NEW PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDING.

Steps Taken to Make a Structure a Model One So far as Heating and Ventilation are Concerned.

It is expected that the new school building which is to be erected at the rear of the school building corner of Centre and West streets will cost between $10,000 and $12,000. These figures may seem a little high to some, but there is a sentiment in the School Board that while they have the work in hand they may as well do it well and give the public school service a building that will bear criticism and will not require repairs and alterations from time to time.

The architect has completed his drawings upon the plans suggested by Superintendent Freeman and adopted by the board. They call for a six room frame structure to be built entirely independent of the brick building now on the lot. The cost of the building itself will be about $9,000. The balance of the estimate stated above will be expended in giving the structure the best system for heating and ventilation that can be secured.

The latter subject has been given special attention by the school directors of late. They say that it is easy enough to have the schools properly heated, but the real trouble is a proper method of ventilation. The great complaint by teachers in the past has been that they and their pupils have been between two fires. When not made dull and drowsy by heat, drafts from open windows threatened them. On Monday last Directors A. J. Gallagher, Frank Hanna, Michael Brennan and Mark Burke visited the public schools of Wilkes-Barre and Plymouth and inspected an improved system of heating and ventilation in vogue there. They were very favorably impressed with the systems and it is understood they will recommend the introduction of one of them in the new building. In fact the companies controlling the systems have copies of the architect's plans and are preparing to discuss the matter at the special meeting of the School Board tomorrow night.

WM. PENN.

Mrs. David Mitchell visited relatives at Mahanoy City this week.

John Sparrow, a miner aged 27 years, was killed at the Wm. Penn colliery yesterday by a fall of top coal.

Frank G. Clemens, superintendent of the Mid Valley collieries at Mt. Carmel, was a visitor here Wednesday.

B. D. Beddall left for New York City last evening to witness the naval review to-day.

D. S. Crooks, of Tremont, who resided here 28 years ago, called on friends here Wednesday.

Misses Maudie Lewis and Irene Meise attended a party given by Mrs. Blaklee at Delano last evening.

The G. A. R. Fair. The attendance at the G. A. R. widows' and orphans' fund fair was very large and the receipts were very satisfactory. Interest in it is increasing and each succeeding night the faces of many new visitors are recognized in the gathering. Contributions also continue arriving at the fair. Another beautiful cake with a G. A. R. badge on the icing has been presented by Burkhardt, the confectioner, and Keithan, the confectioner, has also contributed a large and beautiful cake. The jig dancing which was to have taken place last night was postponed because the dancers were engaged elsewhere. They will positively appear to night. There was some excellent singing instead of the dancing by Messrs. Gibson and Ramer. Two prizes were awarded last night. Harry Irwin got a can of lard and Daniel Wagner secured a bucket of jelly. Look out for the Friday and Saturday night attractions and go to the fair early. Some very valuable presents will be given away during the balance of the week.

They Paid Fines. Richard Barrett, Joseph Mansfield and Joseph McAndrew were before Squire Monaghan, charged with assaulting Adam Powshaw at the breaker of Packer colliery No. 3. The boys made a practice of throwing pieces of coal and slate at Poles and Hungarians working about the place. They pleaded guilty to Powshaw's charge and were released upon paying costs and promising to behave themselves in the future.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The War Department's section of the Columbian Exposition is a magnificent setting forth of everything pertaining to "patriotism, pomp and glory." Every species of arm from the Continental musket to a 52-ton rifle cannon are here, and the most approved methods of slaughtering one's fellows have their completest manifestation. The riders are gay with the flags of every branch of the service, and there are caissons, ambulances and artillery and army wagons by the score. To round out the scene a sort of military "Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works" shows drivers belaboring refractory mules, companies of infantry and troops of cavalry all clad in brand new uniforms of the latest regulation style. Just now these latter gauds are hidden by black cloaks and hoods, completely concealing the forms and faces of the figures and as one looks upon a ghostly company of cavalry it calls to mind the headless horseman before whom Ichabod Crane fled, waking the echoes of Sleepy Hollow in his headlong flight.

Not brilliant, but truly representative of the progress of mankind and civilization, is the Patent Office display in the Interior Department. Here is an immense collection of models of all the wonderful machines that America's inventive ingenuity has brought into being to lighten the labors and increase the productive capacity of man. From their inception to their present perfection, are shown these marvelous types of brain in material form and experience that do the world's work with a swiftness superior to that of the strongest and most skillful hand.

PERSONAL.

John Colett left for Philadelphia this morning.

George W. Dawson spent last night in Girardville.

C. D. Fricke was a guest of friends at Pottsville last night.

Miss Gussie Fricke visited friends at Girardville last evening.

C. T. Gibson attended the funeral of a relative at Port Carbon yesterday.

Dr. J. C. Biddle, of the Miners' Hospital, was a visitor to town yesterday afternoon.

John M. Book, one of our letter carriers, went to New York yesterday to witness the naval review.

E. K. Kehler, the North Main street grocer, is happy and the cause of his joy is the arrival of a bouncing baby boy.

William Czyszowski, the East Centre street hotel keeper, left town yesterday afternoon with his friends to visit friends in Reading.

John F. Higgins and wife, Mrs. M. Mellet and Mrs. J. J. Bradigan were among the town people who attended the O'Neill funeral at St. Clair yesterday.

Michael Whalen and wife, who came to town to attend the funeral of Mr. Whalen's aunt, the late Mrs. Mary O'Neill, left for their home in Boston, Mass., last night.

Robert Hillhouse, formerly of town but recently holding a prominent mine position at Blackwood, has accepted the position of inside foreman at Crystal Ridge colliery, Hazleton.

Set Him Right. Geo. Augustus Sala, the well known English writer, on his last Australian trip, writes as follows to The London Daily Telegraph: "I especially have a pleasant remembrance of the ship's doctor—a very experienced maritime medic indeed, who tended me most kindly during a horrible spell of bronchitis and spasmodic asthma, provoked by the sea fog which had swooped down on us just after we left San Francisco. But the doctor's prescriptions and the increasing warmth of the temperature as we neared the Tropics and, in particular, a couple of Alcock's Porous Plasters clipped on—one on the chest and another between the shoulder blades—soon set me right."

The Cream of What the Reporters Hear and See in all Sections of the Town Nicely Grouped Together.

His morning Mrs. Kaaka Halanis was taken to the county jail by Constable Tosh to await trial on a charge of conspiring to kill her husband. The co-conspirator was Steve Procsak. He skipped out before he could be arrested.

Mrs. Halanis had most of her furniture sold and had an arrangement made by which she was to meet Procsak, who was one of her boarders, in Brooklyn. The husband says that his wife and the boarder quarreled with him. The wife placed a knife on a table and told the boarder, Procsak, to use it if the husband would not leave the house. Procsak picked up the knife and was about to use it when another boarder interfered. Mrs. Halanis and Procsak are large, stout people and much younger than the husband, who is small and delicate.

Surprise Party.

John Bunn was pleasantly surprised last evening by a large number of his friends who met at his residence on West Lloyd street and presented him with a handsome rocking chair. Among the number seated at the excellent supper prepared for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Spearce, Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Lathlain, Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. George Holvey, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Boddall, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. David Price, Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. William Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davies, Mrs. J. Boughley, Mrs. Rebecca Hood, Mrs. Jacob Davies, Mrs. John Bittler, Mrs. Sarah Kennard, Mrs. Reese Thomas, Mrs. M. Horrocks, Mrs. G. Hildebrand, Mrs. Maud Acker, Mrs. William Bainbridge, Mrs. C. G. Palmer, Mrs. T. James, Mrs. Kate Seinemann and Mrs. Jennie Hinks. The party broke up at a late hour and before taking their departure the guests wished Mr. Bunn safety and pleasure during his trip in the near future to England and Wales and a happy return to his family. Mr. Bunn will start on his journey on the 6th of May and expects to be absent two months.

Initial Step Taken.

EDITOR HERALD.—By persistent effort on the part of a few, the base ball spirit has been sent a rolling much to the desire of the many and will continue in motion 'till the wind up of the season of '93. Every incentive has been given to the promoters of the movement of organizing and sustaining a team to assure unbounded success. The earnest appeals of the HERALD has had the desired effect in arousing new energy all along the lines of base ball development. The lease of the park has been obtained under trying difficulties for the remainder of the year. A governing board of thirteen directors has been appointed to advise, direct and manage the club on a business-like basis. Lack of confidence in the management of a team has always been a drawback to those interested in the game, but from now on you can pin your faith to the honesty of the new undertaking and look for nothing save a first class club. Work at the park will begin as soon as the weather permits. Many improvements will be made to make it a point of comfort for those desiring to view with interest the exciting uncertainties of the national game. S.

Old People.

A correspondent writes us "What shall be done with our old people?" Why, take the best care of them, and do everything you can to make them happy. Old age is a heavy burden at the best, and we should lighten it by every means at our command. This is the only true Christian doctrine and the rising generation should be taught its practice. Another thing suggests itself in this connection—and that is, what to do with the fast young men who are overtaking an "innocuous desecrated" before their time? This is, indeed, a problem for the wisdom of this age of advanced and advancing civilization. There is one thing we wish to put into the ears and minds of the boys of to-day: He who shuns the tendency to fast life and builds a solid foundation of character and education with a body unimpaired by dissipation or excess will be in command of the opportunities of the future. The weak and weary youth will be left behind in the race.

OBES' OBSERVATIONS.

What He Sees and Hears During His Travels.

Some people can't understand the schedule of rates which has been fixed for the electric railway line running from Mahanoy City to Locust Dale. The rates fixed are five cents from Mahanoy City and intermediate points to Mahanoy Dale and five cents from that place to Locust Dale and intermediate points. I was a passenger on a car yesterday which was boarded at St. Nicholas by a number of people bound for Girardville. They paid five cents each. When the conductor made a second collection of fare at Mahanoy Dale there was an uproar, but everybody paid. One headless young man who evidently considered himself of some importance said, "If I had the time I would not pay this extra five cents, but would contest the case and make the company look over its charter. It only calls for five cents from Mahanoy City to Girardville." Some of the passengers joined the conductor in a hearty laugh over this little speech and a grin spread across the face of the indicator.

The borough officials of Mahanoy City are emulating the example set by Supervisor Llewellyn by having the mud scraped in heaps on the streets and carted away. One thing Mahanoy City boasts of, its alleys are kept in better condition than ours.

The report that there are to be changes in the working force of the Schuylkill Traction Company on May 1st has been confirmed. M. H. Ballou, the acting superintendent, W. S. Downey, accountant, and special officers Richard Amour and Charles Faust will retire. It is understood that B. Frank Wagner, of Girardville, will succeed Mr. Downey and B. Elwood Jones, at present civil engineer of the road, will become general manager.

A Hungarian miner was observed walking along the Lehigh railroad early yesterday morning on his way to work and considerably under the influence of drink. Some miners who saw the man took a view of the matter that makes it worthy of more than passing notice. They said that if drunken workmen goes to the top of a slope or shaft he stands a poor chance of getting down into the mines, but they are frequently smart enough to avoid the officials by going down some of the manways on the outskirts. This is a danger which may ultimately require decisive steps to exterminate. A man who will enter a mine in an intoxicated condition deserves the severest punishment. His own life may not count for much, but it is chilling when one thinks of the many other lives he endangers.

The following is the substance of a letter handed me yesterday: Last Saturday evening the Silver Cornet Band of Grier City serenaded some of the residents of the East End (Mahanoy) Tunnel. Several selections were rendered in front of one of the residences and as the echo of the last died out the honored occupant donated the leader 25 cents. The band played "Tara-boom" and passed on.

Many of our townsmen regretted that Rev. John Grubler was unable to give his lecture on Palestine last Thursday evening on account of the storm, but it is understood they will have a chance to hear the reverend gentleman in the near future. ONE.

Obituary.

Death has removed another aged and well known resident in the person of Hugh Lafferty, which occurred at his late residence, 523 West Centre street, yesterday afternoon. The cause of death was paralysis, and the funeral will occur Saturday morning, at 9:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery on the hill.

Mrs. John K. Snyder, of Ashland, died at her home in Ashland on Monday in her 82nd year. The funeral will take place to-morrow and the remains will be interred at Deep Creek. The deceased was related to the Dillman and Kreiger families of town.

The remains of Thomas J. Ferguson, who died of pneumonia at Chicago on Monday last, arrived in town last night. The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. High mass will be held at the Annunciation church and the remains will be interred in the Annunciation cemetery on the hill.
