STATE BANKS.

In a former issue we explained why, in the early days of the Civil War, state bank notes were purposely taxed out of existence. We can now inquire why the tax should or should not be repealed, and such notes be permitted again to enter the circulation.

The tax was laid to compel state banks to become national banks by absorbing the profit on circulation; and the object of forcing them into the national bank system was to sell bonds and raise money for war purposes.

By the time the new system was fully established, the people had discovered that the notes were superior, in the most important respect of all, to any bank money the country had ever had.

Every man has had suffered before the war by the holders of notes, through the failure of banks. But as the national bank notes were based upon national bonds which were deposited with the Treasurer of the United States, the government could promise to redeem all notes of failed banks.

The Treasury incurred no risk in making the promise, and could lose nothing by keeping it, because it had in its possession much more than enough of the funds of the bank to meet the obligation.

Thus the credit of the government was substituted for that of the bank; the notes of all banks were perfectly and equally safe, and no matter where issued, accepted in every part of the country, whereas the former state bank circulation had been almost invariably depreciated everywhere except in the immediate vicinity of the bank issuing it.

As a matter of fact no noteholder has lost a cent in thirty years by the failure of national banks. Consequently the tax which prevented state bank circulation was continued after the original object—the sale of government bonds—had been fully accomplished.

But in practice men take money which they distrust, risking the chance of being able to pass it upon some other person. If we were to have weak banks and excessive note issues the last holder of the notes of insolvent banks would lose.

Moreover, it cannot be expected that all banks chartered by forty-four states will be constituted on the safest principles, or will issue notes equally good. Yet the fact that the old state banks and their notes were not so good as the national banks, does not prove it to be impossible to devise a safe state system. Experience has taught many a lesson in banking in the last thirty years.

So the answer to the question, What would be the effect on the currency of a return to the system of state bank issues? is merely this: All depends upon the constitution of the banks—the strictness with which state law requires them to adhere to safe principles—the safeguards it can throw around the note issues, the security it compels them to give for redemption of the promises to pay, and the faithfulness with which all necessary regulations are enforced.

Whether or not it is desirable to re-introduce state bank issues is the real question which is involved in the demand for a repeal of the tax on such notes. That question has become virtually a matter of party controversy.

To Be Taken to an Asylum.

ABLAND, March 27.—A pitiable case is reported from the Italian colony at Big Mine run. A young foreigner by the name of Gregori, working with Keenan & Co.'s force on the railway construction near Greenville, was shoveling loose rock into a dirt dump. While thus engaged a large rock rolled from the top and struck another employe, an American, on the head, flying him to the ground and rendering him unconscious. Gregori saw the man fall and, convinced that he had killed him, fled in the direction of the quarters at Big Mine run. The injured man recovered, but Gregori has become hopelessly insane and will be taken to an asylum.

Will Appeal to the Legislature.

SONNEXON, March 27.—The attorney for Dr. Osell, the optician in the Second legislative district, said during an interview: "We certainly expect to appeal to the legislature as soon as possible after the terms are filed here. Some time after the present session in court was started a very large number of defective affidavits, not included in our original position, were brought to our attention. We presented a list of the same to the court in the form of an additional bill of particulars. For some unaccountable reason we were refused the opportunity of offering those in evidence."

Had Her Eye Put Out with a Knife.

POTTSVILLE, March 27.—Mabel, aged 4 years, daughter of Charles Hopkins, of Jonestown, near Minersville, had the sight of one of her eyes destroyed by a younger sister, aged 2 years. Mr. Hopkins had been using his knife and pliers H by his side when the little 2-year-old picked it up and pointed it at her sister. The sister endeavored to take the knife from her, and in the struggle the blade was thrust into the eye of the elder, and cut a long incision in the ball of the eye.

THEY PLANNED TO ROB A TRAIN.

A Gang of Bad Men Came to Grief in St. Louis. St. Louis, March 27.—A well-arranged plot for robbing one of the many outgoing trains was nipped in the bud here Saturday night and all of the would-be robbers, save one, are now under arrest.

Last Monday one James F. Gesney, alias John Love, alias Huntington, alias Roland H. Catta, his wife, Miss Minnie Myers, alias Minnie Love, Louis Lutz, alias Louis Kunderer, Clark Goodwin, John Reed and Robert Wetherell, met in a South Front street saloon and formulated a plan to rob one of the Saturday night outgoing trains. Gesney, who was captain of the party, was to furnish three sticks of dynamite ready for use and the other members of the party were to procure revolvers and sacks in which to carry away the plunder.

Each did his part and was ready to meet at the saloon at 6 o'clock Saturday night as agreed upon. Wetherell, however, neglected Saturday at the last moment and called upon the police officials and gave away the whole scheme. As the different persons involved approached the saloon they were put under arrest. A search of the house of the Myers woman on Clark avenue, disclosed the guns and dynamite that were to be used.

On being arrested all the parties confessed that they were intending to rob the train. The train was the Michigan express at a point about ten miles from the city. The parties are all under 25 years of age, and Wetherell and Goodwin claim to be from Texas. The others are local toughs. Wetherell cannot be found, but it is believed he was allowed to go after confessing the details of the plot.

NOT ONE OF THEM WOULD SIGN.

The Western Union Wants No Telegraphers' Association Operators. Toledo, O., March 27.—General Superintendent Corbett, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, dropped into the city Saturday afternoon very gaily. He had all the conventional telegraphers in the service called before him and after some questioning, submitted an affidavit to them for their signatures, which required them to say they did not belong to any secret telegraphers' association, never had so belonged, never would while in the company's employ, and in case they did belong to one, would withdraw at once.

He did not say what the penalty would be if they refused. Not one of the men would sign the affidavit. They expect that the company is trying to get those who are dissatisfied to strike and then apply the same legal treatment to the case that had been administered in the Ann Arbor case.

The story of Corbett's visit came out and he at once left on an east-bound Lake Shore train.

Now for a Big Traffic in Chinese.

MONTECAL, March 27.—The Canadian Pacific railway officials here state that a big traffic is about to spring up in the transportation of Chinese from Vancouver to Halifax, en route to the West Indies. The Chinese are allowed to enter the West Indies free, and they are beginning to go forward in large numbers.

TO DISCUSS AN IMPORTANT MATTER.

A Constitutional Question to Come Before the Senate This Week. WASHINGTON, March 27.—The likelihood is that this week the senate will undertake the discussion and perhaps the decision of one of the most important constitutional questions that has arisen in that body in late years. The right of a governor of a state to fill a vacancy in the United States senate which occurred while the legislature was in session.

The report of the two factions of the committee is being presented to-day and the disposition is, when these cases are before the senate, to push them to conclusion as rapidly as is consistent with the proper expression of the views of all senators who have examined the questions involved and desire to make their sentiments known. It is probable that, instead of taking a three days recess the senate will sit almost daily.

The unknown quantity in the calculation of the week's work is the disposition of the leaders on either side touching the matter of reorganization. It is expected that the democrats through Mr. Gorman will present the caucus nominations for senatorial offices early in the week, probably in executive session, and if a serious controversy threatens to follow, the matter may be brought before the public through proceedings in open session.

President Cleveland Will Make Him Consul to Glasgow. WASHINGTON, March 27.—The president has decided to appoint Judge Morse, of Michigan, to the consulship of Glasgow, Julia Morse resigned from the Michigan supreme bench last year to become the domestic substitute for her husband.

He is an intimate friend of Don Dickinson, who is said to have presented his application to Mr. Cleveland. The salary and fees of the consulship amount to about $7,500 a year.
