A BOOMERANG.

A Poor Appeal for the Democratic Boy

ough Ticket. The News took occasion on Sunday last, in trying to brace up support for the Democratic borough ticket, to drag into the eampaign matters that are entirely foreign to the issue. Know-Nothingism met its death at the hands of the people-Democrats and Republicanslong before the editors of the News were sucklings and is dead forever. Our present enlightened age is an assurance of this.

The News is silly when it says that after their defeat all the Know-Nothings strifted into the Republican party. What if we have so many Irish Catholic Republicans right in our midst.

But to come closer to the question in connection with the present borough campaign let us review a few incidents of the past and yinuoc cht ni syenrolta cht lla niater ew see how near to the truth the statements of Peter Beck, a German Catholic Democrat of this town, was a candidate for Chief Burges against Republican Protestant John P. Boehm. This town is Democratic by a good Denoitseuq eb ton liiw ytiliba ruo dua majority. Beck was defeated in every ward rewop lluf evah llahs ew heihw ni niamod a except the Fifth, and that gave him a majority of but 5. Even the Gibraltar of Domocracy-the First ward-gave a majority of received 360 more votes than Beck did. Again, Samuel G. Acker, a German Catholic, was nominated for Chief Burgess en the Democratic ticket. He, too, was deienous wen a erofeb suo dial eb sualp cht feated. Wherein, then, lies the foundation of the Neuer declaration that, "the man or men who, for a trivial reason, will desert nac ew tahw fo aedi na nwot sikt evig of their greatest benefactor at a time when their services are most needed are guilty of the basest ingratitude,"

The HERALD regrets exceedingly that the News has dragged so much foreign matter into the borough campaign and would not attempt to answer the onslaught if it were not for the persistent and urgent requests of several prominent German Democrats of town, who wish to place themselves in proper light and show they are justified in bolting the Democratic borough ticket this fall. The News stated Sunday that the Deme-
