CUPID IN GILBERTON!

A RECENT WEDDING CAUSE
MANY RUMORS.

SOME SAY JEALOUSY IS AT WORK

Of Course the Bride Deserted Her Spouse on the Day She Was Married, But She Has Returned to Him.

HERALD reporter was informed yesterday that the gossip of Gilberton had fished out a sensational story which tongues wagging for a while and the manner in which they were chewing the subject was giving the affair much publicity. The informant added that in commenting on a recent wedding dance Rumor had told one of her circle that the appointment of the bridegroom had been made by a game of cards.

The reporter visited Gilberton with a view to sifting the facts and in pursuance of this object he visited a number of citizens of that borough, among them some Polish people who were in attendance at the wedding spoken of it was learned that Miss Annie Wann, a resident of Gilberton, and a young Polish shoemaker of Mahanoy City, who was known only by the name "George," Annie was described as a pretty, light-haired and well developed German girl of seventeen years. Her husband is a good looking and industrious young Polish man who speaks English well and has managed to save much of his earnings since he has been in this country. He is about 20 years of age.

The couple were married at Mahanoy Place on Monday night and the festivities were kept up until Wednesday night. "We had busy times," said one of George's Polish friends, "and we emptied fourteen kegs of beer."

When asked about the game of cards report the friend said, "No, I know nothing of such a thing, but I don't know that it was not so.
You see George was much in love with the girl and spent money on her freely, and perhaps some people are jealous. George gave her $175 cash, a seal skin coat, silk dresses, a hat that cost $12, a gold watch, gold bracelets, and a lot of things, amounting to about $300 in all, and then I understand the girl's father received $300.

"There is nothing wrong about that," said the reporter, "and it is strange that so much talk has been aroused over the wedding."
"Well, you see, I believe there is a little jealousy somewhere," continued the Polish friend. "When Annie put on the seal skin coat, the silk dress and new hat and all those things some of the girls got jealous and said, 'Oh! my, ain't she proud?' and when Annie walked down the street singing, 'Tarantboom-de-ee' that made some of the people mad."

"Yes," put in a bystander, "and then Annie was engaged to marry a young Irish fellow and the wedding dress was made, but George's presents hit the nail on the head." A few more inquiries led the informants to speak of an incident that perhaps accounts for the reports. Annie is a very lively young lady and very frankish. On the evening following the marriage ceremony Annie took a notion that married life was not to her taste and when the festivities were at a high pitch in her mother's house she disappeared. Her brother and friends of the husband hunted through the town for her and when their search was crowned with success they induced her to leave the house in which she had taken refuge and return to her distressed spouse.

The people who know all about the matter do not feel disposed to say much, but they take pains to say that George is a very nice fellow, and while they all seem pretty well acquainted with his affairs they profess total ignorance of a game of cards in connection with love affairs.

The receipts of coupons for the HERALD's teachers' contest was up to the average yesterday and ran over the 2,000 notch. They brought with them another change in the column of leaders, Miss Wasley polling a sufficient number of votes to place her beyond the 5,000 mark and in second place, Miss Connelly retreating to third place.

Miss Fairchild polled a heavy vote yesterday and regained the place that Mr. Williams took from her a few days ago.
Lower in the line there was a spirited advance by Miss Anna Deugler, who passed over the 1,000 mark with Miss Phillips. This makes ten teachers who are above that mark.
A glance at the grand total figures in the table at the head of this column is convincing that by to-morrow night over 40,000 votes will have been polled.

THE JUDGESHIP.

Another Possible Successor to the Late Judge Green.

Now that the remains of the late Judge David B. Green have been laid to rest speculation on his successor on the bench has been renewed. While a number of prominent men were discussing the matter at the county seat yesterday the name of William Wilhelm, Esq., of Pottsville, was prominently mentioned in connection with the appointment.
It was stated that Mr. Wilhelm's eminent fitness and his standing in this county would make him an excellent candidate next fall.
It was also stated that if Governor Pattison intends to appoint a Republican, and it seems to be the general impression that he does, no mistake would be made in naming Mr.
Wilhelm.

Give Them a Chance.
The Shenandoah correspondent of the Pottsville Republican had this item in his letter last evening:

"We were handed a communication yesterday signed by a number of Democrats of the Second ward, protesting against the action of the placing of John F. Finney's name on their ticket against the wishes of a majority of the party of said ward, with a request to publish the same. We must refuse, as the communication is too lengthy."

"We don't think 'a number of Democrats' should be deprived of the privilege of being heard because their communication is too lengthy. If the correspondent has not consigned the paper to the waste basket and will send it to us we will try to make room for it.

OUR POTTSVILLE LETTER!

THE LAST TRIBUTES TO JUDGE
GREEN.

THE BAR ASSOCIATION MEETING

Eulogies of the Deceased Jurist in the County Court House.
Judge Bechtel Speaks of His Associate.

Special HERALD Correspondence.
POTTSVILLE, February 10, 1893.

THE poet has beautifully said, "There is no death; what seems so is transition," and surely the full force of this sentiment weighed upon the Schuylkill County Bar Association, when assembled this morning at 10:15 in Court room

No. 1, to take action on the death of Judge Green. Judge Bechtel entered the court room and, on motion of John W. Ryan, Esq., the Judge was made chairman of the meeting. Attorney Roseberry was made Vice President, and Attorney Wadlinger was chosen as Secretary. On motion, a committee of seven was appointed to draft suitable resolutions. The committee retired and pending their return the meeting was addressed by ex-Judge Walker, who paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the departed. He was followed by Attorney Heming, who said: "The last time I undertook to speak on an occasion of this kind was when Attorney Linn Bartholomew died and then Judge Green endeavored to do as I understood to do, and we both had to retire from the speaker's stand." Mr. Heming spoke feelingly and closing with a quotation from Gray's elegy invoked God's rest to his departed friend.

W. F. Shepherd, Esq., referred to Judge Green as a good man and an upright, fearless and conscientious Judge.

At this stage the committee entered and, through its chosen spokesman, P. M. Duan, Esq., submitted the following:

The Bench and Bar of Schuylkill county, recognizing the public loss sustained by the sudden death of Honorable David Bright Green on Monday, February 9th, 1893, present the following minute asking that it may be entered upon the records of the court as a memorial of their appreciation and admiration of his character as a citizen, soldier, lawyer and Judge, viz.:

A citizen his voice and acts were for the right and the public good.

As a soldier his devotion to duty and manly courage entitled him to command and after short service to promotion which was amply justified by honorable and efficient service.

As a lawyer he was faithful, diligent, studious, upright and able.

As a Judge, he was impartial, courteous and fearless. His strong moral sense was not fettered by mere technicality of law, but the right as he saw it had a fearless friend. In his relation with juries his strong convictions rarely failed to aid them in securing the force of evidence but they did not lead him to invade the province of the jury. His written opinions are the records of a vigorous judicial mind strengthened by careful thought and study, conscientious and logical, expressed in language remarkable for its simplicity and force. His pride lay in his duty and his ambition was to answer its every call.

In the fall of such a judge in the ripeness of his experience and in the fullness of his acquiescence the public and the Bench and Bar sustained a serious loss.

We, his brethren of the Bench and Bar, have sustained an additional loss in being bereft of a gentle companion and a true friend.

After Mr. Duan had concluded reading the resolution he addressed the meeting in a clear, able, and touching speech. This address, and the one delivered by him on the occasion of the death of the late lamented John A. Nash, Esq., have marked Mr. Duan as a speaker of rare ability.

With a voice full of sadness John W.
Ryan, Esq., spoke of Judge Green's mild, sympathetic, and generous nature and his great ability as a Judge. "When Judge Green," said he, "sat on the bench he had neither friend to reward nor foe to punish, and no living man could question the accuracy of his logic."

Judge Bechtel descended from the bench and addressing Vice President Roseberry, spoke tremulously and feelingly of the life and labors of his departed associate. The Judge's address was able and very touching, particularly when he referred to the home and family of the departed. He paid the highest tribute to Judge Green.

W. A. Marr, Esq., added his measure of respect to the dead jurist, as did Messrs.
Schackel, Gerber, Reilly and Kuittie.

At this point the resolutions were adopted and a motion carried that the Bar attend the funeral and that the seat of Judge Green on the bench be draped for a period of thirty days.

The members of the Bar met at the Mountain City building at 2 p. m., and proceeded to the home of the late Judge, on West Mahantongos street. The funeral proceeded to Charles Baber cemetery where interment was made. The funeral was largely attended.
Judge D. B. Green is no more! He has been consigned to mother earth, but the unimpeachable character as a man and a Judge which he established, lives on and shall be cherished in the memory of a grateful people. Rarely, indeed, do we find men constituting so much and so well the great and good qualities of head and heart that work them as the beneficiaries of their kind, as was the case in Judge Green. The tribute paid to his memory this morning by the Bar of this county ranks him as one of the best among Judges, and the very large attendance at his funeral of the people, not only of Pottsville and this county, but elsewhere, show him to have been a man who has taken a lasting place in the public esteem.

OBBS'S OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

A gentleman of town has called my attention to a matter which, if the statements are correct, is quite serious and by no means serves to advance the system of public school education. According to our informant, one of our school teachers makes a practice, when addressing his pupils, of using the nicknames given them by their companions. In resorting to such a practice the teacher harms himself by sacrificing his dignity. I make mention of the matter upon request of the informant, who hopes it will not require notice again. It certainly seems out of place for a teacher to say, "Who discovered America, Scabby?"

One of our townsmen, upon meeting an old acquaintance on Main street the other day, exclaimed, "My goodness, but it is good for your eyes to see you, shake!" As the formality of shaking hands was going on our townsman added, "That's an arm that has been around your wife's waist many a time." The second party's friendship willed and our townsman only presented a writup by explaining that the expression was somewhat awkward and that it meant that his friend's arm had frequently been around the wife's waist.

Joseph and Bert Reese, of Chicago, have left town after a pleasant visit to their brother, Max Reese. One of them is a skillful magician and the other a mild reader.
The latter gave an exhibition for the benefit of a few friends on Wednesday. It was quite interesting until he offered to tell cocktail twice Meade Peters whether he did any knocking down behind the bar. The line was drawn then. Meade said, "The professor is a man of ability, but he mustn't overreach himself."

The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company has made the following classification for railroad shipments, as regards the colliers under its control, which went into effect February 1: Mahanoy, Tunnel Ridge, North Mahanoy, St. Nicholas, Boston Run, Gilberton, West Shenandoah, Draper, Mahanoy City, Elmwood, Kohnor, Turkey Run, Indian Ridge, Hammond, Schuylkill, Bear Run, Shenandoah City, Mahanoy Jig, Maple Hill, Girard, Girard Mammoth, Knickerbocker, Bear Ridge, Yates Jig, Locust Mountain, Locust Gap, Locust Spring, Richardson, Glendower, Oak Hill, North Ashland, East Ashland, Merriam, Monitor, Thomaston, Reliance, Mt. Carmel, Alaska Jig, Schuylkill, White Ash, Putts, Beechwood, Eagle Hill, Otto White Ash, Mt. Hope and Oakdale Jig.

Special Coals—Lykens Valley: West Brookside, Lincoln, Lorbrey, Middle Creek, Good Spring, East Franklin, Shamokkin, Beebridge, Bear Valley, Excelsior, Henry Clay, North Franklin, Schuylkill, Red Ash, Phoenix Park, Pine Forest, Corbin, Otto Red Ash.

This classification is in pursuance of the company's pronounced policy not to permit retailers to select the particular colliery from which coal is desired but simply to designate the particular region and grade. The new policy is said to meet with general favor.

It is rumored that the Adams Express Company are endeavoring to make an arrangement with the Schuylkill Traction Company so as to enable the Express Company to locate offices at Lost Creek and Girardville.
