THE SOUTH AND BLAINE. The death of Blaine brings tribu'es from even his enemies, all save those ruled by personal bate instead of polisical difference. Not even those who were once called followers of the Plasmed Knights can now speak more elequently of this man's worth than go many of those who a few years ago regarded him as their bitterest enemy. As a rule the Southern pre-s sounds the praises of Blaine as they would had he been the product of their own sunny clime. His magnetism was such that it compelled their admiration.

The San Antonio (Texas) Express calls him the typical American, and describes him as whose rugged A man upon A man upon whose rugged face Fear was afraid to look; whose heart was big enough to gather within its gates everything animate and inanimate upon which fails the shadow of our flag; who loved his country with an affection amounting country with an allection amounting to idolatry and guarded her honor as-his ewn; who was a party man with-out becoming a bitter, purblind pointeian—a politician without pros-tituting his patriotism; whose mind was as deep as Wenster's, active as Cathoun's and broader than both combined-such a man, oh Sons of Hawaiian Mini America, are you called upon to mourn. Que a's service The Birmingham (Ala.) Age-Herald says no man has wring tribute from unwillingness as did Blaine, and ian Commissioners has changed to one adda:

The foremost American of his generation is dead. * * * Strange, may velous strange, how the South had come to feel toward Blaine; and above all the deep and wide devoided of the masses of his own party, this Southern sentiment that gathered rand bin in his last years was the brightest jewel he ever wore. It was trightest literally winning from nowilling tribute literally wrung from unwillingness, and bestowed on no other of our ancient enemies living or dead, save Lincolu.

WARRANTON, Feb 7 .- No informatio of a definite character can be expected concerning the Hawailan question until after the conference to-day between the Annexation Commissioners and the Sec retary of State.

It is expected that the Secretary of State will announce to-day the date for the presentation of the commission to the

This will probably take place after to-morrow, because the Administration de-sires to wait until after that date to hear once more from Minister Stevens. The next steamer from Honolulu is due at San Francisco on Feb. 8, and it is expected to bring despatches from the United States Minister telling of the condi-tion of things in the islands after the leparture of the annexation commis rs, and also the acts of the provisiona overnment. Of course these despatches will be telegraphed at once from San Francisco and will be of much importance in the unferences.

The Commissioners have now come to the conclusion that a decision cannot be reached until after Feb. 15. The President has decided that he must hear both sides of the case, and the Sec-many of State will wait the arrival of an Queen's special messenger, Mr. Neunan, who is also due in San Francisco on

COL. SINN'S DIVORCE SUIT. B., Farian Knew Nothing of Corn Tanner's

Action Against Him. NEW YORK, Feb. 7 .- The suit of Col. Vin, F. Sinu, proprietor of the Park Theater, Brooklyn, against Cora Tanner linn, was called for trial yesterday by udge Clement in the Special Term of he City Court.

The sult is brought by Col. Sian to an and his marriage to Cora Tanner, on the round that when he married her she and another bushand living, from whom she had not obtained a divorce

Lawyer John L. Hill appeared for Col. o look after the defendant's interests. Mr. Griffin asked that the suit be post oned for two weeks, saying that issue is he case had only been made on Dec. 20 and hu did not have time to collect his testimony and get ready for the suit.

This was opposed by Mr Hill, who said that the plaintiff had brought the first aushand from the other end of the State nd that they believed he should not be blig-d to come such distance again, and on that account he urged that the case go

Dr. C. Fred Farlan of Rochester was called to the stand. The witness, a large, stout man, with a heavy drooping mus-tache and a drawling way of talking, was sworn and testilled:

"I have not seen Cora Tanner for 15 years, but recognize the picture now shown me as hers. We only lived to gether, Miss Tauner and I, for a week, I was a resident of Illinois at the time. I was never sorred with a summons in her action for divorce. We were married in Allegheney county, Michigan. I first knew that my wife got a divorce from me by a newspaper clipping sent me by a friend."

The case was then indefinitely contin ued, two days' notice on either side being granted to bring it up again.
