REVISE THE MINE LAWS.

A number of the papers in the ccal fields are complimenting Hop. J. J. in the Legislature at Harrisburg last week to have a commission appointed for the purpose of revising the mine and ventilation laws and investigating the causes of some of the many disnet re of recent date. Mr. Coyle is worthy of all the applause given him for the step he took was one of the most important made in behalf of the miners for several years. The resolution pased the House without any objection, but it is feared that through the intervention of people who do not seem to understand the real object of the measure, its course through the Senate will not be as smooth and rapid as it was through the lower House. The measure is now in the hands of the Senate committee on mines and mining and reports have reached the ears of the miners here that some of the corporations are disposed to hamper its passage. There need be no fear that the object of the investigation suggested by the resolution is to murp the powers of the courts and to unjustly or unwarrantably cast upon the corporations the responsibility for the mine disseters which led to this Spovement. The object is to have a thorough investigation in order that the commission may understand just where the mine laws have fallen short and enable it to frame laws that will meet the requirements as revealed of conjecture and probably will be, for a definite course has not been decided upon. by the investigation. Any careful operator should see that such a step will benefit him as well as the miner. The resolution is a good one and the miners of the Schuyikill coal region, the constituents of Senators Keeier and Monaghan, will expect those gentlemen to befriend it. Senator Keefer will be looked to especially, as he is a member of the committee that now has the matter in hand. The miners of the state will expect to see that resolution returned by the committee to the Semile with a favorable endorsement, and its ultimate passage by the Senate. It is a matter of life and Senate. It is a matter of life and which compelled the government to keep death with them, in a literal sense, the gold reserve in its entirety except for will brook no excuses on the part those who may bring it about.

IT MAY SNOW AGAIN.

It is a deplorable fact, remarks the Bethlehem Times, that Mr. Cleveand's principal appointees so far have been men who sought the disruption of the Union. He himself was not, in war times, noted as a supporter of the federal government, and it looks very much as if his old time prejudices are today controlling him in his apare today controlling him in his ap-that there is no danger in the situation and pointments to the most important that if the workings of the silver law were public offices. This was the policy decided on as the best one to pursue and the stories of any ruction in the cubiagainst the Union, and who, although apparently "reconstructed," seem to Washington, April 24.—To a news manifest little affection for the flag of the nation. Secretary Carlisle Says the Supply is Increasing. The Treasury to Continue the Pattey New Being Pursued-Nearly 84, 000,000 Offered and Accepted in a Single Day-What Fresident Cloveland Says.

Washington, April 24.—The gold reserve, depleted Friday, is intact do-day, offers aggregating nearly $4,000,000 having been received and accepted by the secretary during Saturday. Secretary Carlisle says he did not think, in justice to those who were disposed to supply the government with gold, that their names should some to the rollef. The secretary expressed | tion. the hope that the supply would continue Coyle on the resolution he introduced to lucriase so that he would be able to meet any damand made on the treasury for gold for export to morrow.

He said that the treasury would continue the policy now being pursued of paying out gold for the treasury cots notes, and that at an early hour Saturday, when it seemed that the reserve would be encroached upon, he directed the sub-treasurer at New York to continue paying these notes as hereto fore. He was therefore at a loss to under stand how any uncertainty prevailed in the public mind as to the action of the treasrry department in the premises.

That such oncertainty still prevails, however, is swident from the numerous slegrams being received by the president and Secretaries Carllale and Lamont and from the further fact that several promi-nent New York bankers are here for the purpose, if possible, of getting a better and clearer knowledge of the financial situation from personal laterviews with cabinet of leers and treasury officials.

It is interesting to note in connection with the gold situation, how, during the was few years, the treasury has lost gold. On January 31, 1859, the net gold in the treasury was $194,000,000; on January 31, 1891, $141,000,000; January 31, 1891, $141,000,000; January 31, 1893, $119,000,000, and on January 31, 1893, $108,000,000.

The exaggerated stories which gained circulation to the effect that President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle had had a serious misunderstanding which might lead to the resignation of Mr. Carl-isle are officially denied by members of the exbinet and officials of the treasury department. The relations which exist to-day between Secretary Carlisle and the pead-dent are as cordial as they have ever been. What the future policy of the treasury may be regarding finances is still a matter The department will wait for developments A as the emergencies arise it is as the department will be fully able to set them. The administration feels conident that the present financial flurry is a temporary one, based on an exaggeration of conditions, and they have no fear that Such a policy, if followed out, might produce a sentiment in support of the president's known anti-silver views.
