An Open Gas Jet Comes Near Making S. Costigoni Join the Great Majority.

Boston, April 19.-S. Costigoni, as the gister of the New England house reads alls from New York. He retired Monday night apparently in the best of spirits. He came to this city on busidess and was to seep several engagements yesterday. Short ly after 8 o'clock yesterday morning he was ound in his room unconscious from the effects of gas.

Drs. Elliott and Dunn were called and worked for half an hour over the man. He was scal to the Massachusetts general his-pital. It is said there that while he is not or of danger it looks as though he will eventually recover.

The police feel positive that the man did not attempt to commit suicide, as there is not the slightest indication of any effort at self-destruction.

NOT A SINGLE GUN WAS PIRED.

Admiral Cherardt Visits the Ships Without Being Saluted.

FORTHER MORROW, Va., April 19 .- A strange thing happened yesterday. Admiral Gherardi visited seventeen ships and not a gun was fired. Arrayed in his best Sunday multiorm, the admiral boarded a steam harnch and went off to pay official calls upon the vessels of the first American pastron, the five Englishmen and the Distribution.

Ordinarily such a round of visits would have been the occasion for filling the atmosphere with sulplureus smoke, but when he left his own stip the admiral ordered that no salute be fired and of the foreigners he made a respect that the same noisy honor be emailed. In the afternoon be went to the six other. American ships, but he was carried around with a silence that was more impressive than the scrutes.

Attempted to Murder an Officer, Boscon, April 19.—Edward Purnham prisoner at Deer Island, tried to murde Chicor Edward A. Marsh yesterday by stabbling him in the neck with a knife. The blade entered under the right ear, making a painful though not dangerous wound. Burnham was overpowered after stabling another officer in the hand, and locked up.
