A NUMBER OF CASES DIS-POSED OF.

DANIEL BRADLEY DIDN'T WAIT!

CHARLES L. DAVIS, While the Jury Was Out he Lef to Take a Short Walk and Has Not Bein Seen Since.

RIMINAL Court com vened at Pottsvill yesterday and dispose of several usses i which town peop were interested. Th results were surprisin and expensive to man of the parties concern ed and the excheque

of the county was cor

siderably swelled. Daniel Bradley was on of the first to be placed on trial. He ha three charges against him, two for larcen and one for carrying concealed dead!

Bradley was tried on the three counts an the jury rendered a verdict of guilty after short deliberation. Bradley was under bai pending trial. While the jury was out b told one of his friends he wanted to go outside and see a man. He went and failed to out in an appearance when called up for entence on the verdict.

Loungers about the court house say they saw Bradley run down the steps and down one of the Potisville streets as fast as his legs ould carry him. All efforts to trace him Inquiry at Bradley's haunts in this town last night and this morning failed to lead to iny cine to his whereabouts. A man well sequainted with him, said, "Dan will not go far, but if he does it will be better for himself and the town. It was stated that Bradley was seen at the Lehigh depot in town at about 4 o'clock yesterday. People who were in attendance at court say that this is a mistake as it was about 4 o'clock when Bradley left the court

Another case of local interest disposed o esterday was one in which John J. Lorab, he teamster, prosecuted a Polish woman amed Annie Kropowski, Lorah said Annie kept a common and HI-governed house. The woman succeeded in convincing the jury to the contrary and Mr. Lorah was obliged to pay costs amounting to over $50.

Some weeks ago, at about four o'clock in the morning, a Hungarian young man named George Kompovich, threw a piece of rock through a large pane of glass in the show window of L. Goldin's clothing store on South Main street. In the afternoon of the same day Policemen Davis and Tempest arrested the young man, who at first denied Kompavich was found guilty, fined five dollars and sentenced to imprisonment for William P. Sweeny and William Chulski, a Hungarian, were also among the Shenan doahites who aired their grievances before the ourt yesterday. Sweeny is a driver of a mi k wagon. While driving along the street on which Chuiski resides other vehicles forced him to drive over the pavement in front of Chulski's house. This angered the atter and the two men became engaged in immage, in which Sweeny claimed he was hoked. The latter instituted suit for assaul and battery. The jury rendered a verdist of not guilty and directed that each man pay nalf the costs, which amounted to over $100.

Reckless Pastime.

Several small boys were amusing them selves on the Lehigh Valley railroad near the foot of White street yesterday afternoon toying with a small 22-calibre revolver and placing the cartridges on the rails to have the car wheels pass over them. A more dan gerous combination for pastime could hardly be conceived. The play ground was dangerous enough without being augmented by the source of "didn't-know-it-was-loaded" accidents.

The Wires Crossed.

At 11 o'clock last night the fire alarm bei was tapped once and a few minutes later i was tapped twice. It was at first thought an alarm had been sounded and the system was out of order, but investigation showed that a wire of the merchants' electric light system had crossed the alarm wire. The dynamic which furnishes power for the merchants' system was stopped, as the operator, Georgi Saeger, feared the wire would be burned, and all the lights on that system were extinguished. The broken wire was repaired early this morning.

he and another young man named Michael rascals out." However this may be, Cleve-McAvoy had contemplated the robbery for land's name is not mentioned near as fresome time. Last Saturday night the two met in the boiler house at Kohinoor colliery and had a talk over the matter. It was agreed that Canfield should do the job. At about 8 o'clock that night Canfield went to the Flock house. The family was not at home, He gained admission to the house by forcing a window open and went up to George Flock's room. By breaking open a trunk and a tin box inside of it Confield secured $138 in each and left the house unobserved. Canfield said he took the money to the Kohlnoor botler house, where he and Mc-Avoy counted it, but after that he could renember nothing and did not know what had come of the money. But notwithstanding the laster statement, Canfield this morning nowed where part of the money was hidden

> In some manner a discussion of President Cleveland's religious faith has crept into the newspaper columns. A statement that the President and all the members of his cabinet are Presbyterians has caused a smile, but there is more truth than fletion in it. Some acknowledge it laso, with the exception of Secretary Carlisle. With regard to that gentleman, many of his friends say he is an adherent of no denomination, but inclines to Presbyterianism. It is also a fact that Mr. Carlisle's son is a Presbyterian minister.

President Harrison's religious faith, and that f members of his cabinet, was not discussed, ret he was a Presbyterian, too. And odd as t may seem, coming nearer home, our resent postmuster is in the Presbyterian

It wouldn't surprise me to see the congrecation of the church at the northwest corner of White and Oak streets swell to immense roportions before the time to consider applications for the postmastership arrive. The Presbyterians seem to be "in it."

The official figures inform us that but two Americans were naturalized in England last year. Some people are unkind enough to nsinuate that this partly accounts for the ee at Democratic victory in this town.

The movement to have the old blue laws of 1794, still on the statute books of this state, so modified as to allow newspapers to be sold on Sunday is commendable. But I think our lawmakers should so modify the law that discrimination should be made between the bucket brigade had cut off all danger. Some good and the had.
