A DASTARDLY ATTACK.

MRS. BRITTON'S THRILLING EXPERIENCE YESTERDAY.

ATTACKED BY AN UNKNOWN MAN

The Woman Successfully Resists the Efforts of Her Assailant Who is Frightened Off by New Arrivals.

MRS. JOHN BRITTON, a resident of Turkey Run, had a thrilling experience with some young unknown desperadoes yesterday. It is believed that had not two young men of town made a timely arrival upon the scene the woman would have been robbed and, perhaps, subjected to the greatest indignities. Mrs. Britton left her home yesterday to visit Pottsville and concluded that the saving of money in fare would warrant walking to Frackville to make connection with the train, as the distance to the Lehigh depot in town was just as far, and she started, too late to catch a train at the Pennsylvania depot. Mrs. Britton walked through Turkey Run and then followed the public road that leads down to Maizeville, or "Flour Barrel," as it is commonly called. When half way down the highway the woman was suddenly confronted by a young man who at once jumped behind her and drew one of his hands over her face in such a manner as to close her eyes and press her nose and mouth in such a manner that she could hardly breathe. The other arm of the assailant was thrown about the woman's body. As soon as Mrs. Britton realized her situation she summoned all her powers, and succeeding in getting the villain's hand from her mouth screamed for help. At the time John Harbison and Richard Snyder, two young men of town, were descending from the top of the hill on their way to Mahanoy Plains. Hearing the cries for help below they whizzed by their horse. The jingle of the sleigh bells frightened Mrs. Britton's assailant. He let his victim go and ran up the hill, passing the sleigh before the occupants could grasp the situation. As Harbison and Snyder drove around a bend in the road they saw Mrs. Britton standing in the middle of the road, gesticulating wildly and pointing up the hill. The young men in the sleigh learned the cause of the excitement and drove up the road again, but could get no trace of the fugitive. They then drove down to the place where Mrs. Britton awaited them. Upon their return the young men took Mrs. Britton into their sleigh and drove on to Maizeville. The woman then insisted upon continuing her journey to Frackville on foot and said she would not return to Turkey Run until she could recover from the shock and have the company of friends she had at Frackville. One of the young men who went to Mrs. Britton's relief, Mr. Snyder, said today: "The whole affair passed off so quickly and the man ran past our sleigh so fast we barely noticed him. He was a stout young man, clean shaven, and about five feet, six inches high. He was poorly dressed and dirty looking. He wore a round, soft felt hat, leather boots, brown short coat fringed by wear at the bottom and brown vest. His shirt appeared to be a blue flannel one and he wore no collar or tie. Mrs. Britton told us the man made repeated attempts to throw her to the ground and almost succeeded when his attention was attracted by the ringing of our sleigh bells."

PERSONAL.

J. E. Coyle, Esq., spent yesterday at Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Neiswinger spent today at Pottsville.

M. M. Burke, Esq., has been appointed collector for the supervisor of West Mahanoy township and has also been retained as collector by the school district of the same township.

Thomas S. Lewis, inside foreman at Oak Hill colliery, Minersville, and his sister, Miss Sallie Lewis, also of Minersville, were in town yesterday attending the funeral of the late James Griffiths.

James Cackley and John J. O'Hearn, two of Shenandoah's popular young business men, and Miss Fannie VanDusen, also of Shenandoah, were the guests of Mr. O. B. Williams on Sunday.—Mt. Carmel News.

Excellent Concert.

Riley's orchestra, of Brownsville, gave a concert last evening to a number of their friends from Pottsville, Shenandoah and adjoining towns. There was a regular programme of selected music from Wagner, Beethoven and other popular authors, by the entire orchestra, and violin solos by James Riley with piano accompaniment by Miss Roe Riley. The orchestra numbers six active members: James M. Riley, violin; John A. Curtis, cornet; Thomas B. Riley, clarinet; James L. Morgan, bass violin; Will Lukosh, trombone, and Miss Roe Riley, pianist.

Votes polled yesterday	214
Grand total	6719

An interesting feature has developed in the HERALD'S teachers' contest in the form of a spirited struggle for second place between Misses Wasley and Stein. By the count on Friday the latter captured the place from the former, but Saturday's returns again gave Miss Wasley the place. Yesterday Miss Stein's friends sent over 600 votes, again placing her ahead of Miss Wasley, with a lead of 15.

Don't fail to keep a watch for the extra inducements to competitors which the HERALD will announce before the close of this week.

AGNES HERNDON.

An Actress With 144 New Pairs of Shoes.

All people have hobbies. Agnes Herndon, who plays hero shorty, has a peculiar one, that of ordering duplicates of every pretty pair of shoes she sees, and an exchange who sent a reporter to interview her the other day, relates how he found her maid busy preparing her costumes for the evening's performance. The aforesaid maid was well up in her business, and particularly in that priceless gift for a maid—namely, silence—when asked regarding things which should not interest strangers. The maid wore a smile on her face and had a dainty bronze shoe in her hand, and the dressing room was a complete shoe store, a large trunk having just been emptied.

"Does Miss Herndon wear all these in the play-to-night?" was asked. "Heaven forbid," said the maid. "She only wears four pairs, and one pair is particularly lovely. See!" And she held up a pair—a delicate suede pink, low cut shoes. "These," she said, "are made especially to suit the pink Greek robe."

"What does Miss Herndon do with so many?" was asked. "Just keeps them—It's her hobby." "Do you keep any of the shoes, I mean—?" And then the maid said "Shew"—and "shewed."

One hundred and forty-one pairs of shoes for one woman at one time! Now, if it had been hundreds—well—No matter, go to Ferguson's theatre next Thursday evening and see Miss Herndon and her great play "La Belle Marie."

The Vacant Judgeship.

It was expected that Gov. Pattison would name the successor to the late Judge Green yesterday, but he has deferred the matter in order to give a delegation from Pottsville an opportunity to be heard in the interest of Mason Weidman, Esq. The latter called upon the Governor last evening. Hon. James B. Reilly has refused to accept the appointment, giving as his reasons his aversion to entering into a contest for the judiciary. In view of his recent election to Congress he says he feels pledged to serve his constituents in that capacity.

FROM THE COURT HOUSE.

SOME OF THE CASES DISPOSED OF YESTERDAY.

JUDGE PERSHING CONTINUES ILL

His Place on the Bench to be Temporarily Filled by a Columbia County Judge—License Decisions on Wednesday.

Special Herald correspondence.

POTTSVILLE, Feb. 27th.

THE usual session of motion court today was conducted by Judge Bechtel. Many of the attorneys expected to see President Judge Pershing on the bench, but he did not appear. It is reported here that the Judge, in pursuance of the advice of his physician, will return to Atlantic City, and that his work on the bench will be taken up during his absence by Judge Eichler, of Columbia county.

The succession to the late Judge Green has taken another turn and now it is thought that the case will be decided by the Hon. Judge Bechtel. It is reported here that the case will be decided by the Hon. Judge Bechtel. It is reported here that the case will be decided by the Hon. Judge Bechtel.

A petition was today circulated among the members of the bar by friends of Mr. Weidman, commending his appointment. This petition, headed by a delegation of the bar, will tomorrow speed over the Reading road to the State Capital, leaving here at 7:15 a. m. Messrs. Farquhar, Kaecheer, and Whalen seem to head the delegation. Meanwhile the friends of Mr. Weidman's brilliant young competitor are not moping and it would be no surprise at all to the knowing ones if they would tomorrow show superior political generalship by sorely bombarding Mr. Weidman's chances. Thus it stands, but the people of Schuylkill county can safely entrust their interests to either gentleman on the Bench, as they are both of unquestioned ability and would, no doubt, prove wise and impartial Judges.

Judge Bechtel sustained the Auditors in the rules taken by County Treasurer Pepper and Solicitor Minogue against them to show cause why the judgments entered against them on the Auditor's report should not be stricken from the record. The rule was discharged.

Emily Lauck, of Frackville, was granted a decree of divorce from her husband. A number of township supervisor's bonds were presented and approved.

The applications for licenses of Dennis Cressden, of the First ward, Shenandoah, and Joseph Hough, of Mahanoy City, were heard. Marr for Green; Kaecheer for Hough.

Argument was heard in the case of I. Robbins vs. Joseph Rogers, and the papers were submitted to the court. Burke for plaintiff; Seltzer and Haughwout contra.

Thursday has been fixed for argument of the Shenandoah water case. Clerk of the Courts Toole says the court will announce its decision on Wednesday in the new license cases.

They Never Fail.

J. N. Harris, 3 Fulton Market, New York City, says:

"I have been using Brandreth's Pills for the last fifteen years. There is nothing equal to them as Blood Purifiers and Liver Regulators. But I wish to state how remarkably they cure rheumatism, and how easily. I was affected by rheumatism in the legs. My business (wholesale fish dealer) naturally leads me to damp places. I could not walk, and at night I suffered fearfully; I tried Balsam of Sassafras and all kinds of liniments, but they did me no good and I was afraid of being a cripple. I finally commenced using Brandreth's Pills. I took two every night for ten nights, then I began to improve. I continued taking them for forty days and I got entirely well. Now, whenever sick, I take Brandreth's Pills. They never fail."

The Griffiths Funeral.

The funeral of the late James Griffiths took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence on Juneberry alley. The attendance was very large, including the members of Shenandoah Lodge, No. 591, I. O. O. F., and Anthracite Castle, No. 74, K. G. E. Interment was made in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

OBESE OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

The president is around again. I heard a man say Saturday night that the absorption of the Schuylkill Traction Company by the Philadelphia syndicate was "only another of those d—n eating-up concerns and it would carry the whole town away before long." Hosh! If Philadelphia capitalists put their money here it will make money, and if it does the people must necessarily be benefited by it one way or another.

I see that the bill now before the House at Harrisburg providing for the payment of school directors for services in connection with their office has been modified by striking out the part providing for pay for the time expended by the directors in attending their annual convention. The modification is commendable and I hope the bill will be completely routed even in its present form. This pay is not to exceed $2 per day, but allowing only one day for each director it would not $20,000 every time the County Superintendents are elected. Now, this sum may not be large enough to make a fuss about, it is hardly enough to be much of an object of inspiration to the individual director, and certainly is not enough to tempt greatly to the securing of better men to serve on school boards. Since the common school system was established its local management has been conducted by men who gave their services free, and they have brought it up to what it is now. To pay the directors the full value of their services would be impossible without doubling taxation and making the office one sought too often for the emoluments rather than the good of the schools. If there are not men enough in every school district to serve as directors, and public-spirited enough to serve without pay, good men are getting scarce.

Rev. Anna Shaw, who lectured in the Presbyterian church last evening, is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of woman's suffrage in the country. In an address before the Woman's Suffrage Association in Brooklyn a few evenings since Rev. Shaw said: "One of the saddest blots on the history of this great republic is the fact that it has no monuments to its women. Traverse our country from shore to shore, and nowhere will you find one block of granite erected to the memory of American womanhood. At the close of the late war it was learned that 40,000 noble women had devoted themselves to nursing the wounded soldiers, inspiring them with hope and courage to continue the struggle for freedom. No recognition was made of their labors, as the Government had no time to think of its women. The negroes needed immediate attention. The financial resources of the country had to be re-established."

"Not long ago I thought our fondest hopes were about to be realized. It was just before the unveiling of the monument to the Pilgrims in Boston. The Pilgrims' aid I, 'come on, girls! This means our mothers, our sisters. It means that we will be represented.' We went, we stood for three hours in the hot sun listening to the dedicatory services, which were impressive. We listened to beautiful speeches by great men. We heard that taxation without representation was unjust—we had just paid our taxes before we went down. We heard that the law of the land was the will of the people, and other noble sentiments were expounded. At last the great monument was unveiled and we read 'Erected to the Memory of the Pilgrim Fathers.' And fathers was the biggest word of all."

"Disappointed and mortified we went away. We had no monument after all. It was only erected in memory of our 'Fathers.' "But America has her liberty. She's a woman, it is true. She stands down the bay in quarantine. And she's the only thing we have succeeded in effectually quarantining. What we want is to get Liberty out of quarantine and bring her into the country."
