EXCURSIONS THIS YEAR.

The World's Fair Absorbs the Interest of Railroads.

The all-absorbing interest in the World's Columbian Exposition is literally devouring interest in all minor things. Even the Sunday school picnics and excursions to distant points are likely to be abandoned in the general excitement caused by the great international enterprise. The railroad passenger agents are now vying with each other in making arrangements for the rapid handling of tourists bound for the great World's Fair, and the picnics and Sunday excursions of the past are to be overlooked or forgotten.

It now looks as though the people north of the Broad Mountain will have to look to Lakeside as the only cool place to spend a day of rest during the hot summer months.

Already the announcement is made that the Pennsylvania railroad has decided to abandon all picnic or special excursion rates after May 1. The announcement has been made that no special excursions to or from any points, with the exception of Chicago, can be arranged for while the World's Fair is in progress.

A prominent official of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is reported to have said:

"The great World's Fair, and the host of people attending it, will be about all the passenger traffic that can be handled by the Pennsylvania railroad with anything like comfort and convenience to the traveling public. Even if we had cars enough to accommodate the people, the running of local excursion trains would either retard the through passenger traffic, or greatly hinder the movements of freight trains. There is some talk of abandoning the Atlantic City excursions for the same reason, but that has not yet been decided. I think these excursions will depend upon the amount of travel to Chicago this summer, and it will not be fully decided to do away with them until we learn whether the World's Fair traffic comes up to our expectations."

The general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines has stated: "The great increase in travel to Chicago, which will follow as a natural result of the World's Fair at that city, will tax our equipment to the utmost, and in order to provide for this traffic and afford comfortable accommodations to our patrons, it has been decided to run no special picnic excursions this season."

Although the other lines have not yet issued orders to suspend the picnic excursion business during the World's Fair, it is thought that they will follow the example of the Pennsylvania system. The coming season is not overladen with golden promises for the people interested in summer resort or private picnic grounds, and the little boy will not be lured into the Sunday school by the prospect of a ride on the cars and a picnic frolic unless the people who have charge of such affairs are wide-awake enough to secure such dates as such places as are not wholly dependent upon the railroads for transportation, as Lakeside will be when the electric railway will be extended to that point.

CENTRALIA.

Miss Mame McCreary and Miss Bryson, two of Ashland's pleasant young ladies, spent Wednesday evening with friends here.

Thomas Horn has his finger smashed badly on Wednesday. He is engaged as car tender at the Centralia colliery and while he was making a coupling got his hand caught.

Six boys, ranging in age from 10 to 15 were arrested for robbing L. A. Riley & Co.'s store. The robbery took place about three weeks ago and only recently evidence leading to the arrest was discovered. All the boys were held for trial and two being unable to secure bail were sent to the county jail at Bloomsburg.

Grayson Troutman, while unloading hay on Tuesday, received a serious injury by having a pitch fork run into his thigh.

Anthony, the two-year-old son of A. Maloney, died on Thursday.

Miss Booth, of Mauch Chunk, is the guest of Mrs. Matilda McHugh.

Michael Costello, of Ashland, spent Thursday among his many friends in town.

Edward Phillips and family were in Shenandoah on Monday attending the funeral of the late James Griffiths.

The New Council.

The absorbing topic of all consideration in public places in town is the approaching reorganization of the Borough Council, which is to take place Monday evening. Great anxiety is manifested on all sides as to the result and speculation is running. The most diligent inquiries as to what shape the governing staff of officials will take, but not the slightest information can be obtained. Some deep thinking is going on.

An Enjoyable Affair.

A number of ladies and gentlemen held a sociable in Ferguson's front hall last evening. The attendance was large and all had a very enjoyable time. The evening was spent in dancing and refreshments were served. The music was furnished by the Toole orchestra.

Just Out.
Worthington Co., Joseph J. Little, receiver, 747 Broadway, New York, announce for immediate publication "Antoinette; or, The Mari-Pit Mystery," by George Ohnet, author of "The Ironmaster." This admirably-written story, which will be found to add greatly to the already high fame of Ohnet, portrays a wonderful picture of filial love. The inventor's daughter, a charming creation of the author's mind, sacrifices herself, her love, her fortune, everything, to her father's ambitious and unprofitable experiments and inventions. She inspires the reader with such generous and lofty ideas of life and action that this book must be ranked among the most powerful of the day. The plot of the story rests upon a family feud and is excellent. The story is at times deeply mysterious, and gives with a keen incisive touch the characteristics of modern society in France. 1 vol., 12mo, paper.

NIGHTGOWNS—We wonder when we see the quality of muslin and trimmings, the really good work put on them, the time it requires to complete such a garment, how they can be sold for such little money. They range in price from 50c up to several dollars.
