GLEANINGS HERE AND ELSEWHERE

The Cream of What the Reporters Hear and See in all Sections of the Town Nicely Grouped Together.

It has often been said that although they do not understand a word cannot speak the English language there are many of the Polish, Hungarian and Lithuanian people in this town who can manage their affairs and are as sharp in their dealings as many of the best people who enjoy all the advantages of the language. This was confirmed last night by the result of an attempt to bring within reach a Hungarian who had made arrangements to leave the town and defraud his creditors.

This creditor in this case was M. D. Malone. He learned that a man who owed him a good-sized bill had disposed of his business and was making arrangements to leave for other parts. Malone felt that if he could find the man he could get the money out of him. The Hungarian suspected that Malone was looking for him and kept out of the way. The creditor and Constable Tommy spent several hours trying to locate the Hungarian, but failed. They suspected he was in a certain house and resorted to schemes of all kinds to make sure that he was there, but at all approaches they failed to glean any satisfaction. Last night the creditor prepared a special delivery letter addressed to the wily Hungarian, dropped it into the post office and then placed a guard on the house. The delivery of the letter fell to the lot of Carver Bartsch, whose district takes in the First ward. Bartsch called at the house and a man who said he was the party to whom the letter was addressed gave a receipt for it. The watchers learned of this and a constable was sent for the signer. The discovery was then made that the party who had received the letter was not the party wanted, and then that scheme was balked and the defaulting creditor is still enjoying liberty.

Per Property Improvements.
The exterior of the Robbitts' building at the southeast corner of Main and Oak streets present a fine appearance since the painters have finished their work. The upper part of the block is painted the same color, but the lower part presents a variety of colors so that the different places of business may be distinguished.

L. Mefosch is about to remodel the lodge room in his building on South Main street. Among the improvements will be a dome to provide ventilation for the place.

John R. Jones is making extensive improvements to his property on North Jardin street. He is building extensions at the rear and removing a building which has occupied the middle of the lot to the rear alley and the Cole property on North Main street, which was recently altered so as to have a large display window, is now being additionally improved by the painters.

Election of Officers.
The following chiefs of Shenandoah Tribe, No. 155, Improved Order of Red Men, were raised by D. G. S. Benjamin Haskey at a meeting of the Tribe last night: Prophet, Allan Edmonson; Sachem, Arthur Whomley; Sen. Sag, Samuel Shaw; Jun. Sag, David T. Williams; Chief of Records, D. O. Pritchard; Keeper of Wampum, Benjamin Haskey; 1st Sannap, David Jenkins; 2d Sannap, Edward Capper; 1st Warrior, George Bayliff; 2d, George Goodhead; 3d, John R. Jones; 4th, Samuel McCutcheon; 1st Brave, Robert Sherman; 2d, Isaac Bates; 3d, Samuel Hughes; 4th, Robert S. Roberts; Guard of Wigwam, David Cole; Guard of Forest, William T. James; Representative, John R. Jones; Collector of Wampum, Lewis Hughes.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

To the man or woman who visits Chicago during the coming summer will be opened a veritable world's treasure house, rich with the spoils of time. The trophies of industry, art and invention will be offered in invaluable profusion. In every department of man's ingenuity, research, skill and talent, the best that has been done or can be done, is represented. Whether it be in the beauties of architecture, as displayed in the mighty buildings that enshrine these treasures, the products of the teaming farms in Agriculture Hall, the mighty engines in Machinery Hall, the ten thousand forms of usefulness and beauty wrought from earth's raw materials and gathered under the spacious roof of Manufactures and Liberal Arts Hall, the ores in the Mines and Mining Hall, dug from the mines that pour forth streams of gold, and silver and iron and coal, the wonders of the harness and obedient lightning in Electricity Hall, or the triumphs of the painter and sculptor in the Art Gallery—in all these there is an endless field for interest, instruction and culture which cannot but broaden and refine all who visit them in a spirit of inquiry and desire to learn. And, subsidiary to these main features, are hundreds of those, instructive and entertaining, that are in themselves an exposition such as few have ever had an opportunity to see. Then, again, the gathering of the different nations and peoples must do much to bring men nearer together, and help break down the barriers of prejudice, faith and caste. The World's Fair Columbian Exposition cannot but be a great educational, refining and civilizing force.

IN THE COURTS.

Some Cases in Which Town People are Interested.

Counsel in the license case of Mrs. Breen, of South Main street, Messrs. Pomeroy, Beddall and Burke, have agreed on Monday next as the day for argument of the rule to show cause why Mrs. Breen's license should not be revoked. The records in the case proper have been taken to the Supreme Court on a writ of certiorari.

Attorney Hollopeter has pending in court motions for new trials in three cases. They are the Shenandoah Lumber and Feed Co. vs. Joseph Rogers, in which Rogers won; P. J. Ferguson vs. Landenstein, in which Landenstein won; and Joseph Wadlinger vs. P. J. Ferguson, in which Wadlinger won. The motions will be argued on Monday next.

The attorneys and others interested in the injunction suit of the Shenandoah Water & Gas Co. against the Borough of Shenandoah believe that the court will have its decision in the case ready by Monday, next.

A WAREHOUSE ROBBED

CHARLES RADZIEWICZ, THE GROCER, IS THE LOSER.

$200 WORTH OF GOODS GONE

Several Hundred Pounds of Tobacco and Boxes of Soap Carried Away—No Clue to the Burglars.

The people of this town have reasons to be on the alert as well as those of Mahanoy City for the burglars seem to have inaugurated their spring and summer season. The first appearance was made at the Mahanoy City post office on Tuesday night. The second was given in the warehouse of Charles Radzewicz, the grocer, last night. The haul made at the latter place is valued at $200 by the loser.

When Mr. Radzewicz's driver went to the warehouse this morning he found the front and rear doors of the place unlocked. An investigation showed that a staple had been forced from the frame work of the front door. This allowed admittance and the other door was unlocked from the inside. The warehouse is near the Philadelphia and Reading freight depot. Its rear door faces the railroad tracks. The floor of the building, the ground about it and the railroad tracks were strewn with loose tobacco and broken packages. There were three brands of tobacco in the place. All that was picked up about the building and along the railroad tracks was of one brand. The burglars had exercised a choice and carried off all the tobacco of other brands. The driver gathered a large box full and several packages of the inferior.

Mr. Radzewicz figured up his loss today and says there are missing 300 pounds of tobacco, several boxes of soap and a large quantity of raisins.

The grocer's driver has called attention to a singular fact. He says that yesterday he noticed two letters "W. R." cut into the front door of the warehouse, but he paid little attention to it, supposing that some boy had been amusing himself. This morning he noticed that the letters were not perceptible, but upon close observation it was seen that they had been covered over with dirt and tobacco. The latter was the same as that found strewn about the building.

The driver's story about these letters is considered of some importance by some who say that the warehouse was probably marked by an advance guard and when the burglars got through their work they raised the mud and tobacco over the letters to give them an old appearance.

Mr. Radzewicz has reported the case to the Chief Burgess and police and it is hoped, for the credit of the borough authorities, they will leave no stone unturned to bring about the arrest of the guilty to justice. Prompt action may prevent other raids.

PERSONAL.

County Commissioner Bowers paid a brief visit to town this morning.

Letter Carver Litch, of the Mahanoy City force, was in town yesterday.

Councilman Finney is in Harrisburg looking after the Board of Health bill.

Huber S. Thompson, Chief Engineer for the Girard Estate, was a visitor to town to-day.

Was a Success.
A very pleasing entertainment was given in All Saints' Protestant Episcopal church last evening under the auspices of the Daisy Chain Society connected with the Sunday school. There were numerous vocal and instrumental selections, readings, recitations and tableaux in all which the children acquitted themselves very gracefully and afforded the audience much satisfaction. The entertainment will be repeated at the same place this evening. Admission 10 cents.

Sacharine Kindness. Dr. Cox's Wild Cherry and Seneca, the popular Cough and Croup Syrup. Price 25 and 50 cents.

The Branch Filled.
The immense branch caused on the double track coal and freight line of the Lehigh Valley railroad by the cutting in of workings of the Knickerbocker colliery on Tuesday, has been filled and traffic over the line was resumed to-day. A large gang of navvies worked at the place all of Tuesday and yesterday and several train loads of shales and culm were required for the filling.

OBBS OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

Some pretty tough swearing is frequently done by witnesses in cases before Justices of town at times, and quite frequently, and the First ward Temple of Justice which is presided over by Squire Monaghan is the scene of some of the most reckless statements by people under oath, but the gems of all cases on the docket of that court did not appear until a Hungarian named Joe Popenicka took the stand on Tuesday afternoon. Popenicka was arrested at the Lehigh Valley depot as he was about to start for Wisconsin, leaving an unpaid bill in the hands of a grocer. Notwithstanding the grocer and his wife swore positively that Popenicka had dealt with them for months the accused swore he did not know them, had never purchased a cent's worth from them, and had never been in their store. Squire Monaghan did not believe the denials and ordered that Popenicka be taken to the lockup. Before he reached the cell the prisoner admitted that he owed the bill and paid it, with the costs of suit.

A subscriber of the HERALD has requested the publication of the following under the belief that the scheme can be put in operation in the town: "In Philadelphia some fifteen families have formed an organization known as 'The Co-operative Kitchen Association.' There are some sixty persons in these families and each individual pays $3 a week to the treasurer in advance. In addition to a sinking fund and to provide kitchen utensils an initiation fee of $10 is charged. A vacant house has been procured, a manager placed in charge and all meals are cooked therein and sent to the subscribers. The latter can have their food prepared according to their taste by proper notice and care is taken to keep the dishes warm, they being sent in kettles containing compartments equal to the number of persons in a family. If, after a reasonable term of trial, the scheme is found to work it will undoubtedly have many imitators for its advantages are obviously so great as to need no elucidation."

It is reported that the operations of L. A. Riley & Co. will be extended at Centralia in the near future by the leasing of the Germanstown coal basin north of the Logan colliery, which is now operated by the company. If the lease is secured the coal will be prepared at the Logan.

A Shamokin girl started a story that a Livermore of that place had attempted to criminally assault her. The Livermore was arrested, but when the girl was put under oath she confessed that the charge was a false one. An example should be made of that girl as a warning to others.

Political Potatoes.

South of the mountain Democrats, especially those living in the farming districts, do not propose to let all the best offices to be gobbled up by north of the mountain Democrats. We predict nothing in saying there will be a Kilkenny fight when the Democratic convention meets.

The friends of the new party movement are very active and a call may be issued almost any day. Those most interested are German Democrats.

How it galls the friends of Lincoln, Grant and Blaine to see their sons and relatives removed by the Democratic administration. If the Democrats ever had any hope of carrying the state next fall they might as well disburse their minds of that notion now.

Postmaster Medlar, of Mahanoy City, has not had a bed of roses since his appointment. Robbed three times in three years is more than falls to the lot of the average country postmaster.
