SALOONKEEPERS WARNED.

WAR AGAINST GAMES AND MUSIC IN SALOONS.

LAW AND ORDER SOCIETY!

Says Saloonkeepers Permitting the Pastimes Offer Inducements to Men to Neglect Their Homes.

THE Law and Order Society of town has sent out another batch of warning to saloonkeepers of town and threatens prosecution if they are not complied with at once. The notices are directed against all places where dice, card and pool playing and singing, dancing and instrumental music are allowed.

One of the saloonkeepers to-day showed a HERALD reporter a copy of the notice he had received. It read as follows:

DRAMSH—Information has been furnished the Law and Order Society that you permit gambling for drinks on your licensed premises; also, as a means of attraction, permit music and dancing in your saloon. Gambling for drinks by ether dice, card or pool playing, or by any other means or device is strictly prohibited. Music and dancing is also prohibited. License of liquor license is no excuse for the violation of the same. If you fail to obey this final notice of warning prosecution will immediately follow for the amount of your license. Detectives are now on the alert. Yours truly,
S. G. M. HOLLOPETER,
Attorney & Co.

A HERALD reporter to-day called upon Mr. Holloper at his office and asked him if he had sent out the notice and the answer was in the affirmative.

Mr. Holloper said: "The Law and Order Society has concluded that the license laws are being more flagrantly violated than they have been for several years and I am instructed, as the attorney for the society, to proceed on all evidence furnished me. In pursuance of that I issued the notices you refer to. I sent out twenty-six of them and those to whom they have been sent will receive no further warning. If they do not comply with the notices prosecutions will follow immediately."

"Is it the intention of the society to give all saloonkeepers who may allow games, dancing, or singing in their places notice or are the twenty-six you have selected the worst places and will the action be limited to them?" asked the reporter.

"Not at all. Hereafter we will notify no one, but will prosecute all who may violate the law, whether or not they have received notice."

"Is there any special reason for this last step by the society?"

"Yes, in a manner there is. In addition to the upon recklessness of the saloonkeepers here is the decision of Judge Porter at Pottsville last week, in which he declared that saloonkeepers who set out a free lunch are not entitled to the granting of a license for the reason that such lunches are inducements held out to cause persons to go to their saloons instead of spending their time at home. The Law and Order Society takes the stand that the games and music and dancing in the saloons are greater inducements than the lunches, although the society is considering the advisability of also attacking the free lunch routes."

SEWERAGE.

All Parties Interested to Attend the Meeting To-night.

A Successful Ball.

The ball at Robbins' opera house last night under the auspices of the Columbia Glee Club was a splendid success. The hall was crowded during the whole evening and everybody had a very enjoyable time. More suits probable.
At the last term of criminal court two suits which attracted considerable attention were those in which William Fishburn and his daughter prosecuted Robert Rogers. All the parties reside on West Cherry street in this town as next door neighbors and the troubles arose over the use of an alley. Mr. Fishburn was victorious in the suits and Mr. Rogers was obliged to pay the costs. It was thought this would end the trouble, but according to Mr. Fishburn it has not. It is alleged that on Saturday night Mr. Rogers re-opened the old case by breaking a gate Mr. Fishburn had erected and by shamefully abusing Mrs. Fishburn with his tongue, and now more suits are threatened.

AT THE COUNTY COURT.

THE OBSEQUIES OF THE LATE JOHN W. ROSEBERRY, ESQ.

JUDGE BEGTEL PRESIDES!

Other Proceedings at the Court. A Number of Decisions Handed Down—The Accident at Connor's Crossing.

Special HERALD correspondence.

POTTSVILLE, April 4.
HEN yesterday Judge Walker appeared before Judge Bechtel in court room No. 1 and formally announced the death of John W. Roseberry, Esq., a member of the bar, there was an impressive and all pervading stillness.

He said on behalf of the executive committee of the bar that a meeting was fixed for 11 o'clock and he, therefore, moved an adjournment of court, and the bar went into session with Judge Bechtel presiding. A committee of seven was appointed to draft resolutions of condolence. Pending the report of the committee Lawyer Woodbury, a close friend of the deceased, made an address eulogistic of his dead associate. D. C. Henning, Esq., on behalf of the committee, then submitted the resolutions.

After reading the report Mr. Henning addressed the meeting in one of the most fitting speeches of its kind delivered before the bar. He spoke in terms of highest praise of the dead lawyer's ripe scholarship, his great ability, his sunny disposition, kindness of heart, and his eminent success as a lawyer and a citizen. Mr. Henning was followed by Judge Bechtel, Ex-Judge Walker, Guy Farquhar, Esq., and Louis Walker, Esq., who spoke in the same strain. The bar attended the funeral at 3 p. m. interment in Charles Baber cemetery.

During the year just passed death has visited himself in an especial manner among the lawyers of Schuylkill. Beginning with Major L'Veille, who was laid to rest on April 2, 1892, there followed C. P. Krauser, John A. Nash, J. C. Kline, Judge Green, and that good old friend, Mr. Roseberry. This is a death rate very exceptional, indeed, and brings home to us the realization of the passage so well quoted to-day, "In the midst of life we are in death."

Judge Bechtel and Weidman occupied the bench this morning when the new cric, Mr. Grover, opened court with that solemn and absolute "O, Yes!"

Judge Bechtel must have worked very diligently last week, considering the large number of opinions handed down by him yesterday.

In the case of Kehler vs. Bitts, from Ashland, a rule to show cause why Mrs. Bitts could not find her own hand in interpleader, was discharged.

In the divorce case of Lindenmuth vs. Lindenmuth the court directed $25 counsel fees to be paid by the husband for the wife, who is respondent.

Stively Marcenovic was sentenced to pay costs, a fine of $5 and thirty days imprisonment, on a charge of assault and battery.

A rule for judgment for want of sufficient affidavit of defense was discharged in the case of the Minersville R. & L. Association vs. Robert Rogers.

A new trial was refused in the case of the Hoover Mercantile Co., and W. S. Thirwell vs. Lizzie Brennan. The parties are from Ashland.

The court overruled the exceptions to the report of Attorney Graeff, Auditor of the Miller estate, and ordered the report filed.

On motion of J. B. Kelly and M. M. Burke, Esqs., the court ordered the testimony to be written out in the case of Martin Dixon et al vs. the township of Butler. This case arose out of the heart-rendering accident that occurred at the Connor crossing in 1885. It was tried in 1888 with a verdict of $600 for the plaintiff, and it has been pending since under a rule for a new trial by the defendant.

Like Banquo's ghost, the Summa license case from Shenandoah "won't" down." Attorneys Pomeroy and Beddell have taken the case to the Supreme Court, where it cannot be tried until next February. To-day they took a rule, founded on the affidavit of Louis Klein, to show cause why the transfer of the Summa license to Mrs. Breen should not be revealed. Counsel for the remonstrants claim that the writ taken to the Supreme Court should supersede the transfer and that therefore nothing should be done 'till the Supreme Court passes upon the case. The rule is returnable next Monday, when counsel for both sides will again try to persuade the court that each is right. The case is causing a good deal of comment and is being followed closely by the bar.

The largest and best appointed laboratory in the world is owned by F. Ad. Richter & Co., the sole manufacturers of the renowned imported "Anchor Pain Expeller," the best known remedy for Rheumatism, Gout and kindred complaints. Their own large glass works are often unable to turn out all of the many millions of bottles required annually for their medicinal preparations. The "Anchor Pain Expeller" is sold at 25 and 50 cents a bottle at C. H. Hagenbuch, P. F. D. Kirin, J. M. Hillan, and other druggists.

It has been safely asserted a thousand times that nothing equals Dr. Cox's Wild Cherry and Seneca for coughs and colds.

"THE APOSTOLIC ANSWER."

Rev. Powick's Sermon in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Methodist Episcopal church was tastefully decorated with flowers on Sunday in recognition of Easter, and music especially fine and appropriate was rendered by the choir. The congregation was large. The morning sermon was from Acts 1:3. "He showed himself alive after his passion by many infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days, and speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God." This is the apostolic answer to the foolish account of the resurrection given by the soldiers: "His disciples came by night and stole him away while we slept." As the resurrection of Jesus is the corner stone of our faith it is a matter of importance that it should be well authenticated. We do well upon this auspicious day to review the proofs upon which it rests. Happily we have "proofs infallible."

It is agreed by all that he died. The Jews, who did not scruple to kill the Prince of Life, could not endure the thought of profaning the Sabbath by allowing his body to hang upon the cross on that sacred day; so they besought Pilate that his legs might be broken and his body taken away. But we have the testimony of the soldiers that they found him dead already so "they brake not his legs" but did pierce his side and bring forth proof for all ages that he died. No one doubts his burial. And that his tomb was more alert than his friends is shown by their memory of his proffered resurrection and their request for a guard of soldiers. None have ever denied that on the third day the tomb was found empty. The only question that has arisen is as to how the body disappeared. The angel said "He is risen; the soldiers said "His disciples came by night and stole him away while we slept." How the handful of cowards, who forsake him and fled, suddenly became so courageous does not appear. What use they had for his dead body we are not told. How sleeping witnesses could know what had taken place "while they slept" is as deep a mystery as the resurrection itself. And why the soldiers were not punished for sleeping at their post is not called to refute the declaration of the Apostles can only be explained upon the assumption that nobody believed them.

The infallible proofs are the frequent appearances of Jesus after His death. No man can consistently credit human testimony concerning any fact of history who denies the resurrection of Jesus. Men may quibble about it because it is contrary to the course of nature, but we have neither more nor better testimony to the uniformity of nature than to the resurrection of Jesus. The freezing of water is contrary to nature as men in the tropics know her. What reason have we to suppose that we know the almost unnumbered of the course of nature? Arguments founded upon ignorance are worthless. No murderer was ever convicted who could not have summoned a thousand times more witnesses who did not see the crime than over the prosecution could get who did see it. We rely upon the evidence of men who did not see rather than the doubts of those who did not. One clear and unimpeachable witness is what he sees and knows will upset all the circumstantial evidence and philosophical skepticism you can pile up. When Paul wrote to the Corinthians he could summon five hundred witnesses who had seen Jesus after He rose from the dead. It is too late to refuse evidence that satisfied as many competent witnesses of the first century. No less than ten or twelve distinct appearances to different persons under widely different circumstances are clearly recorded in the New Testament. These appearances were then described in detail. The resurrection of Jesus is the pledge and pattern of ours. We shall be like Him for we shall see Him as He is. But the doctrine of the resurrection is not an unmixt blessing to all, for "some shall awake to everlasting life and some to shame and everlasting contempt." Our conduct here fixes our destiny hereafter.
