GRAND SILVER WEDDING MISS STEIN ADVANCES. REV. H. G. JAMES' SERMON

THE SUBJECT.

The Moon-The Pastor Thinks if venge. They took 30,000 maidens and sold it Were Inhabited "Yankees" Would be There Carrying on a "Skin" Basiness.

ASONRY was the subject selected by Rev. H. G. James for his sermon in the English Baptist church Inst evening. The sermon, as announced by the Saturday issue of the HERALD, was to be based on "Masonry; that God originated it and defended it; and punished its coemies by his ordinary and special providence through the ages; that assonry and christianity are not enemies out christianity is an improvement upor Masonry, as Christ was better, higher and diviner than Solomon," etc.

The attendance drawn by the announce sent, contrary to the expectations of those who are not regular attendants of the English Baptist church, was light. The subect was such as to attract general notice and therefore reporters of the HERALD were or and to note the result. They found the ermon an interesting one, although it was rather statistical and did not quite clearly bring out the points specified by the an-

In justice to Rev. James it should be tated that the subject is too extensive for the egulation period of a sermon; that the facts he has gleaned are interesting, but are such a would serve better as a Tecture, when a ongregation would not count upon the usual usion of a discour

One thing is certain, Rev. James tried to mpress upon the congregation that the associal traternity had a divine origin and ts principles are fed from a divine source.

Before proceeding with his sermon Rev. ames announced that on April 2d, he will breach his farewell sermon to the English Baptist congregation of this town. If any ne intends to have a seat in the church on that evening, Rev. James said, for the pur pose of hearing him use the whip and hearing or seeing the whip used against him there will be a disappointment, for the most armonious relations exist between pastos and congregation and when the active rela onship ceases there will be prayers for mutual prosperity.

Roy. James took his text from Ezekiel xxvi Mrs. J. H. Shane is visiting friends in 7 14: wherein Tyrus is threatened for insultng Jerusalem. Rev. James also announce that to ald an intelligent understanding of he subject there should be taken in connection with the subject Amos 1; Isniah xxiii; Jere inh xxv; and a number of biblical histories It may have been a lack of time or a lack of understanding on the part of the reporter Henry T. Jevons, of East Coal street, is that failed in an ultimate connection of the text and announcement with the extract of Misses Corrine and Lizzie Tempest were at the discourse. It was probably the want of time for delivery. The discourse was a mos deresting one and it is hoped Re will select some evening before his departur for special reference to the subject.

The sermon was really a recital, and as xcellent one, too, of the history of Tyrn and a demonstration of the ultimate falfill

Rev. James' remarks were extensively ome yesterday after spending the past lew statistical and frequent references were made to histories of biblical character. Tyrus wa The many friends of Thomas Jordan, of described, as the leading city of the world est Creek, will be pained to learn of his greater than Liverpool and Loudon combined would be considered in Great British, and Rev. Phillips, of Hyde Park, was the greater than Boston, New York and Phila-America. It was the trading port of the world. People of all nationalities and tongue rom a severe attack of quinzy the past few traded there, but the Lord prophesied "thou shalt be a place to spread nets upon; thou shalt be built no more," and notwithstand-M. Burke, Esqs., attended to cases at the ing the beliefs of the beings for centuries thereafter the prophecy was eventually

Bev. James referred incidentally to th scientific problem of the day hinging upon "Joe" C. Powell, our former townsman and the moon-whether or not it is inhabited he brilliant editor of the Wilkes-Barre He said England is the queen of commerce the world and will continue so. Whereve an Englishman places his foot he makes hi mark and influees others to do likewise; and if the moon were inhabited an Englishman would be there, a German would have : saloon there, or a Yankee would be there arents at Centralia and passed through town trying to make a living by his influstry, and trying to "skin" the people.

The latter reference may be taken and vintering in Frederick City, Maryland, is swallowed with good relish when it is can sidered that after Rev. James resigns th brough the northern part of Pennsylvania, pastorate of the church in which he preuches last night he seeks one on the "other side".

Rev. James expects to fill a pulpit in Wales after he leaves here and, therefore, expects to skin." It is hoped the "Yankees" will not lose their heads by the threatened eventual universal ruling of England and fail to insert a good word for Rev. James in their prayers, a duty he pledged himself to when annouing that there would be no ill feeling when he would leave the congregation.

But for the Masonic part of the sermor The temple of God was wanted in the Holy Land and as Jews never lend a hand to th labor attending the construction of building particulars call on B. Labows & Co., Maha- If became necessary to look to Tyrus. The consin of the King was the leading mason of the world and he was selected as the architect After year upon years of labor, and not gaged in constructing the building, the temgreement. And when the architect was about leaving the temple he was accested by TYRUS AND FREE MASONRY three men who demanded that the secret by which the remarkably successful constrution was accomplished. The architect refused to divulge it and was thereupon slain. SOMEWHAT A DISAPPOINTMENT King Solomon refused to bring the murderers to justice. The people of Tyrus sought re-them to captivity-unde them innutes of assignation houses and originated the law of circumcision against the males. Certain men arose and declared that venguance sufficient for justice had already been attained, but others persisted, and continued to defy God's prophecy, and finally Tyrus became 'a place to spread nots upon.

Rev. James argued that the men who pro-Isimed that sufficient had been attained to neet the ends of justice were Freemasons.descendants of the architect of the temple of God, and that the Freemasons of to-day were originated by God to punish men who would transole the virtue of women under their feet, although he would admit that all Masons are not as should be. Nevertheless the Masonic fraternity had a divine origin.
