THREATENING LETTERS!

A YOUNG LITHUANIAN FEARS FOR HIS LIFE.

BLOODTHIRSTY MISSIVES SENT.

An Anonymous Writer Says Victor Gryggins is to be Killed and Makes Drawings of the Weapons to be Used.

SOME months ago the HERALD set forth at some length the existence of a Hungarian organization in town that had for its object the punishment of people who were obnoxious to its members. Evidence adduced inassault and battery cases before Justice Monaghan brought the details and the names of several members were given at the time. The prosecutions then made caused several of the parties named to disappear, and since that time nothing has been said of the organization and no charges have been made against people supposed to have been members of it.

But now another scare of the same kind is brought up. The particulars are brought to light by a complaint to Squire Shoemaker on the part of a young Lithuanian named Victor Gryggins, a resident of West Cherry street. Gryggins swears that he has fears for the safety of his life, and to substantiate his statement has left with the Justice two letters written in the Lithuanian language.

Squire Shoemaker has had the two letters translated and finds they are of similar import. They are addressed to Gryggins and charge him to be on his guard; that the writer is a member of a band which has decided to unexpectedly kill him, Gryggins. "Your death is a certainty," the translation says, "and if you wish to know how you are to be killed look on the other side." On the opposite side of the sheet of paper are crude drawings of a revolver, a billie and an open pocket knife. Under the drawings is the notice, "These are what you are to be killed with."

Gryggins is a badly frightened man, but he says he cannot think of anything he has done to cause such enmity. The letters are still in the possession of Squire Shoemaker. Each bears a signature which is translated as "Our Band." The Justice says that several clues have been worked up and he feels sure that if there is any seriousness behind the notices the parties who may attempt to put them in force will be promptly arrested.

MARRIAGE BELLS.

A Pleasant Affair at the Fishburn Cherrys Street Residence.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Fishburn, West Cherry street, was the scene of festivities last Saturday evening, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. M. A. Powell to Mr. Francis Lewis. Rev. J. Proude was the officiating clergyman. Numerous friends besides the families interested were present to witness the interesting ceremony, among them being Mr. and Mrs. T. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. John Fishburn, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. J. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Portz and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. B. Blanton, Mr. and Mrs. Shorrock, Mr. and Mrs. George Hares, Mr. and Mrs. W. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Feist, Mr. and Mrs. D. Lauer, Mr. and Mrs. T. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. W. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. D. James, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Dinklocker, Mr. and Mrs. W. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. J. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Reese Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Thom's Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. S. Tregebo, Mr. and Mrs. S. Paisley, of Moravia; Misses Bella and May Fishburn, Ida M. Porta, May Holman, Laura Shab, Kreby, Annie Portz, Emma and Jennie Hares, Lizzie Davis, Maggie Kale and Mary H. Witt, of Shamokin; also Messrs. H. Parker, E. Patterson, G. Shaub, Mr. and Mrs. W. Thomas, Miss May Holman and Mr. John Fishburn were the bridesmaids and groomsmen. The presents were numerous, useful and costly, among them a beautiful hand painted table scarf sent by Mr. E. Morgan, of Scranton. The happy couple have taken up their abode in a costly furnished home on West Cherry street. Mr. Lewis was up to Saturday one of the bachelors of the Columbia Hose Company.

A Valuable Remedy.

Brandreth's Pills purify the blood, stimulate the liver, strengthen the kidneys, regulate the bowels. They were introduced in the United States in 1835. Since that time over sixty millions of boxes of Brandreth's Pills have been used. This, together with thousands of convincing testimonials from all parts of the world, is positive evidence of their value. Brandreth's Pills are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

Business Change.

P. J. Cleary has sold his leather findings business to John Treasie, who is clerk at the Shenandoah City millinery.

Men who for years have been suffering with a distressing affection of the back or kidneys have been immediately relieved and permanently cured by the judicious use of Salivation Oil, the great pain-cure. Apply according to directions.

Fresh Morris River Oyst'ers received daily at Decker's.

RECEPTION TO REV. POWICK

The Congregation of the M. E. Church Appreciates His Return.

Rev. William Powick was tendered a delightful reception in the Methodist Episcopal church last evening by about four hundred members of the congregation and the Sunday school. The reception was tendered to show the appreciation of Rev. Powick's reappointment to the pastorate of the church.

A very interesting programme was prepared for the occasion. In addition to singing by the choir, the Beddall party and Misses Ruby Yost and Sallie Wasley, there was prayer by Charles Hooks and an address of welcome by H. E. Dangler, to which Rev. Powick responded very gracefully. The reception was held in the lecture room of the church. The ladies served refreshments and there was a good time until midnight.

Enobled Gobbers.

And now the dear girls have a new fad and a really sensible one. The "correct kaper" at all dinner parties and luncheons among the "societarians" if we may be excused for coining a word, is salted shelled roasted peanuts. Heretofore peanuts have been classed as pebbles, but they have been enobled and now the peanut, or "gobber," as he is often called, is endorsed by the most exclusive circles. You are not in it if you don't use salted roasted peanut meats.

The Water Case.

Judge Bocklet yesterday announced that unless he is engaged in the trial of some other case next Saturday he will hear argument in the injunction case of the Shenandoah Water and Gas Company against the Borough of Shenandoah.

LOST THE POT AND PURSE

MIKE GREZULA'S EXPERIENCE IN GAMBLING.

HE WOULD NOT SPEND ENOUGH.

The Men Playing Started a Row During Which Grezula Received the Worst Treatment and Lost Money.

DARING and outrageous attack was made at a South Main street place last night upon a Hungarian named Mike Grezula. The victim told his story before the Polish Justice of the Peace in the Fourth ward last night, and Constable Dando succeeded in arresting two of the guilty parties.

Grezula stated that while walking down Main street he was accosted and induced to enter a place and play cards for money. He played for some time, but although he had considerable money in his pocket-book he was sparing in putting up stakes. The men he was playing with tried to induce him to risk more, but he refused to do so. Finally the crowd created a disturbance.

The fight was a hot one. The lights in the room were extinguished and the men scrambled over each other and the furniture. Finally Grezula found himself pinned down to the floor and felt hands taking his pocket-book from his pocket. Grezula cried "Murder!" but a hand was placed over his mouth and the next moment he was carried out of the house and thrown into the yard.

When Grezula appealed before the Justice his two eyes were badly damaged and blood flowed freely from his nose and mouth. One of the men arrested was released on bail, but the other was discharged on paying costs. Grezula says about eight men were engaged in the outrage and he has sworn out warrants for all of them.

Stauffenberger, William Lehmler, Frank Colbrington, Francis Stetler, Edward Lehmler, Joseph J. Ploppert, Frank Walters, William Kaufman, William Bright, Wesley Beisel and Joseph Tempert.

William Beddall, of West Oak street, was tendered a farewell party by a number of his friends last evening, among them Misses Nellie Brown, Florence Smith, Annie Lawson, Ruth Griffiths, Martha Anspach, Emma Hoffman, Laura Powell, Emma and Annie Smith, and Messrs. John Kerlake, William Morrison, DeWitt Steedle, Daniel Houser, William James, Thomas Baird, Robert Smith, Benjamin Mansell, James and Robert Morrison. Mr. Beddall left this morning for Ashland, where he has accepted a position.

Gathering in Vagrants.

Vagrants are becoming so numerous in town the authorities have found it necessary to begin gathering them in to avoid danger of depredations. Charles Wills, who was connected with a stabbing affray in town some years ago, and William Johnson, alias "Big Dutch," known to the police throughout the state, it is said, were gobbled up by C. & I. Policeman Daniel and Chief of Police O'Hara yesterday and taken to the Pottsville jail to answer charges of vagrancy and carrying concealed deadly weapons.

We have many friends who have lived to the ripe old age of eighty; they always used Dr. Cox's wonderful Cough Syrup which sufficed with acids.

OBES' OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

A new fifth party was organized in Pittsburgh on Thursday last, which, it is alleged, will in time sweep the country. As the majority of those present were Prohibitionists, and the main vent of the party seems to be in that direction, it will not do to calculate too enthusiastically in this new party's carrying the country at the next Presidential election. Nevertheless, tall oaks from little acorns grow, and perhaps millions of voters may yet be connected with the party which organized at the start with twenty-three men and two women.

The California legislature has passed a law making it a misdemeanor, punishable by a heavy fine, for newspaper publishers to falsify state the circulation of their papers. Such a law is badly needed in this state, especially in Schuylkill county, and more particularly at the county seat, where the "shillavil liar" seems to have full sway. Of course, such a law would meet with the opposition of the latter, although its enactment would be a public benefaction.

I was chatting with a friend at the Ferguson House the other day, and viewing a pumping funeral, when we naturally fell into a discussion of the custom prevailing in this neighborhood in regard to funerals. The burial of the dead is essentially a family affair, and in no sense to be considered a public ceremony, except when special circumstances make it appropriate that the deceased should have fitting public recognition. Said my friend: "Hundreds come to the funeral who have never before been under the roof of the decedent's; many, of course, moved by kindly impulses, but many others from mere curiosity. And after the body is buried, the attendants at the grave return to the house, where all join in a general feast; politics and the corpse and business affairs generally are discussed; the laugh goes around and, to all appearances, there is a social celebration of the laying away of the father of the family or a member thereof. This is wrong from several views, and a reform is badly needed. It entails great expense on many families which cannot bear it, and besides is an intrusion on the grief of those who had lost their dearest kindred; and, not infrequently, to the grief of the mourners is added heavy bills, contracted to feed the hungry funeral guests. Funerals should be private, and the sooner this needed reform comes the better it will be for society."

A bill has been introduced into the legislature of this state providing that persons addicted to intoxicating drink shall not be eligible to any office created by statutory law. The proposed law is applicable to the commissioned officers of the state, firemen, policemen, militia, administrators, guardians and all officers created by special legislation. A person who has been seen drunk in public within a year prior to his appointment or election comes under the prescription of the bill.

Marbles Temp a Fight.

The marble temp has opened and is attended with the usual amount of fights between the boys. Last evening a large and small boy had a dispute over a game. The larger of the two abused the other for several minutes with his tongue, but the smaller one succeeded in getting up his "band" and struck the larger across the back several times with a bananum stalk, exclaiming, "Now, you ———, go and tackle some one your size." The big fellow hurried off. Two boys also fought on South Market street. After exchanging several blows they adjourned to a stable and fought until some men found it necessary to interfere.
