duty of prayer and praise t heir Creator. They are not wicked in the sual sense of the word, but they are un ighteous, and the Bible says that the "un ighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of iod." And although they may have us wicked ways to forsake they have to forsake ome very wicked "thoughts" if they are ver to be save ). The sum total of human haracter, as God judges it, includes our thoughts as well as our deeds. And if the archives of hell could be searched it would doubtless be found that the blasphemous thoughts of respectable skeptics and moralist are responsible for the damnation of as many seula as the fithy words and vicious conduc
