1859. The day was mild, the sky serene. In accordance will the custom of those and inter times Jackson had formally notified the Senate of his intention to take the oath in its presence. Nowa-days the Senate appoints its committee of arrangements and publishes its order of cormonoless upon mere assumption that the President elect desires the assistance of the Senate—one more proof of the solidifying effects of cus-tom. At this time Pennsylvania avenue had a rough stone payement on the proof of the soliditying effects of en-tons. At this time Pennsylvania avenue had a rough stone payement on the south aide of it, while the centre space of about forig-five feet in width was lined on either side with Lombardy poplar trees, planted a quarter of a cen-try before through the fostering care of definition. The inaugural procession that moved along this boulerard was a spontaneous and informal one, the only prominent figure in it being that of dacison himself on a prauning steed. Great as the crowd of visitors was for that day and generation, the Prevident elect did not look down on many more than ten through these says he delivered has inaugural address.
