OBE'S OBSELVATIONS. What He Sees will Rears During His

Travels. Many little plenantries are exchanged by the borough officials that are quite annualing to others, but do not appear altogether so to the public when pait in print. The trouble is all the circumstances from which they arise innot be given without the sacrifice of cousiderable space, and without them the point of amusement is not fully appreciated, or is Hable to be misconstrued by the uninitiated. In face of all the disappointments and perhaps displeasure created by some features of the re-organization Monday uight several flashes of fun were exchanged. For instance, after NDANG NEVOLOVIZ Councilman Holman had voted for himself

It is only a matter of calcu-Mrs. Neveloviz is a woman of about thirty lation." The remark caused a general laugh. After the meeting Supervisor Liewellyn said, "There is quite a coincidence in Mr. Cleveland's case and mine. Cleveland arrendered his keys to Harrison and on Saturday Harrison surrendered the keys Sevoloviz lived like turtle doves, but at back to Cleveland. A year ago I surrendered about that time, when attending a wedding the Supervisor's keys to a Democrat and this at Wiggans', the busband was informed that year the Domocrat handed them back to me." The Washingtonian dignity with which the point was drawn provoked a roar of aughter.

> It will thus be seen that all that goes on in he Council Chamber is not of a Greeoaman wrestling character. The HEBALD sporter occupied a seat in the chamber again se Monday alghi and the large number of illigens present enjoyed thenaselves by picturing to him an exit from the place with the strong arm of a Council's officer on his houlder. The reporter took the "mags" cood naturedly and after the meeting adourned he indulged in a little laugh over the fact that he had been allowed to remain in the meeting undisturbed. Others laughed, oo, and some said the reporter was in luck. He was, for before he went home he received several cordial invitations to attend the next meeting of Council.

The popular tune on the streets now is the old time, "Remember, boy, you're Irish."

The first attention of the Supervisor is to e turned to that crossing on East Lloyd treet, on which Councilman Coakley has can lecturing in Council so frequently the past two years.

The recent corruption of Councilman Finney's name to "Feenoy" has placed that centleman in some embarrassing positions. Last evening a man stopped him on the the wife that if she recovered the case street and while the hand shaking was going on he asked, "Feeley, you're a dandy. Are a States in
