SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

EX-SECRETARY GABLE WILL BE PAID HIS CLAIM

F. J. BRENNAN TAKES HIS SEAT

The Board Discusses the Dressing of Graduates—An Understanding That it Will be Inexpensive This Year

SCCHOOL board met last night in the High school building and about three hours were spent in a discussion of various subjects and transaction of business attending the administration of the schools, the most important, at the least the matter that excited the most warmth in discussion, being the bill of Philip H. Gable for services rendered the board as secretary.

One night last week the finance committee of the board met to consider this bill and had the benefit of Solicitor Doyle's advice in the matter. After much discussion and figuring four of the five members of that committee decided to recommend payment. The fifth, Director O'Hearn, would not agree with them and when the bill was brought up before the board last night his views had not changed, but the directors decided to pay the claim. Messrs. O'Hearn and Lynch alone dissenting. Mr. Geddis, representing the School & Mills heating and ventilating apparatus, addressed the board and asked to have a committee appointed to examine the system now in operation in the school buildings of other towns. A committee was appointed and will make examinations at the expense of the company. The system is intended to also employ the sanitary arrangements of buildings. The committee will report at the next meeting of the board.

Superintendent Freeman announced that the school month closed yesterday and his report of attendance will be ready for publication next Friday.

The High school committee reported having held a meeting and made preparations for the graduating exercises to be held on the 25th and 26th of June, next. The subject of restricting the graduates in the matter of graduating dresses was discussed. The board took no action on the subject, it being understood that the graduates will of their own accord adopt an inexpensive dress.

The Building and Repair Committee reported that at a meeting of the committee it was voted to recommend the erection of a two-story building of two rooms on the Main street lot, one room to be used as a grammar school room and the other for a library and directors room. The committee also recommended an addition of four rooms to the Centre street building. The board voted to employ Mr. Bell, of Pottsville, to draw up plans and specifications for the proposed buildings.

The Finance Committee reported that the insurance companies have paid the amount due on account of the fire in the High school building and the Insurance Committee reported having placed $1,700 additional insurance on the building.

An application from C. A. Ritter, of Weatherly, for the principalship of the High school, was read. Mr. Ritter's application was based on the presumption that Mr. Ehrhart, the present principal, will fill the vacancy to be created by Superintendent Freeman's resignation.

The meeting was attended by all the members of the board except Mr. Davenport.

Frank J. Brennan presented his credentials and took his seat as a member of the board from the Second ward until next June.

Pursuant to the announcement made in yesterday's issue of the HERALD publication is given in this column to the first installment of the blurb to people who intend visiting the Columbian Exposition.

Many persons who visit the World's Fair will be at a loss to learn how to see it in the least possible time, and to avoid going about their sightseeing in random, haphazard fashion. Let us say that you have but a few days in which to view the fair. The question arises, "How am I best to do it?" Let us plan our first day's journey.

We find ourselves on a bright May morning on the great dock at the foot of Van Buren street. There is a great crowd already there, but we needn't mind that; there'll be plenty of room for all of us. The World's Fair Steamship Company, which owns the dock, has four big boats running between Van Buren street and the World's Fair grounds—vessels amply able to carry 15,000 passengers every hour; and if a crash comes the company operates enough smaller craft to double this capacity, not to mention the number of people the independent lines will carry.

We are taking the best possible method of seeing the buildings of the white city. Not only can the very best view of the fair in its entirety be had from the water—that is, from out here on the lake—but every one of the most important buildings is to be seen, to best advantage either from the lake or from the canals and ponds inside the grounds. From the water, too every one of the larger and more important buildings is immediately accessible. The whole fair was built with these ends in view, and the plans have been magnificently carried out. That's why we are going by water to get our first view of the fair. Isn't that view magnificent from this point? I suppose you wonder how you are going to see that great city of architectural glory all in one day. Well, you can't; but we'll try and get around so as to let you see all that is most important from an exterior point of view.

No, let's not get off here. This is the first landing, the North Pier. A good many will land here; but I want to take you down to the other pier this time, to begin at Alpha, as it were; that great peristyle representing Alpha I notice they've cut out a piece in the dock here so pleasure boats and yachts can land as well as steamers. That's the government's model battleship there on the south side of the pier.

Forewell Party. Miss Laura Beddall, of 106 West Cherry street, was tendered a farewell and surprise party last evening and a very enjoyable time was spent until midnight, when refreshments were served. Miss Beddall will leave with her parents for Tamqueu shortly, where they will reside. Those present were: Misses M. Pomeroy, A. Stein, M. Glover, A. Behrens, A. Berisch, M. Klusid, J. Beddall, A. Roberts, A. Brille, H. Hoover, P. Phillips, L. Birch, S. Davis, A. Lingham, J. Llewellyn, D. Daddow, A. Shank, and Messrs. T. Baird, D. Scoble, W. Glover, S. Small, J. Williams, J. Kincaid, R. ## BOROUGH FATHERS FEAST

THEY HAD A JOLLY TIME LAST NIGHT.

THE DOVE OF PEACE HOVERED

Over the Gathering and all Factional Issues Were Laid Aside for Several Hours—List of the Merry Makers.

COUNCILMEN, the Chief Burgess, police and other borough officials held their annual banquet at the Scheffly House last night and for the first time in twelve months the dove of peace succeeded in bringing all factions together and induced them to cast aside the blood-on-the-moon spirit that has characterized the meetings of the Councilmen during that period.

Those who occupied seats at the tables were: Chief Burgess Burns, Borough Treasurer Bradigan, Receiver of Taxes M. J. Scanlan, Councilmen McGuire, Kane, Cookley, Stout, Finney, Scheffly, James Lamb, Holman, Gable, Butteridge, Gaffigan, and Gallagher, Town Clerk Cookley, Borough Solicitor J. H. Pomeroy, Borough Auditors John J. O'Hearn and W. P. Delaney, Supervisor Llewellyn, Policemen O'Hara, Dougherty, Phiberty, McGuire and Casey, Electrician W. E. Davies, T. J. Mullaly, Hugh O'Hara, Edward Tobin, Martin Lawlor, of the Shenandoah News, and W. J. Watkins, of the EVENING HERALD.

Attention was called to the fact that of the thirty-five at the tables, twenty were temperance men, or rather total abstinents.

Miss Hot Scheffly served an excellent banquet. It was declared by those who have had the pleasure of attending many of the annual spreads of the Borough Council, the best of all. The menu embraced oysters in all styles, planked shad, chicken, a variety of salads, cold meats of all kinds, rice cream, cakes, fruits, many brands of wines and excellent cigars. Mr. and Mrs. Scheffly were tendered a hearty vote of thanks for the excellent service, upon motion of Councilman Cookley.

The banquet started at 8 o'clock, but it was 2 a. m. before the last of the youthful officials wended their ways homeward. The partings were of a most friendly character, a spirit that prevailed throughout the evening.

A feature of the banquet was the music rendered by an orchestra of four pieces during the entire evening, in an adjoining room. The selections were rendered most excellently.

M. J. Lawlor acted as toastmaster and first called upon Oscar Butteridge, president of the Borough Council, for a response to "What I Know About Making Slaves." Mr. Butteridge's remarks were brief. He said "that many slaves were made this spring and the Irish landed on us."

"Why didn't you put Finney there?" asked Mr. James.

"Because he wasn't an Irishman," was the reply.

The other toasts were: "Ladies of Shenandoah," T. Cookley; "Ladies in General," T. E. Bradigan; "The Stone Crusher," D. H. Llewellyn; "What I Expect to Learn About Collecting Taxes," M. J. Scanlan; "Reporting Under Difficulties," W. J. Watkins; "The Distance from Shenandoah to Hongkong," J. E. P. Scheffly; "County Politics," J. P. Finney; "Borough Politics," A. B. Lamb; "Broken Pumps on Sunday," A. D. Gable; "Our Annual Spread," J. H. Pomeroy.

In addition to the above there were selections by the orchestra, songs by Messrs. Ed. Tobin, Scheffly, Lamb, Holman, Butteridge, Pomeroy and T. J. Mullaly. Burgess Burns sang in Irish and Supervisor Llewellyn in Welsh, and Councilman Holman told of his tribulations as a letter carrier in a Hungarian song. Towards midnight cries for favorite selections were heard from all quarters, Councilman Cookley was among those to respond and he gave "Andy Grimes" and "The Last Rose of Summer."

The whole scene was one of perfect harmony and jollity. At one time Councilmen Stout, Holman and Finney formed a group of "The Three Graces." It was explained that they are the three members of the sanitary committee. Stout occupied the middle chair. Holman's head rested upon one of his shoulders and Finney's head upon the other. The grouping caused much merriment and many jokes.

Mr. Lamb also gave a number of recitations.

Another amusing incident occurred when Councilman Lamb was on the floor singing "The Bold Sailor." Councilman Finney took the gold watch out of Lamb's vest pocket and transferred it to his own. When Mr. Lamb finished the song and found the watchless chain dangling an expression of surprise that caused a great roar of laughter spread over his face.

The movement continued for over five hours and the wind up was the homeward stroll of Lamb and Finney, arm in arm, leaving behind the injunction that two was company and more a crowd.

The regular monthly meeting of the Borough Council will be held this evening and a good opportunity will be offered to see how the banquet voted upon the Councilman's digestive organs.

MRS. BEROFSKI AGAIN.

Conduct Which Tends to Show the Woman is Insane.

At a few minutes before the noon hour today there was a cry of fire on East Centre street. It was occasioned by smoke pouring out of No. 107, which is just east of White street, in great volumes. The fire alarm lever at the corner of Main and Centre streets was pulled, but no alarm sounded, consequently there was not a general turning out of the fire companies and many failed to learn of the excitement.

A number of the officials hurried to the building and upon going through the saloon they found the tenant, Mr. Berofski, in an empty room at the rear. The place was filled with smoke and many were unable to remain. In the middle of the room was an ordinary cooking range without legs under it and containing a fresh wood fire. The range was also without pipe and threw out clouds of thick, black smoke. Mrs. Berofski stood unconcerned near the range. The other contents of the room were two mattresses standing on end in one corner, and a small picture on the wall, and a large picture and frame standing in another corner. Mrs. Berofski was not the least excited and in answer to the anxious inquiries of those who had been summoned to the place she swore in Hungarian and added in English, "No fire, no fire. Me put fire in stove, that all."

James Grant, who only purchased the property last week, appeared upon the scene. Lawyers C. N. Brown, of Minersville, and M. M. Burke, of town, was with him. The appearance of the three was purely accidental. After Fire Marshal Early threw several buckets of water into the range, and put out the fire Mr. Grant, upon advice of the attorneys, left Chief Burgess Burns and Chief of Police O'Hara on the premises to keep guard until some steps for proceeding against the woman could be decided upon. Burns and O'Hara remained on duty at the place all afternoon.

Public attention was first drawn to Mrs. Berofski about two months ago when she caused an alarm at 2 o'clock in the morning by starting a fire in a furnace in the basement of the same building.

Some proceeding will probably be taken against the woman to night. It is generally believed she is insane.

Political Points.

The spring elections throughout the country show decided Republican gains, which bodes no good to the Democratic party in the future.

If the gentleman, who is hunting up the book numbers of the HERALD containing allusions to President Cleveland in order to help along his chances for appointment of postmaster, will call at this office he can secure them at small cost without losing any valuable time. As a reminder, we would suggest that he get the files of the News, the Gazette, the True Blue Democratic organ, and send it with his application. It will be a great help.

Harrity is on top. He is the only Democrat in Pennsylvania whose recommendations, so far, count for anything.

Only two hundred applicants in this county for Harrison Kear's place.

The number of applicants for Federal positions from this town is growing. Strange to say, nine tenths of the applicants voted for the late lamented James G. Blaine eight years ago. Perhaps Mr. Cleveland went mad with a little thing as that.

A number of Shenandoah applicants stood a civil service examination in Philadelphia this week.

The "Anchor Pain Expeller" is sold at 25 and 50 cents a bottle at C. H. Hagenbuch, P. P. D. Kirkin, J. M. Millan, and other druggists.

DIED.

Friends and relatives respectfully invited to attend.

Being Improved.
Bolton's large building, corner of Main and Oak streets, is undergoing needed improvements. A large corps of painters are at present engaged in painting the exterior and the building will be otherwise improved inside and out.

Heart Is Injured.
David Holroyd, of West Lloyd street, sustained a painful injury to his head at the St. Nicholas colliery while unloading a timber wagon. One of the beams of the wagon struck him upon the forehead, but fortunately the blow did not leave much force.
