THIRD EDITION
THE THEATRE

References to Ferguson Theatre Coming Attractions.

That "Uncle Alvin" is as popular now as he was a score of years ago is attested everywhere by crowded houses and screams of laughter. It seems destined to never wear out. Fifteen years is a long time for a play to remain before the public and still continue to be valuable property, but this is true nevertheless of "Alvin Jostin." Mr. Davis brings with him this season the best company he has ever had supporting him, while the special scenic effects are said to be marvelously realistic and grand. There has been an active demand for seats and inclinations point to one of the largest houses of the season. At Ferguson's theatre to-morrow evening.

What Worries "Billie" M.
According to the papers—as I learn from them as reads 'em—
That's suthin' mighty pesterin' 'preyin' on the mind o' Billie M.!

As 'tho' some people has their own ideas, of course, as leads 'em
To think they know the reason, when I come to think it over—

No doubt that slate makin' job has sorter joined his thinker.
As writin' up his budget might have been a bit o' bother.

But when I can't see how Ten, Dick and Harry—
A sayin' nothin' 'bout myself—has spoke to him, it's rather

Coaxin'lyous to me the thing as casons his kermination
Is this burg thing o' pickin' out the officers for we'ans.

As' when yer come ter think o' it, it's jist a fair conclusion.
We've it, partitioned, an' coaxed 'bout it since election

His letter's be's trimmed up with it in elegant perfume.
An' sent to Pottsville ev'ry day an' 'ketchin' the infection.

As' seen' how it stirred the county from boundary to boundary,
He's nat'ral worried 'bout these here borough positions.

TO AVENGE AN INSULT.

Two Elizabeth Men Fight Fifty Brutal Rounds Prize Ring Rules.

ELIZABETH, N. J., March 8.—It has just been given that Joseph Cates and Edward Corcoran, two well-known young men of this town, fought fifty rounds, prize-ring rules, Tuesday night at a prominent place in Elizabeth to avenge an insult arising out of a game of cards.

The fight was a brutal one, both being horribly mutilated at the finish. Cates broke his arm in the seventh round and fought in that condition to the end of the fight. Corcoran towards the end gouged out one of Cates' eyes. The police, as soon as the facts became known, secured the names of all persons present, and they have been notified to appear in court to-morrow.

All are members of society and a great sensation was caused by the disclosure.
