TO HIDE HER SECRET?

Probable Reason for Miss Ericsen's Suicide.

HAD BEEN MELANCHOLY OF LATE

She Confided to a Friend that She Had Done "Something Wrong"—Under a Sworn Impression the Swedish Servant Girl Threw Herself Under a Locomotive on a New York Elevated Railroad and Was Crushed to Death.

New York, March 2.—It is now said that Augusta Ericsen, the young Swedish servant of Brooklyn, who committed suicide by throwing herself in front of an elevated train at elevated avenue and 52d street, this city, last evening committed the rash act to hide the result of her folly.

Mrs. Carlsson, the young woman's employer, when seen at her Brooklyn home this morning and questioned as to what she knew concerning her past career, replied:

"ANGUSTA was a very nice girl, only she was somewhat melancholy. We got her through a Swedish employment agency. Last Saturday night a man came to see her. She said to me her brother, but I had my doubts about it. She was very sad during the past two days."

Miss Ericsen told me the other day that she had done something wrong, but she would not say what it was.

The dead occurred on the up-town track in front of the station. Miss Ericsen dropped her ticket in the box and walked to the north end of the platform.

The ticket checker, in the story that she told before Col. Hain came down to investigate the matter, said: "I remember that the woman passed me and walked up the platform. There was a man standing near her. Just then the 458 train came in, two minutes late, and I turned to open the gate. I did not hear my screen or noise of any kind, but I saw that the train had stopped at a sudden stop. The next moment the man whom I had noticed, came running up to me, saying 'a woman's run over.'"

The engineer got out of the engine and came running up, too. They uncoupled the engine and drove it about a little way and then I saw the woman's body lying across the tracks."

Many of the passengers got off the train and gathered close to the edge of the platform. The woman's limbs had been nearly torn off, and one gloved hand lay detached upon the rail.

Ambulances and policemen were soon summoned, but it was some time before they arrived, and the road was blocked for a mile.

Finally the body was carried to the police station. In her pocketbook was found $10.11 in money, and a card bearing her employer's address, which led to her identification. She was born in Sweden 20 years ago, and came to New York last spring. She spoke English fairly well, and was a quiet, well behaved girl, with a pretty figure and a rather handsome face.

She was under the medium height, with light hair and blue eyes. She had been employed by Mrs. Carlsson only about two weeks ago.

FOUR CARS BURNED. Many Injured in a Wreck in Arkansas on the Iron Mountain Road.

Hopk, Ark., March 2.—An awful wreck occurred on the Iron Mountain road about one mile north of this place yesterday.

The southbound passenger jumped the track, and the baggage, express, three passenger coaches and one sleeper were buried down an embankment.

The sleeper and three coaches immediately caught fire, and in a short time were burned. The wreck resulted from using rotten cross-ties.

No one was killed, but 15 were injured, some of them quite badly. The injured are being properly cared for by the railroad company.

WHEELING CAR STRIKE GROWING SERIOUS. WHEELING, W. Va., March 2.—There is little hope of a peaceful settlement of the street car strike. Acts of violence are growing more frequent.

ONE CONVERT ALREADY. TRENTON, March 2.—Assemblyman Jas. W. Lanning, of this city, called upon the Rev. Dr. Staudford this morning and announced that he had determined to change his vote on the race track question, and that, although he had voted for the bill at all stages, he would vote in favor of their repeal.

THE STORM HAS BROKEN

New Jersey Demands the Repeal of the Race Laws.

TRENTON FILLED WITH REFORMERS

Nearly Every County in the State Answered the Call and Assisted in the Assembly Chamber—Prominent Men Make Enthusiastic Speeches—A Racing Association Demands Repeal—Representative Lanning Was Over.

TRENTON, March 2.—The storm of indignation that has been gathering ever since the Legislature of New Jersey passed the disgraceful race bill broke in Trenton yesterday, when 4,500 people, representing every walk in life, in no uncertain way voiced their disapproval of the humiliation their State. The capital as a whole witnessed such a demonstration of any kind as to which the law and order people made against the race laws and the Legislature which enacted them.

Centinians of all denominations were present, and eminent laymen were out in unnumbered forces. Fully one third of the crowd was composed of women. No less than 9 of the 21 counties were represented.

The railroads ran special trains and made a special rate to Trenton, which resulted in bringing the large throng to the city.

The Camden delegation arrived first, numbering over 100 delegates, headed by Luther Griffin, chairman. They found that no effort was to be made to keep them out of the Assembly Chamber.

Contrary to expectation, they found that no effort was to be made to keep them out of the Assembly Chamber. Capt. Ford, who lost the legal charge of the State House, had given orders that the Assembly Chamber should be placed at the disposal of its owners—the people of the State.

Rev. Dr. Kempshall, President of the League, leading over a thousand members, arrived at the State House at 1:30 o'clock. He was greeted with great applause. In his throng were President Lewis, of Rutgers College, and many members of the Rutgers Faculty.

There were also many members of the Princeton faculty and clergymen and eminent citizens of every city in the State. Rev. Dr. Kempshall was at once made chairman of the meeting and he took the speaker's chair, nothing further being said about adjournment to Taylor Opera House.

As Dr. Kempshall took his seat he was greeted with thunderous applause, and at once launched into a fiery and eloquent speech.

He addressed the meeting as "fellow citizens of the as yet free and sovereign State of New Jersey," and the applause was deafening. He had taken part in the conflict against the race track inquiry for years.

He was pastor of a church to which he belonged a signer of the Declaration of Independence and from whose pulpit preached James Caldwell, the fighting parson. This church had sent 40 officers to fight for the Independence of America and he would be recent to his duty had he not been found somewhere in the front fighting the great evil as his forefathers had fought the Red Coat and Hessians over a century ago (applause). The later tyranny was a tyranny of vice over virtue, a tyranny of those who would trample all law under foot.

By the grace of God, although for the moment apparently defeated, the men in whose veins runs blood of that kind will yet conquer.

The flag of the Nation was not floating over the State House, but in its place the Union Jack, the Union Jack and the Union Jack. But that Union Jack was not long that in defiance of the will of the people, (applause). The eyes of all the Nation were upon New Jersey. Humiliated and disgraced now, but by the help of God the disgrace would soon be wiped out.

Before concluding, Dr. Kempshall commended the brave words of Assemblyman Lane in the Legislature, and that gentleman's name was also applauded.

The crowd in the Assembly chamber had by this time grown so great that it was decided to adjourn to the Taylor Opera House. Those present formed in procession and marched through the streets. When Dr. Kempshall called the meeting to order there the house, which is one of the largest in the State, was crowded from gallery to orchestra. In the United States Minister to Spain. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Duffell of Princeton College, who closed with the Lord's Prayer, in which all joined.

A committee on resolutions, one member from each county, was then appointed, after which Dr. Austin Scott, President of Rutgers College, said that while in New Orleans he had studied the work which resulted in the establishment of the lottery. The spirit which the good citizens had to fight there is the same spirit that dominates the race track tracks of New Jersey.

Dean McNulty of Paterson spoke from one of the galleries, scolding the gamblers and joining heartily in the sentiments expressed by the preceding speakers. After speeches by Anthony Comstock and others, the resolutions were read and adopted with cheers.

A committee of 50 was appointed which will wait on the Legislature Monday evening.

ASKS FOR REPEAL. The Mutual Driving Association of Newark Demands the Legislature.

NEWARK, March 2.—The Mutual Driving Association at its annual meeting meeting condemned the Legislature for the passage of the Race Track bill, and adopted the following resolution: Resolved, That this association is not in sympathy with and heartily condemns the action of the Legislature in passing the Race Track bill, and for denying to the people of the State a hearing upon them.

With the exception of the Fleetwood association, the Mutual Driving association is the largest in the country.
