Ballone's Densitie Comments on the Ontlised Plans of the Government- Vigorous Reply of the Premier-Salisbury's Attack on the Ivish Policy.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The early evening longed Liberal sheers.

At 8:80 o'mook George Lambert, Lib-At 8:80 o'clock George Lambert, Liberal, rose to move the address. He spoke to compty benefics, as did also Mark Beautro, Liberal, who ascended his motion. The House filled like magic, however, when Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury in the last Sallsbury Cabinet and now leader of the Unionist opposition of the Unionist opposition. sition, arose, somewhat languilly, and, ure is a mere mass of legal verbiage, in-amid a storm of opposition choics, began tended to give no satisfaction to any in a successing tone a general criticism of party. Even should the bill pass it the government.

He congestulated the Cabinet upon the level. He conjectulated the Cabinet upon the abundant upon the abundance of the policy which had been so fercauty recommended by the Chancel for of the Excaequer (Sir William Harbourt) before he attained his present temporising has become a vicine, and further temporising has become a vicine, where the formation of clubs a vicine are frishnen honorary

He trusted the government would at their earliest convenience let Parliament know the estues which led to the remain invables in Cairo. Among the causes were undoubtedly rash utterances made by the Prime Minister and the Chief. Secretary for Irsland, when they were in the opposition. Both were to finance for relating hopes which certainly would be productive of Inture difficulties.

Mr. Balfour than denounced the Evicted Tenunts' Commission as unfairly consti-

Mr. Balfour then denounced the Evicted Tenunts! Commission as unfairly consti-tuted, that they were incapable of pre-senting a trustworthy report. He de-manded that the Home Secretary should say whichier or not the release of Egan and Callan, the Irish dynamiters, was part of a policy of amnesty intended to involve the release of all the Irish dy-manding.

In conclusion he charged Mr. Morley, Irish Secretary, with having used the Crown prerogative for political purposes. Mr. Gladstone was cheered loudly when he rose to answer Mr. Balfour. He had noticed, he said, that, with the con-tinued growth of legislative arrears, the engerness of the country for vigorous legislation increased. He had decided to lose matimo, therefore, in satisfying this w. W. W. ASTGR THE PURCHASER. engerness.

He represented Mr. Balfour for assailing with inflammatory criticism a bill not yet introduced, and for doing his utmost to prejudice the minds of his followers against a plan of Home Rule, of which he was still ignorant. Mr. Balfour nad asked where there was an empire which had been strengthough by the adoption of local autonomy, Mr. Glad-stone replied that, as Lord Salisbury had done some years ago, he would point to Austro-Humpry as an Illustration ap-plicable to the case of Great Britain and Ireland.

He would also point to the British col-onies, which, 60 years ago, were ruled from Lendov, but demanded separation until self government was finally granted

He would not reply to Mr. Balfour's invectives against Mr. Morley's administration of Ireland, except to say that the wise policy of elemency had been simultaneous with a great decrease of agrarian erime.

Mr. Balfour's attack upon the Evicted Tenants' Commission recalled upon him-self. Why did he not wait until the commission's proposals came before the House, when be could urge his objections with greater force? The mission to Uganda was necessary in order that a thorough and impartinquiry be made into affairs there result of this inquiry would enable the government to arrive at a rational deci-sion. Those who wished to wash their hands of Ugamia forgot the charters and other obligations which they would in-He did not believe that in his long par liamentary career he had ever uttered words so rash and dangerous as were those uttered by Mr. Baliour concerning the difficulties in Egypt. These words had seemed to suggest that the government would lose no time in getting out of Egypt.

Mr. Balfour rose and repudiated the charge that he had suggested the probability of a hasty eventum.

Upon resuming M. Giarlstone said that the government has not to consider the question of occupation but merely the maintenance of order. The relations of the two governments had now been placed on a satisfactory footing, and further trouble was not apprehended.

In conclusion Mr. Gladstone repeated his appeal to the House not to be moved Rule bill. He could understand the impatience of the members if they discovered any disposition to delay the bill, but such did not exist. It surely would be better for all to wait and give the provisions of the bill their full, careful, du-liberate, perhaps calin, Importial, even benevalent judgments.

After Mr. Ginnstone's speech the House adjourned.

In his speech Mr. Gladstone abowed plainly that he had been irritated by Mr. Hallour's tounts. The tools of his voice indicated doep indignation and his gestures were rapid and violent, especially when he repositated the imputation that which he repeated the imple too may royal curmency and been exploited for political purposes in the cases of the Irish dynamiters and the Gwesdore prisoners. When his came to the discussion of Ugunda and Egypt his energy was partially exhausted, his voice was histry and he was multiped to relapse futo a coa-
