The calling up on second reading of the act to exempt all cattle from taxation for any purpose whatever created quite a breeze. It includes horses, cattle, mules, etc., and the friends of the Niles bill profeased to see in its passage an attempt hurt the Niles bill, inasmuch as this bill would relieve local taxation, which it is proposed to do by the Niles bill. The Niles people fought the bill all the way to the question of agreeing to it on second reading and then the flood of talk broke 30090.

Mr. Cessna protested that the farmers did not want the bill and couldn't have it, and they objected to being placed in a false position.

Mr. Boyer, of Philadelphia, said the farmers were in favor of the bill-at least a large portion of them were. Mr. Taggart, of Montgomery, and Mr. Tewksbury, of Columbia, denounced the bill and said the farmers were not attempting to shrink any tax. Mr. Tewksbury was especially emphatic in disclaiming the bill on behalf of the agricultural interests. "Lat everybody and everything be taxed for what it is worth," he should, "and let there be no discrimination." Mr. Ritter, of Lycoming, insisted that this bill relieved local taxation and he would vote for it.

Mr. Niles and several other members then spoke in opposition to the measure, after which a vote was taken and it was passed by a vote of 83 to 81.

The act providing for the insurance of the capitol buildings and making an appro-priation therefor, was advocated by Mr. Boyer, who explained the great danger from fire that now exists, and said that a conflagration would destroy many rare and valuable manuscripts and much property that could never be replaced. Mr. Riter opposed the bill on the ground that the state should insure its own build-ings. The house passed the bill on second meading. The act for the retention of two addition. al clerks in the adjutant general's depart-ment to copy for preservation the music rolls of the late civil war passed second reading.

The afternoon session of the house was devoted to clearing the calendar of appropriation bills on second reading.

The principal matter discussed last area ing was the scalp bill, providing for a bounty on the scalps of owin, howks, forces, end. The bill created a great deal of dis-cussion: was amended to deside and finally cussion: was amended to deside and finally by the bound in the bound interference of the scale of the bound in the bou After this a number of bills were passed on | March 23, 1848, and retired September 0, second reading.
