addicted to the morphine habit. A deposition from J south H. Leffert, a druggist of Asbury Fark, N. J., states that on several occasions he sold Helen Potts a gram of morphine. With the reading of an affidavit from the defendant, In which he prayed the Recorder to grant him a new trial, Mr. Howe closed his argument. After a brief speech by District-Attor-ney Nicoli, in which he opposed the ap-plication of counsel, he sold that while the cose was one that occasioned much the case was one that occasioned much sympathy, the requests for a new trial should be denied from a point of law. Affidavits from the mother and father of the decensed wors read in which they denied that their child was in the habit of using morphine. Mr. and Mrs. Potts swear that during the last three years there have been two families of the name of George Potts. They contend that the effort now being made by Harris to escape the consequence of his alleged crime by imputing to their daughter the habit of sating mor-phine is a dastardly attack upon her character.

Both counsel made their closing arguments. Harris kiesed his mother two or three times, and wis then handcuffed and taken to the Tombs.
