UPHOLD THE COMMISSION.

Mayor Stuart, of Philadelphia, and a number of aspirants for political favors in that city, appeared, but night, before the Committee on Municipal Corporations at Harrisburg and at tempted to explain why the Buildien Commission of the Philludelphia public buildings should be abolished.

Hon, John J. Coyle, the Representa tive from this district, is a cretary of the legislative committee before whom: the Phillsdelphia people appeared. It is to be hoped that he exercised his usual good jadgamakin this matter and that he protested against any change that would result in having the respondbilling for the completion of the work taken from the hands of the present compiled er, which has held control skups the buildings were first started, over twenty-five years ago, and which now seems to be the victim of an altack by those who semi prompted only by a dodre to mate plans for politicion who keep to m to power, and which will surely tollow if control of the work Is turned over to the Philadelphia City Committee.

It must be admitted that the present-convaludon has given the people of Philadelphia a public building the equal of which do not stand on this continent; and it is the optain of expeed an I reputable architects that it is the equal of any public building in the world, and too people of this Common wealth proproud to have such a building within its borders.

Up to this time there has not been a single substantiated argument advaried in support of the proposed removal of the building commission and we feel we express the sentiments of this district when we call upon our representative, Hon. John J. Coyle, to go slow in considering the measure.

We again call upon Mr. Coyle and his associates from this county to give this matter painstaking care and not do anything that will consign Philadelphia's magnificent public building to the hands of local politicians whose management of the work will be subject to the fluctuations of each forthcoming election.

IN a Western town a number of progressive euclire players have been arrested on the charge of gambling. While this may seem an extreme procending, it must at the same time be admitted that progressive eachre, popular as it is and seemingly innocent in its intentions and results, is as essentially a species of gambling as poker, straight-out eachre, or any other game played for stakes. Those who have witnessed the keen eagerness and seems memists. of many of the players of progressive eachre need not be told that the desire to win the usually trivial prizes is just him to death. The date for the hanging as great and is as fully displayed as though they represented thousands. Signs the death warrant. Cresmire displayed no emotion while the sentence was Divest the game of prize features being pronounced. and it would at once cease to be fashlovable.

It is alleged that seventy-five out of the hundred convicts in the Mas achusetta State Prison have revolvers concealed in their seils. To this interesting assertion one prison officer adds the declaration that at least three dynamite hombs are in possession of desperate prisoners. It would appear that officeder and one of the most daring and degrees of the most daring and degree of the most daring and degrees of the most daring daring the daring cealed in their cells. To this interestseveral promising lines of official in- dangerous criminals in the bosiness. quiry are opened, by these statesmen.
