CONFLAGRATION AT BOSTON.

Many Magnificent Buildings Destroyed. Five Millions the Loss.

Boston, March 11.—The conflagration which started here shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon resulted in the destruction of $5,000,000 worth of property. Many of the most magnificent buildings in the city were destroyed.

The fire started in a large brown stone building on Lincoln street known as the Ames building and occupied mostly by large dealers in toys and tinies.

The flames spread with frightful rapidity and before the apparatus of the fire companies could be put in working order the Singer Sewing Machine and the Wire Grip Companies' buildings on the opposite side of the street were doomed.

Many people lost their lives but it will be days and perhaps weeks before the exact number is learned. The loss of life is placed on the toy dealing companies in the building where the fire started. The Horace Partridge Company carries a large supply of fire works, which were reached by the flames before the thirty or more clerks could get out of the building. The explosion was terrific.

The firemen connected with engine 7, when they first arrived, saved fifteen girls and four men from the top stories of the Ames building. Daniel Smith and James Connors, of engine No. 7, saved five people from the same building when the heat drove them back, and they actually saw girls being burned to death.

The Board of Fire Underwriters places the loss at $5,000,000, but it is thought the loss will foot up a great deal more than this. Three persons are known to be dead, and at least thirty persons are injured, some of whom will die of their injuries. The overhead wires hampered the firemen in their work of saving life.

Lozenzo J. Connor, 104 Green St., Albany, N. Y., writes: "I have used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and find it very beneficial, and I safely recommend it as a good remedy for coughs."

Stabbed in a Fight.
There was a row in a South Main street Lithuanian saloon last night during which Joe Waslawicz, a Lithuanian, a stabbed Steve Morszakow, a Hungarian, over the left eye. Had the stroke of the knife been a shade lower the sight of the organ would have been destroyed. A warrant was issued for Waslawicz's arrest last night, but it has not been executed.

CHANGED HIS APPEARANCE.

A New Scheme for Deceiving the Tax Collector.

Last evening deputy tax collector John Higgins was at the Lehigh Valley depot watching for the departure of delinquents when he saw a Hungarian approach. The tax collector then told the one he had in charge to go to the other and explain that his taxes would have to be paid. The Hungarian agreed to do this, leaving the railroad ticket in the collector's possession as bail for his return.

The fellow released joined the one at the engine and the two ran away. After they reached a place of safety the real owner of the ticket discovered that Higgins had it. He dressed himself in the immigrant clothes he wore when he came to this country two months ago and called for the ticket. Higgins said, "You are not the man I saw at the depot." The fellow protested that he was and admitted that he had changed his Americanized clothes for the others. He argued that his residence in this country had been limited to a few months, but Higgins knew better and still holds the railway ticket, which is worth $15, as security for the taxes. This afternoon the taxes were paid and the ticket returned.

THE MATAVALAGE CASE

The Wife Scores a Victory but Must Pay the Costs.

A case that excited considerable interest in the First ward of town last fall and which had been hanging fire since was disposed of at Pottsville yesterday. The principals were Mrs. Victoria Matavalage and her husband, Martin. The wife caused the husband's arrest for assault and battery and when the case was heard before Squire Monsaghan, Martin retaliated by charging the woman with adultery. He alleged that it was her conduct with men that provoked him to beating her. At the time of the commitment Mrs. Matavalage distinguished herself by refusing to look for bail and leaving several small children in the care of her husband. She was followed to the depot by a number of sympathizing women and while waiting with the constable for the train assumed the longings about the depot by picturing the predicament of her husband when the children would ask to be fed, put to bed, and washed and clothed.
