WATER WORKS INJUNCTION CASE BEFORE THE COURT.

SIX LAWYERS MAKE ARGUMENTS

Judges Bechtel and Wiedman Listen to Them and Reserve Their Decisions—Some Points Made.

HE much talked of case of the Shenandoah Water & Gas Company against the borough of Shenandoah has at last advanced one step farther. The case has been hanging fire since last July owing to a failure to bring on the arguments of the lawyers for the respective sides, but on Saturday it was up before Judges Bechtel and Wiedman at Pottsville and all the arguments for and against the injunction asked for were made. The Judges took the papers and the next step will be their decision.

The case is based upon an application by the water company for an injunction against the borough and the contractors, prohibiting the construction of the proposed water works; that the court declare that the certificates issued under the special election of last June for the increase of indebtedness of the borough are null and void; that it be decreed that the action of the Town Council and others associated with it was wholly illegal, and that the petitioners be not required to pay the tax proposed to be levied, and that the Council of Shenandoah, its tax collectors, assessors, and other officers be restrained from levying a tax upon the petitioners and upon people by virtue of the special election; and also that it be decreed that the election was unauthorized, illegal and void and of no effect concerning any of the citizens of the borough.

When the case was up for argument Saturday six lawyers appeared, A. W. Schalck, George J. Wadlinger and J. H. Pomeroy, Esqs., for the borough; and D. C. Henning, John W. Ryon and S. G. M. Hollopeter, Esqs., for the water company. The arguments lasted about two hours and all the lawyers had something to say on points in the case.

In behalf of the borough it was contended, mainly, that there is no Act of Assembly authorizing the Court of Quarter Sessions or the Court of Common Pleas to take cognizance of a contest on an election held to increase the borough's indebtedness.

The main points raised by the water company were that if its proceedings to declare the special election null and void could not be recognized by the courts, then the company had also filed a bill in equity and that will should be sufficient, for the reason that if there is no law governing such contests as the one in question, then the court of equity should afford relief. Equity, it was maintained, owing to its universality, is deficient; and therefore the company has appealed to the equity of the court.

It was also maintained in behalf of the company that the water works could not be established for $100,000, or for any amount near that figure and that the specifications for the erection of the water works were so loosely drawn up a five-horse team could be driven through them. It was further contended that the proclamation passed to bring on the special election did not set forth a true state of facts and was misleading; that instead of the last assessed valuation of the town being correctly stated it exaggerated them; the proclamation set forth that the last assessed valuation was $2,100,000, while it was really only $1,800,000.

In closing the lawyers of the company maintained that the election should have been held under the old law, while in this instance it was held under the Baker ballot law, and that law did not repeal the former laws relating to the increase of indebtedness by boroughs, and therefore the special election should have been held under the old law.

Electric Flashes.

It now appears as if the electric road which was to connect Ashland with Locust Gap will not be built. Captain Bailey went over the proposed route last week and was not at all favorably impressed with the idea because of the very small passenger traffic that they will have to draw from. Neither does he look very favorably upon the idea of building a road from Centralia to Mt. Carmel.

A meeting of the Lansford-Tamaqua Company has been called when propositions to built that road will probably be acted on.

There appears to be much activity in electric railway circles in this region.

It is expected Captain Bailey and other officials of the Schuylkill Traction Company will be here this or next week and locate the Shenandoah-St. Nicholas route.

Work on the Locust Dale extension was commenced to day.

Before the count is made next Saturday evening there is little doubt but the grand total figures will have gone over the 150,000 mark.

OBEY OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

William Anstock, who was employed in the barber shop of his uncle, E. Anstock, on East Centre street for several years, terminated his employment there Saturday night and has opened a barber shop at Mahanoy City in partnership with his brother.

I secured an insight to commercial tactics the other day that seemed to me quite amusing. I dropped into a barber shop just as a customer left a chair and asked for a cigar. The clerk took one from the case and held it out, but the customer refused to take it. "Give me a good cigar," said he, "and take one yourself. I find I always get a good cigar when I set them up for the man behind the counter, because he knows which is the best and I get mine from the same box." The clerk put back the cigar he had offered and took two from another box. One he handed to the customer and the other he put into his own vest pocket. The customer lit his "weed" and exclaimed between the preliminary puffs, "Ah, I like a good smoke, and I know how to get it, too, don't I?" The clerk said he thought so and the customer left. As soon as the door closed the clerk took the cigar from his vest pocket and restored it to its box, at the same time taking one of the cigars he had first offered the customer. "That fellow," said he, as he put the cigar in his pocket, "doesn't know half as much as he thinks he does. That cigar I offered him was one of the best we have in the place and much better than the one he took. But, as Barnum the circus man, once said, some people won't appreciate you unless you humbug them."

ONE.

Should Receive Attention.

The attention of the HERALD has been called to a disgraceful condition of the south end of Plum alley, which is the street that runs along the west bank bordering the Lehigh Valley railroad. The complaint is that the owners of the properties at and near the corner of the alley and Oak street have neglected to furnish places for the storage or disposal of ashes and the consequence is the tenants have piled the refuse in great heaps upon the public highway. The place is certainly in a disgraceful condition and the borough authorities should give it immediate investigation.

Stole Powder Kegs.

Isaac Green, who deals in old powder kegs, caused the arrest of Joseph Bunn, Daniel Welsh, John Welsh and Benjamin Morgan, four boys, on Saturday night, charging them with breaking into his place of storage and carrying away fifty-two powder kegs, valued at $6.50. All the boys were put under bail for trial.

ANTHONY GUY KILLED.

POPULAR TOWNSMAN MEETS DEATH AT GORDON.

KILLED ON THE RAILROAD TO-DAY

A Fatal Accident at Packer No. 2 Colliery—James Joyce Horribly Mangled by a Premature Blast.

EATH has again removed one of the most popular and best known former residents of Shenandoah in the killing of Anthony Guy, who about three years ago left this town to become a brakeman on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad trains plying between Gordon and Locust Summit.

Mr. Guy was popularly known throughout this section as "Andy." He was one of the founders and one of the most active and popular members of the Columbia Hose Company of town and the announcement of his death will be a source of regret to many in town beside his immediate relatives and the members of the company mentioned, of which he was at one time foreman.

The full particulars of the accident by which Mr. Guy met his death have not been received, but according to the telegraphic announcement received by the HERALD he was sitting on the edge of the top of a freight car and the jar caused by the bumping of the "shifter" caused him to fall to the ground and the car in passing over the body cut it in half.

The deceased left a wife and three children. Several friends of the deceased left for Gordon to-day to offer assistance to the afflicted family.

Mr. Guy was at one time inside foreman at the Kehley Run colliery.

DREADFULLY MANGLED.

A Miner's Arm Shattered and His Sight Destroyed.

James Joyce, a miner at Packer No. 2 colliery, met with a dreadful accident while at work in a breast of the mine Saturday evening. The accident was due to the explosion of a charge which was supposed to have missed fire. When Joyce returned to retouch the squib he received the full force of the blast.

The injuries Joyce received were of a distressing character. His right arm was blown off just above the wrist, the left hand was badly shattered, his chest and back were badly bruised and burned, and his eyes were so badly injured that had the victim recovered he would probably have been left blind.

Drs. Brady, of Lost Creek, and Hamilton, of town, were summoned to attend the injured man at his home in Lost Creek No. 2, but the shock was so great that medical assistance could not overcome it and the unfortunate man died within a few hours after the accident happened.

Joyce was about 35 years of age and left a wife and two children.

HELLO! HELLO!!

The Long Distance Telephone Company Moving at Last.

General Manager Bamfield, T. J. Lerch and John B. Norris have been engaged the past week in arranging for the construction of a long distance telephone line through this and the Shamokin region. The gentlemen represent the Pennsylvania Telephone Company. As soon as all the preliminaries are arranged, and it is said that will be within a very short time, a number of linemen will begin work on a long distance copper wire circuit. It is said the work will be completed by July and soon after that time the people of this region will be able to talk to Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and other large cities direct. Like Monte Cristo the world will be ours telephonically speaking. The Pennsylvania company is all right, but their rates are too high. Business men who use the 'phone often have spent small fortunes for the privilege of blowing their breath through the transmitter. Prominent telephone men say the rates will be lowered. If this is done the long distance will be welcomed gladly.

The extension of the line to this town will be made from Pottsville by way of Mahanoy City and run from here to Ashland and then on to the Shamokin region. In addition to this the local lines through the county will be rebuilt, and the service generally improved.

He Met a Tartar.

John Chupock, a Hungarian, got fighting drunk Saturday night and forced an entrance to a Hungarian boarding house in the First ward. He first attacked and routed one of the boarders and then attacked the boarding mistress. In doing that he, like John L. Sullivan, fought once too often. The mistress seized a poker and used it so effectively that Chupock cried for mercy and was allowed to leave the house. He appealed to Justice Monaghan and had the mistress and her boarder arrested for assault and battery. This case the Justice dismissed and Chupock was held in $600 bail for trial on two charges of assault and battery. Being unable to furnish the security Chupock was taken to jail this morning by Constable Toomey.

A GOOD SCHEME.

We May Yet Have What the Town Needs Very Much.

Several prominent citizens of the town are about to form a company with a capital of about $3,000, to be divided into a limited number of shares. It is proposed to purchase a site now in view and for which some of the promoters already have the refusal and erect upon it a two-story building about 30x80 feet. The first floor will be used for balls, receptions, fairs and meetings and the second will be designed and fitted up as a banquet hall. The building will have every convenience and all modern improvements for the purposes contemplated and will be original and especially desirable in many respects.

At the rear of the hall on the first floor there will be erected a section to be used exclusively for culinary purposes which will be furnished with ranges and cooking utensils of all kinds so that hot or cold meals may be furnished whenever occasion demands and the old fashioned cold ham and pigs' feet spreads will have to give way to a more elaborate and modern dining custom.

Special attention will be given to the arrangement of the banquet hall on the second floor. It will be comfortably and handsomely furnished and in order that full comfort and convenience may be afforded the patrons an elevator will be placed at their disposal.

In carrying out its plans the company will expend the capital in making the proposed building especially adapted for gatherings so frequently held in town under the auspices of churches and societies and to that end all the articles necessary for preparing the tables will be at the disposal of those who may rent the halls and the charge for all will be a nominal figure. This in itself will be a great inducement, as the people who usually have a hand in the management of such affairs have long since tired of the embarrassment that attends the borrowing of dishes, &c., and making good the losses that attend breakages, independent of the labor and trouble that attends the dragging of the articles to and from the halls.

The gentlemen who have undertaken this project have figured on all the expenses that will attend it and say they are sure there will be large dividends on the investment. They have taken into consideration the immense profits that are now made annually from the rentals of bare halls which have no conveniences at all and some of which are not even heated and on comparing these conditions with their plans they are confident that the proposed building will monopolize all the receptions, balls and parties, for which one hall alone in town is rented at least two hundred nights in each year.

Political Points.

Representative Coyle, of Schuylkill, is one of the ardent advocates of the laboring classes. He is not afraid of a corporation, nor any thing that looks like one. He is so resolute in the advocacy of this class of his constituents that he is a dangerous antagonist for any corporation tool to tackle.—Lewisburg Saturday News.

Henry Clay declared that it is better to be right than to be President, but I. Posey Gray thinks it better to be left and get $17,500 a year as Minister to Mexico.

That old established cough remedy, Downs Elixir, still more than holds its own in the public estimation, despite sharp and active competition. It is a "home remedy," and in this locality needs no word of praise from us, so well and favorably known is it. It is the standard remedy for coughs, colds and all throat troubles, with great numbers of our people, and their continued use and unsolicited recommendation of it speaks volumes in its favor.—Burlington, Vt., Free Press, January 26, 1892. 1m
