SCHEIDER EXECUTED.

He Pays the Death Penalty at Washington

FOR MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE

The Condemned Man Awakes Early This Morning and Paces Nervously To and Fro in His Cell—He Weakens When the Black Cap is Drawn Over His Eyes and Has to be Supported Until the Drop Falls.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The first execution to take place in the District of Columbia since Charles A. Guiteau paid the death penalty on the gallows for the assassination of President Garfield in 1881, was carried out here to-day, when Howard Schneider, took a six-foot drop from the top-floor of the death machine in the south-west corner of the jail yard.

Since the supreme court rendered its final decision Tuesday in Schneider's case in which it refused to interfere with allowing the law to take its course, the condemned man had lost considerable of the bravado and indifference displayed by him since his trial and conviction nearly a year ago, and Tuesday night began to prepare for the trying ordeal through which he had just been made to realize he would have to pass as his last hope of a stay of execution had vanished with the court's decision in his case.

Schneider sent for a spiritual adviser and the two knelt in prayer beside the iron bed in the dingy little cell, which he was to occupy but three days more.

The minister prayed fervently for the repose of the condemned man's soul, which he should have ushered into eternity in payment of the penalty for his outrageous, and to say the least, cowardly crime. Schneider seemed thoroughly penitent and many times during the past three days and nights had been seen on his knees by his bedside praying that his sins be forgiven, and that he might be strengthened to meet the fate prepared for him bravely and without a murmur.

Schneider arose this morning at an early hour in a very nervous frame of mind and paced up and down his cell with a most dejected look upon his countenance and fear was betrayed by his every expression. His breakfast of eggs and toast was brought to him about 7 o'clock, but he ate very little, saying to the guard that he had no appetite and cared for nothing but to have the execution over as quickly as possible.

Just before the time set for the execution to take place, a new suit of black clothes was taken to the condemned man's cell which he put on and soon after took up the march to the gallows accompanied by two guards and his spiritual adviser.

Schneider was deathly pale as he stepped upon the death trap and when the black cap was placed over his face and the rope adjusted about his neck he trembled with fright and was obliged to be supported until the drop fell and cut off for ever his earthly career.

The crime for which Schneider paid the death penalty was the murder of his wife in February 1892, when he walked up to her while she was returning from church on Sunday evening in company with her mother, brother and sister, and without a word of warning fired three bullets into her body, from the effects of which she died in a few moments.

Schneider also fired two shots at his brother-in-law and then tried to escape, but was captured in a few hours and placed in jail, where he has since remained. Several attempts were made to save him from the gallows, but without success.

Mrs. Schneider's refusal to live with her husband was the cause of the murder. The murder caused a great sensation here, as both Schneider and his wife were well connected.

HARRIS FELLS DOWNHEARTED.
He Condemns Recorder Smyth's Action in Refusing Him a New Trial.

New York, March 17.—Carlyle W. Harris, whose last hope of life was destroyed by Recorder Smyth yesterday, when his application for a new trial was denied, was seen by a reporter late last night in the Tombs prison. Harris feels very downhearted over the fact that the carrying out of his sentence to death by electricity is now the next thing to an absolute certainty and that only the interference of Governor Flower can save him.

He said to the reporter that he thought the recorder's decision was unjust and not in accordance with the new testimony he had presented. Harris looks pale and haggard, and at times during his conversation he speaks with a slight tremor, which betrays his saddened feelings to a marked degree.

The condemned man says he is going to make one more effort for his life, but declines to tell what that effort is; but it is reasonable to suppose that he intends to make application to Governor Flower for a commutation of sentence to imprisonment for life.

Doubling Suffering Women!

Alive to the interests of our lady readers, we publish Mrs. Simpson's letter to Dr. Kennedy.

Dear Sir—I was an invalid for years, suffering from kidney trouble and female weakness. Physicians prescribed for me and I took various remedies, but no benefit resulted. Our daily paper noticed the success of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Boston, N. Y., in cases similar to my own. I purchased a bottle and took it in small doses, but very regular, improved me wonderfully. My complexion cleared, appetite improved, sleep was sound and refreshing, and a little further use entirely cured me. There never was a medicine for woman-kind, like Favorite Remedy. With all my heart, let me urge them to use it. It will be the result.

Mrs. S. P. SIMPSON, Turner, Ill.
Such a frank, candid statement leaves the impression of truth upon its face. The best proof of the value of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, is the good it has done. What reason then for our suffering, or half sick, to remain so.
