A SHABBY TRICK

Mr. Cleveland's nomination of Horace E. Burton to be Circuit Judge for the Sixth Judicial Circuit marks the consummation of a disgraceful party-trick.

When President Harrison named the Democratic Federal Judge of the Sixth Circuit, Horace E. Jackson, as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court the Democrats in the Senate promptly voted to confirm the nomination and the Democratic press conspicuously accepted the appointment as an illustration of non-partisanship in the filing of high judicial offices. But when the President, having promoted a Democrat in the most important court in the United States, sent the name of Burton, Hancock to the Senate as the successor of Jackson, the Democratic Senators formed a combination to prevent action on the nomination, and the Democratic press approved their action.

No objection was raised in the Senate against Hancock's ability or character. The Democrats in that body, who had just seen President Harrison absolutely disregard partisan considerations in the nomination of Jackson, and who had taken prompt advantage of the President's magnanimity by confirming their fellow Democrat, huddled together to prevent the confirmation of Hancock, simply because they wanted to seize the judgeship of the Sixth Circuit for their own party. They kept Hancock's nomination from being considered during the lifetime of the fifty-second Congress, and Mr. Cleveland has now performed his part of the trick by nominating the Democrat, Burton.

There is one principle to which the Democracy consistently adheres; the principle of grabbing everything within reach.

A DISPATCH from Odessa announces a violent outbreak of influenza in Southern Russia. Is the remarkable winter to be thanked for that? A sketch of the history of the disease suggests the inquiry. In 1870 the epidemic was preceded by continued moisture of the air. In 1890, too, it was the same. In the descriptions of other epidemics "we find either as precursor or attendant signs, extraordinary vicissitudes of weather." When the epidemic of 1892 came it was said to have ten year periods, this having been stated on the authority of an old investigator. It came then from Russia. What has started it again, if not the vicissitudes of weather? In Austria and Hungary this spring there have been caused floods. There was moisture in the air of the region of Southern Russia, and consequently the fogs so often mentioned in early descriptions of the circumstances of influenza.

Thomas Held for Trial.
HARRISBURG, April 3.—Thomas Thomas, a Philadelphia employe at the Ligonier Springs, was given a hearing before Alderman Kimmel yesterday afternoon on a charge of murder. He is accused of killing Edward James, who declared before he died in Pittsburgh that Thomas struck him at a boarding house on Sixth Street, on the 13th of March, 1904. He is responsible for his death. The alderman remanded Thomas for court.

Fatal Accident on the Pennsylvania.
ALTOONA, April 3.—Three engines and twenty-nine freight cars were wrecked on the Allegheny mountains near Altoona, on the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday. P. H. Hull, brakeman at New Florence, was instantly killed. The wreck was caused by the coupling breaking and before the train could be checked the cars descended the mountain several rods where it crashed into another train.

Badly Stabbed by Germans.
HARRISBURG, April 3.—A serious stabbing affair occurred on Mill street, Bristol, Saturday night. Edward Fallon, a young man, together with a lot of his associates got into an altercation with two Germans, who are supposed to reside in the country. In the struggle Fallon was seriously stabbed in the abdomen one inch below the heart. The Germans made their escape. Fallon's wound is serious.

There is Danger in the Water.
ALTOONA, April 3.—Dr. Lee, secretary of the state board of health, has furnished a report to the local health board on the drinking water of this city. Having made an analysis of samples sent him. Dr. Lee concurs with the report made by Dr. Henry Lawson, that the water is no longer first class for drinking purposes.

Two Young Women Drowned.
BETHLEHEM, April 3.—Miss Blanche Kestler and Miss Maggie Blair were drowned in Rippery Creek near Kester Station, this county. Their boat sprung a leak and in their confusion they overturned it. The body of Miss Blair was found near the scene of the accident, but that of Miss Kestler has not yet been recovered.

Hundreds of Acres Burned Over.
LANCASTER, April 3.—Forest fires are burning on the 10,000-acre mountain and hundreds of acres have been burned over. The fire originated from a spark from a locomotive. Unless a soaking rain comes the loss will be considerable.

Now He is Charged With Murder.
PARRISBURG, Va., April 3.—Haro Muller, the hotel proprietor who was sent to the penitentiary two years ago for hawkinging marauding, was released and when he stepped out of prison was re-arrested by the sheriff of McDowell county for the murder of George Burns, who was shot and killed only a short time before Muller was arrested.

Christen, April 3.—The citizens of the Little river from Lehigh to Marcus Hook Bay, considerably wrought up over the news of the Chestnut Ridge, Laurel Hill, and other mountains, which are reported to be on fire, and in the city, by buying a box of all papers along the river front. The attorney of the borough filed a bill in equity asking for an injunction restraining the citizens from continuing with the work. The appeal set forth that the presence of a fire in the mountains of the Little river will jeopardize the safety of the place in case of fire and will be likely to contaminate the water of the Delaware river.

A Receiver Asked For.
HARRISBURG, April 3.—Judge Endlich, on application of Mr. H. J. Schering, has granted a preliminary injunction against the Lehigh Valley Camp Meeting Association, asking that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the property of the association, and that Alexander N. Turner be restrained from interfering with the possession of the association. The association has a capital stock of $100,000 divided into 10,000 shares of $10 each, of which Mr. Schering is the owner of 300 shares. Fire at Clarksville, Va.

Two colored men were burned to death.

Freight Cars Destroyed by Fire.
QUAKERTOWN, April 3.—An accident to a car of oil in the north yard of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company caused an explosion and widespread fire. Two cars loaded with piles were destroyed in the twinkling of an eye, and these more cars were damaged by a stream of water which fell from the sky. The loss of the cars contained coal and one merchandise, and all were totally destroyed. Cattle in other cars were badly scorched, many of the animals lost their eyes, but were the flames and smoke. All along between the trucks where the oil ran was a great sheet of flame, reaching up ten or twenty feet. The total loss will probably amount to $10,000.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., April 3.—Joseph Jefferson's beautiful villa, Grove Neck, was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. The flames originated from an explosion of gas in the cellar.
