WEY HE LAUGHED.

A Paters m, N. J., man laughed so meartily that he swallowed four artifluiniteach-ids own testh they were -and it was with great difficulty a physician fished them out of his throat, Now every judy in Paterson is Strying to find out what the joke was, and the press des atches indicate that there is a wild yearning in that section of New Jersey to have the joke handed around for general consumption.

Perhaps Paterson has been sufferlug from a 1 de fa-niue, and Patersonians are in tire need of something to laugh at, so that they may limber up their sides and remove the globs of gloom from their hearts. If this is the case, a right good loke, liwith a really comical strain in it, is as badly wanted down there as it is by the humorous weeklies. A joke that causes a man to swallow his teeth and almost Inhale his palate ought to be a ratifer, but it may be a cheeslest kind of a chestnut. The man who laughs must be considered lusyery case of his kind. He may be so over-building ! with mirth and human kindness that he will laugh at any "kind of a lobs. A little mess-cover-4 quip about house eleaning may throw him into a spays. The when-is-a-houssnot-a-house gut may provide a verient whirl of enjoyment for him. If he is matried have sure to always turn his risibilities loose over the motherin-law joke. He may be a huncorist himself, and so laughs at all josses that may get into circulation, and meller the just Jerking business good.

And was knows in re this Palerson joke that it was not the teeth-swalower's employer who told the j ke, and what is a man to do in these hard times when he bears a joke made by the person who pays him salary but enchinnate.
