MORE PROGRESSIVE STEPS

A SEWERAGE MOVEMENT NOW ON FOOT.

DECIDED UPON LAST EVENING.

Main Street Property Owners Decide to Have Sewerage and Street Paving Shall go Hand in Hand--The Plans.

WHEN the flowers of spring are in full bloom and the summer holiday season opens the people of Shenandoah will in all probability have some substantial evidence of their renewed spirit of enterprise and progress to show the strangers who may visit the borough.

The street paving work has aroused the people, especially the Main street property owners, and they are found suddenly wrapped up in a proposed scheme for underground sewerage.

Yesterday morning while several of these property owners were watching the work done by the men on the street some one suggested that "now while the iron is hot wouldn't it be a good idea to strike for sewerage and have the pipes and paving stones put down at the same time?"

The idea, although by no means a new one, having been precipitated and urged years ago by the HERALD and brought up time and again by the paper until some slow thinkers disposed of the matter with the statement that it was a "chance" spread like wildfire and in the afternoon a meeting was held at the Sebelly House.

This meeting was an informal one, but it resulted in the appointment of Messrs. M. C. Watson and Louis Klein as a committee of two to ascertain immediately the cost of various sizes of pipe. At the same time a notice was placed in the HERALD calling a meeting of the property owners on the east side of Main street on the 4th inst.

Last evening the meeting was held and a permanent organization effected with the following board of officers: President, F. J. Pertz; Secretary, Martin Purcell; Treasurer, Louis Klein. The attendees at the meeting in addition to the officers were Messrs. J. K. P. Schellly, M. C. Watson, J. P. Williams, P. J. Gaughan, Louis Goldin and James Champion, the latter appearing as agent for the Harrington estate.

Messrs. Watson and Klein reported that they had visited Ashland and other places and gave the meeting an idea of what the pipe for sewerage would cost.

All parties present favored the project and the plans are summarized as follows: A sewerage with 30 inch pipe will be put down on the east side of Main street, extending from Lloyd to a point below Cherry street; the work will in all probability be given to the Grant Bros., so that they may do it in connection with the street paving work and that work will not be delayed or hampered by the operations of different forces of workmen; all parties who wish to connect with the pipe may do so within a reasonable time at first cost, but if any hesitate and want to connect after the system is in operation they will be obliged to pay a fee and all costs of making connections; the pipe line will be provided with branches which will permit connections with properties without disturbing the street paving in any way.

One of the gentlemen who has taken an active part in the movement said last night, "Of course all that has been done thus far will be subject to the approval of the Borough Council. We have gone so far because we wanted to seize the opportunity while the people were in humor. We have already consulted members of the Council and received sufficient encouragement to warrant us in the belief that when the body meets on Thursday evening there will be no difficulty in securing an endorsement of what we have already done."

Contractor Thomas Grant was seen to-day and he said that he thought the idea a good one; that if the people want sewerage and intend putting it in the work should be done now, before the paving is done and thus avoid the expense that would attend the work of taking up and relaying the paved street.

County Not Taken. Judge Ardfield, at Shenandoah, yesterday handed down a decision that the county is not liable for any expenses incurred by township and borough auditors for work performed in having printed and distributed election ballots, under the provisions of the Baker ballot law. The act does not provide, the opinion says, that any compensation shall be rendered the auditor for such services, but if compensation shall be paid them, it should be from the township and borough treasurers.

INCREASING HER LEAD.

MISS STEIN IS NOW OVER 4,000 AHEAD.

Misses Bated and Wasley Seem to Have Concluded to Take It Easy for a While--Large Number of Votes Pollled Yesterday.

Table with names and vote counts: Agnes Stein 3029, Nellie Baird 2519, Marie H. Wasley 2504, etc.

Miss Agnes Stein seems determined to secure a big lead on the other competitors in the HERALD's popular school teachers' contest and is now within a few hundred votes of the 4,000 mark with a lead of 4,000 over her nearest competitor, Miss Baird. Over thirty-six hundred votes were polled yesterday and Miss Stein got over 1,800 of them. Miss Wasley secured over 1,100, but as her polling has been very light the past few days the votes received yesterday were not sufficient to make a change in the positions.

For the benefit of those who may be the chief winners of the HERALD's public school teachers' contest, and for the benefit of others who may intend to visit the World's Fair, we propose to publish daily in this column an installment of instructions on "How to see the Fair"--an itinerary of the World's Columbian Exposition, hints for saving time routes which should be suitable for all visitors, and the best suggestions for avoiding confusion in viewing the great city's wonders. These papers have been prepared after much labor and the installments should be preserved, as they will be invaluable to those who may visit the fair. The publication will begin to-morrow.

POT-POURRI OF NEWS.

A MIXTURE OF BRIEF BUT INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS.

CLEANINGS HERE AND ELSEWHERE

The Cream of What the Reporters Here and See in all Sections of the Region Nicely Grouped.

ISHERMEN throughout this part of the region are very much excited over the threatened destruction of one of the best trout streams they have within easy distance--Messer Run. This stream has been the pride of the anglers for years and they have taken steps to ward off the threatened misfortune.

The blow comes from a company which is looking for a site upon which to erect a mill for the manufacture of dynamite. It is said the company first selected a place at Green Mountain, but vigorous opposition caused the company to abandon it.

One of the oldest and best known anglers in these parts spoke indignantly on the subject to a HERALD reporter yesterday. He said that if the proposed mill is erected Messer Run will be turned into a sulphur creek. He also said that the fish and game protective association of Mahanoy City had been notified and some of the members have given assurance that lawyers will be employed to devise some means for putting an injunction on the dynamite company and saving the stream.

"LITHUANIAN" AGAIN.

Another Letter in the Cause of Liberal Education.

EDITOR HERALD:--In the HERALD of March 18th I endeavored to direct the attention of liberty-loving people to the danger which, in my opinion, menaces to overthrow the existence of this Republic. To-day I add a few reflections on matters which interest our immigrant population.

I wish there could be created an American Protective Association even in this anthracite coal region; there would be plenty of work for some! If catholicism strives to get superiority at present in Columbus, Ohio, we can be assured that at the next election we will be obliged--unless we--to fight against the Catholic church in this place either. Preparations are being made, at least among the immigrant population, Poles, Lithuanians, etc. The Lithuanian priests at present are occupied not with the moral correction of wickedness of their "sheep"--you know there are many transgressors among the uneducated people, drinking and fighting and other vices are the rule, not the exception--but they animate their believers against the free institutions of this country. If illiteracy is common among my countrymen, if lack of knowledge is felt everywhere, who should be made responsible for it? Our moral and mental proceptors, who mislead the simple man, who sow into his soul aversion to learning, aversion to freedom, Science, in the opinion of the Lithuanian priests, is only good for the devil. Science opened the ways to knowledge, to invention, to relief and amelioration in the hardships of life, and all progress of mankind is denominated as the broadening of ways leading into the hail!

If there had not been a Guttenberg the world would remain obedient to the Pope! If not the mariners' compass, the earth would retain its quadrangular shape (as taught by St. Augustine, etc.) and remain without the damned antipodes in the new world! If Franklin had not brought down the lightning from the clouds the Pope and his clergy would govern the heavens, the rain and the snow! Electricity, the mighty implement of God, to punish the misdeed, became an instrument of the human bee. Physics and astronomy, geology and biology, evolution and progress, are the most abominable things in the world because they do not afford any rest to our pain-stricken priests.

Our clergy curses science and damns its bearers and propagators. You cannot pronounce the name of Darwin, Spencer, Tyndall, Huxley, Helmholtz, even Galilei and Copernicus, without provoking a reverent shudder on the part of our priests. Every Sunday you will hear them preach against scientific truth; against schools freed from the influence of the Catholic church; against freedom! Servitude and subservience is the ideal proclaimed and exalted by our moral proceptors. Our priests desire and admonish that all Lithuanians should join the Catholic Alliance, whose aim is to secure the superiority of the Catholic church over other forms of religious confession.

I think that a helping hand of Americans is needed for the success of the Lithuanian Educational Society in the fight against the vile aims of our priesthood. The Lithuanian priests care for nothing but money. Few of them become citizens of the United States, although they receive all the benefits which this country can afford them. The parishioners are obliged to pay their parish every month 50 cents as a remuneration fee for the services of the priest; and the same faithful parishioners must pay for confession from 55 to $15; for christening, from $3 to $5; for the mass, from $1 to $5; for funerals, from $10 to $25; for the marriage ceremony, from $15 to $25, and so on.

Imagine if it is possible for a laboring man to save anything to pay the priestly taxes? Our priests collect in a year thousands of dollars besides their agreed fees. For instance, the priest in this town has a monthly income of between $1,500 and $2,000!

And yet nothing is being done for the education of the Lithuanian people! If children are sometimes instructed in a basement by devout sisters to pray the usual prayers, nobody will find this an education leading to independent thinking.

Lectures and addresses, organized by the Lithuanian Society, are denounced shamefully. Therefore you ought not wonder if our fellow brothers find relief in liquor--besides our priests themselves, (Rev. Paul Janski) encouraged drinking by keeping saloons in the same building where their chapel has been established--and to speculate, if the courts have always superfluous work with our unfortunate know-nothings.

If the English-speaking public would give more interest to the matters of educating the foreign population, to check the influence of depraved Catholic priests, to raise the capacity of our spiritual pastors, a great change for the better can be expected in a short time. If instead of sustaining mistakes to the Dark Continent the English race would be willing to support the educational work among our own oppressed and exploited fellow-citizens, a great and solemn step would be made for the cause of justice, of morals, of knowledge. But is this not a vain hope, is this not a too bold intimation on my part?
