YESTERDAY'S BIG STORM.

THE WORST EXPERIENCED IN TOWN FOR YEARS.

CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE WAS DONE.

Electric Light Wires Break and Leave the Town in Darkness. Roofs Blown From Several Buildings—Terrible Night.

Ever the people of this part of the county had occasion to appreciate the advantages afforded in every day life by the forerunners of modern science and progress such as electric lights and electric railways that occasion was afforded last night when the town was in darkness and through the gloom the electric cars wended their way into and out of the town. Shenandoah lost its identity completely last night. A more dreary and desolate looking cloak never fell upon it since the days of the great conflagration. The streets were deserted, a few stores were illuminated, but only the proprietors and clerks were in them. When saloonkeepers lock their doors at half past ten o'clock at night there must be something wrong. In fact more than one saloonkeeper closed up before ten.

The night was a terrible one. The storm which had played havoc all day continued with all its fury and the one prayer of all was that the fire flood would not link arms with it.

The storm was the most severe that has visited this section since the great blizzard of 1888 and has been more disastrous in many respects. It has given this community a idea of what a western town experiences when a tornado strikes it.

Turkey Run! Poor Turkey Run on the hill! She did suffer yesterday. Her attitude challenged the winds and they accepted most demonstratively. There is a row of houses in this patch owned by Messrs. Morgan and Davenport. Eight of them are roofless. The roof was transferred to the yards yesterday afternoon and for hours after the occupants of the houses wept as the merciless rain poured upon the belongings and forced the owners to seek shelter in the houses of neighbors. Letter Carrier Holman describes some of the scenes as pitiful in the extreme.

The house of Peter Holden was also deprived of its roof yesterday.

The damage to property in town is very extensive. The painters, carpenters, roofers and other tradesmen will find much work before them and property holders will find many demands upon their purses.

The source of greatest anxiety last night was the Lithuanian church at the corner of Jardin and Cherry streets. Early in the evening Councilman Gable caused ropes to be stretched across the streets near the structure to prevent drivers and pedestrians passing, fearing that ornaments on the towers, or the steeples themselves, might fall. And lest the ropes might be collided with in the darkness three special police were put on duty at the approaches. The condition of the steeples was such that Mr. Bradford, the division superintendent for the P. & E. C. & I. Co., whose residence is nearly opposite the church, took his family out of the house yesterday afternoon and sought accommodations with friends. Several other families in the neighborhood vacated their homes for the night.

Members of the Borough Council have intimated that should anything happen this church by which a reconstruction should be made necessary the rebuilding will have to be done on better plans than the present structure is based upon.

The roof of a house on South Jardin street, owned by James M. Morgan and occupied by ex-policeman Williams, is minus its tin covering.

One of the show windows of T. J. Broughall's store on South Main street is soiled.

A piece of window sash and two panes of glass parted company with the Evangelical church at the corner of Cherry and West streets and was found some distance away on the former street.

A regular fixture is that notwithstanding all the large objects that was carried through the streets yesterday and last night no person sustained injury.

The roof of a house on Poplar street owned by John A. Lewis was taken off clean last night. Part of it fell into the street and the rest went into the yard.

A large wagon shed connected with M. P. Fowler's lumber and feed warehouse, near the Kehler Run base ball grounds, was blown down yesterday afternoon and several wagons and sleighs were buried by the sides and roof.

The sign that stretched across the pavement in front of McGowan's shoe store on East Centre street for several years west down with the gale yesterday.

A part of the high fence between the Ferguson and Davis properties on South White street fell before the gale.

The swinging signs that left their fastenings during the storm were too numerous to be recorded.

In addition to the fence on P. J. Ferguson's South White street property the lattice work on the house was badly damaged.

Most of the ornamental iron work on the roof of the Schmidt building at 14 and 16 South Main street was blown down.

It is the intention of the editor of this column to publish in it everything that may tend to interest those who propose visiting the World's Fair and at the same time herald the exposure of any bogus schemes laid by sharpers who hope to prey upon such prospective visitors. One fraud was unearched in Chicago the other day. The South Shore Cattle Company issued circulars setting forth that it had in process of erection one hundred cottages of four rooms each, just four blocks south of the Exposition grounds; that the cottages would have a sitting room, twelve by twelve, with folding bed, and three bed rooms with large double beds, sufficient for eight persons; that the cottages would be furnished elaborately, lighted with electricity, and to cap the climax the occupants would find a commodious restaurant on the grounds. Accompanying this description was a circular admonishing people to engage rooms immediately by sending fifty per cent. in advance and agree to give fifteen days' notice when they wished to occupy cottages. The prices were fixed by the circular at two dollars per day for each room.

If any papers have snapped at this bait they have been fooled. The Advertiser's Gazette says that the South Shore Company has no offices; that it has no cottages in course of construction; that the grounds referred to are owned by individuals, who deny any knowledge of a hotel scheme; and that the authorities will prosecute the swindlers.

Accord.

Owing to alterations I want to make in my building, preparatory to the opening of the additional branches of dry goods and carpets to my present business, I am now offering all of the present stock in the building at an immense reduction for cash only, so please don't ask for credit.

Respectfully,
J. J. FRANEY.

Now for Bargains.

Max Schmidt will soon be able to move into his elegant and commodious headquarters on North Main street, where he will open an immense stock of spring and summer dry goods and dress goods which will represent choice selections from the large city wholesale houses. Meanwhile Mr. Schmidt is selling out his old stock at his old store, 14 South Main street, at ten cents of the dollar.

The G. A. R. Fair.

Despite the storm last night the attendance at the G. A. R. fair in Robbins' opera house was quite good and a large number of people were there until a late hour. The fair will remain open every evening this and next week, except Sundays. It is a rare treat and none should miss it.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL!

A REGULAR MEETING WAS HELD LAST NIGHT.

ORDINANCES TO BE ENFORCED

It Has Been Decided to Hold a Special Meeting Next Tuesday Evening to Arrange for Issuing Water Bonds.

CONTRARY to expectations many of the Councilmen braved the storm last night and a sufficient number wended their way through the dark and gale swept streets to form a quorum and hold the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Borough Council. The members present were Messrs. Betteridge, Kane, Finney, Lamb, Holman, Gable, Gaffigan, Dougherty, Gallagher and Mejnure.

The roads and highways committee presented the agreement signed by the steam heating company in exchange for permission to dig up Main street to lay pipes. Among the conditions provided by the agreement is one requiring the company to keep in repair the paving and gutting that may be injured by the work and to make the repairs at all times within fifteen days after receiving notice. The same agreement applies to parties wishing to lay sewer pipes.

On motion, it was decided to notify the parties interested in laying the Main street sewer pipe that their agreement must be in the hands of the street committee by Saturday evening, or the work will be stopped.

Councilman Gable stated that people undertake to dig up the streets without first securing a permit and Mr. Lamb called attention to obstructions on the pavements and the blocking of alleys by bins and wagons. Mr. Finney thought something ought to be done to prevent the piling of beer kegs on the pavements. He did not think they were pleasing to the eye on Sunday, anyway.

During the discussion of these subjects Chairman Betteridge announced that he would not allow members to speak more than twice on one subject.

Mr. Lamb made a motion that the Chief Burgess be instructed to enforce the ordinances relating to obstructions and should he fail to do so the chairman on roads and highways fine him. After some discussion the motion was defeated, with the understanding that the Chief Burgess proceed to strictly enforce all ordinances and be prepared to account to Council for any neglect of duty.

Councilman Gaffigan reported the bad condition of Huckleberry alley, from West to Gilbert streets. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Chairman Betteridge's resolution making inducements to home and outside capitalists to establish industries in the town was brought up again, but was laid on the table for consideration at the next meeting.

On motion it was ordered that an order for $1,000 be drawn in favor of Quinn & Kerns, the public water works contractors.

Councilman Holman asked that permission be granted the property holders on Cherry street to lay a ten-inch sewer pipe from Gilbert street to Pear alley. The request was granted.

Council adjourned to meet next Tuesday evening when there will be a discussion and arrangements of matters looking to the issuance of bonds for constructing the public water works. The amount and life of the bonds, together with the rate of interest, will be fixed.

KILLED ON THE RAILROAD.

A Miner Meets Death While on His Way to Work.

William Czakawicz, a miner 48 years of age and residing at No. 318 West Coal street, was killed this morning while walking on the Lehigh Valley railroad east of the red bridge on his way to work at the Knickerbocker colliery. He was struck by the east-bound passenger train which leaves here at 6:04 a. m. The injuries were about the head and the body was not mangled. The unfortunate man left a wife and five children.

Points.

It was a terrible night. Beautiful day after the storm.

A musical entertainment at the fair to-night.

You should visit the G. A. R. fair in Robbins' opera house.

Michael Peters recently purchased a farm in the Catawissa valley.

Many old chimneys that needed repairing, took a tumble yesterday.

A bag of flour will be given away at the G. A. R. fair this evening.

Baron's circus may exhibit in Shenandoah early in the fall when on the home stretch.

Genuine army bean soup at the G. A. R. fair to-night, with hand truck accompaniment.

People who planted their gardens a week or two ago may have to do the work over again.

At the Lehigh Presbytery yesterday $200 was appropriated for the Presbyterian church of town.

Messrs. Milt. Masters and John Rock visited Beaver valley on an exploring expedition this week.

Representative Coyle's resolution to appoint a mine commission has found opposition in the Senate.

The Pottsville Chronicle was eighteen years old this week and, like good whiskey, improves with age.

Fish preparators were not so numerous this week. It was not a good week for trout. Weather too cold and wintry.

Polishers and Hungarians seeking farms in the Catawissa valley can be accommodated by calling at the HERALD office.

Women can now hold the office of Notary Public in this state, but, up to date, no Shenandoah women have been appointed.

People who were too much in a hurry in taking down their stores were a little sorry about it yesterday. Rough! Money had odds.

There are many sirenes on the road but they have had a hard time of it thus far. Circuit weather has been too backward in coming forward.

CENTRALIA.

Miss Sadie Schum and Miss Dengler, two of Mt. Carmel's popular school teachers, spent Sunday here, the guests of Miss Mary Benson.

Miss Sue Derr, who was visiting Shamokin friends, has returned home.

E. J. Ball is all smiles. It's a boy. Albert Garner and Will Lewis, of Ashland, called on Centralia friends on Tuesday.

Mrs. George Tiley, of this place, accompanied by her nephew, Thomas Southward, of Lucas, Pa., visited Shenandoah on Tuesday.

Miss Reime Snyder, of Wilkes-Barre, who was the guest of Mrs. Henry Henskowitz the past two weeks, has gone to Mt. Carmel to visit friends.

Thomas Colihan, our popular young tonorial artist, spent Sunday with friends at Loontz Gap.

Will Cassidy, of Shenandoah, was a visitor here on Tuesday.

Miss Doris Maley is visiting friends at Mahanoy Plains.

Will Ryan and Charles McBroarty spent Tuesday evening with friends at Ashland.

Miss Mary Lynch has gone to Steelton to visit friends.

John Cook is rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter.

Mrs. Henry Henskowitz is visiting Mt. Carmel friends.

Important Notice.

All property holders on Main street, between Centre and Lloyd streets, who have not agreed to connect their properties with the sewer pipe now being laid, are requested to meet at the Scheldy House to-morrow (Friday) evening, at 8:30 o'clock. This will be the last chance they will have to connect with the system at first cost. 4-20-93

License Money.

Shenandoah liquor men paid the county $14,700 for license to sell liquor this year, $11,700 of which goes into the borough treasury. A nice sum to go towards running the borough government.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once.
