OBE'S OBSERVATIONS. What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

The continued rains of yesterday settled he hopes of patrons of sleighing marties for the season. The streets in the town are more more turned into furrowed rows of mud and THAT PLACE WORKED ALL DAY in the outskirts what show remains is only a crust and is undermined by swiftly running streams from the mountains and melting mow banks. But we have had a good dage. Three of the men started for the naterial, but had not gone more than three or four yards when an immense quantity of cal fell upon the two men who remained

The men who escaped the fall turned back and with bars and shovels commenced the work of releasing their less fortunate putties. After hard work of a few minutes the two uried men were taken from the debris. Araugements had been made to carry them up o the surface and have an ambulance take hem home, but to the surprise of all the two record men declined all assistance after they vere released and insisted upon walking

The two men made prisoners by the fall were Hungarians named Joseph Yonsotsky and Abe Lezuskey. They owe their escapfrom injury to the fact that the coal striking hom when the fall occurred was fine stuf ind did not drop from a high place.

A gentleman of town who heard of the ceident last night said he thought there was omething very strange in connection with nest of the mishaps in the mines thus far his year. Two accidents have been fatal and he falls occurred either just after the top had been sounded and declared safe, or step and just been taken to timber the place The gentleman said it was his opinion that oo much risk has been taken in mine work lately. They put off the "dressing" and ropping of a place too long.

Linkle Letter. Elizzie O'Conneil Votes polled yesterday. Frand total. As all arrangements are completed th HERALD decided to make announcement to iny of some additional inducements to th impetitors in its teachers' contest. These extra inducements are not intended to cause xtra exertion on the part of the contestant. They are made voluntarily. Our original inter ion was to send two teachers to the World' Fair and nothing more, but so much interes ins been manifested in the contest and th coults have been so satisfactory to th management it has been thought proper t offer substantial encouragement to th cachers who may make a gallant fight, bu ail to attain first or second place After un ure consideration we were led t he conclusion that the best additional is accement would be a trip to America's prids the wonderful Niagara Falls. The two teachers who will be third and urth when the result of the contest is ansounced will be entitled to free fare to Viagara Falls, free accommodations at a first lass hotel, there for five days, and free far-back to Shennudoah. If there will be any place of interest of his continent next summer aside from th World's Fair it will be the wonderful Niagara Falls, and certainly there is no place on earth where school teachers can spend a more interesting and enjoyable vacation. When we speak of a trip to Niagana Fall ve refer to trips to the surrounding points o struction, such as Goat Is and Bridge
