

CARLISLE IS SATISFIED

With the Present Condition of the Treasury.

THINKS HE HAS NOTHING TO FEAR

The Secretary says it will not be necessary to accept the assistance of the New York Bankers—President Cleveland Passes an Uninterrupted Day in the White House.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The president had an uninterrupted day for his executive work yesterday. Under a former ruling Mondays are reserved for his cabinet members, but he has not kept senators and representatives from the White House. Yesterday only the members of the cabinet called, and the president's day was the most quiet day since the beginning of the president's administration.

While the president is holding back such appointments as the immediate prerogative of some of his cabinet ministers are dismissing department employees at about the same rate as fourth-class postmasters are ground out.

In the treasury chiefs of divisions and high-grade clerks who have served in that department for many years are being rapidly swept out to make room for Democrats. Men who were retained on the score of unusual efficiency by Secretaries Manning and Fairchild are being summarily removed.

It is now an open secret that there is to be a clean sweep in the treasury so far as the civil service law will permit.

Secretary Carlisle said this morning in reply to a question as to the treasury situation that it is entirely satisfactory. He in fact expressed himself as gratified at the outlook. He said he had assurance that the New York banks would come to the relief of the treasury with gold should it become necessary, but in his opinion no such aid would be required.

Discussing the Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The president's proclamation of yesterday forms the chief topic of conversation among the politicians. The expressions regarding it vary in character according to the condition of the speaker. Senators and representatives with large and active constituencies were inclined to favor the president's stand, for it relieved them of a great deal of pressure from importuning followers who needs must be presented to the president and sent claims for office advocated.

At the same time the proclamation is not taken to apply as a bar to senators and representatives, nor to mean that they cannot present themselves at the White House to discuss patronage with the president. It bars out the multitude, but lets in the select.

In other words, it is sauce for the goose, but not sauce for the gander.

On the other hand, the rank and file of politicians are loud in their denunciation of the order shutting out the people from personal interviews with the president about matters in which they and the communities in which they reside are vitally interested.

The politicians say that the order will have the effect of making a close corporation of the patronage system by giving senators and representatives the sole right to talk with the president about appointments, and that the president will thus be debarrassed from hearing the voice of the people at large on the fitness of candidates put forward for appointment to office.

WAS BRILLIANTLY ILLUMINATED.

The World's Fair Grounds Lighted Up by Electricity.

CHICAGO, May 9.—The climax in electricity's upward march through the eighteenth century was reached last night when the World's Fair buildings and grounds were illuminated in honor of the "first opening" of the exposition.

The whiteness of the buildings added lustre to the rays from the millions of more lights in the grand place while the golden statues of the republic and Diana, upon which the light from the west end of administration plaza poured in blinding showers, sent back a happy response which blended harmoniously with the whole.

The different buildings were illuminated to a certain extent, but the administration building on the west and the peristyle in the east enclosing the grand court of honor held the multitude spellbound and easily carried off the honors of the night. There were fully 25,000 people present.

Lizzie Gordon Pleads Not Guilty.

New Bedford, Mass., May 9.—Lizzie Gordon, who has been an inmate of Tauton jail ever since August last, under indictment for the murder on August 4, in Fall River, of her father, Andrew Jackson Gordon, and her stepmother, Abbie Durfee Gordon, was arraigned yesterday afternoon in the supreme court now in session in this city. Mrs. Gordon pleads not guilty and was returned to Tauton jail.

McInerney, the superintendent under the former administration were seized at the railroad depot and found to contain several hundred dollars' worth of prison property. McInerney was arrested and held to await the action of the grand jury.

WAS BURIED UNDER TONS OF MARI.

A New Jersey Farmer Meets With a Sad Fate.

RED BANK, N. J., May 9.—Henry White, a farmer residing at Little Silver, was buried under tons of mud in a pit where he had been at work. While loading a wagon he dug too far under the bank and it and he were buried. The wagon was smashed and the horses freed.

A passing teamster seeing the team running away from the direction of the marl pit suspected something was wrong and investigated. He found and rescued White. The farmer is seriously injured.

Think He Is Applegate's Assassin.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., May 9.—Patrick Welsh, who is confined in the county jail here, is thought to be the assassin of John Applegate, the blacksmith who was nearly killed by a blow with an ax about ten days ago near South Amboy. CARLISLE HARRIS' BODY REMOVED.

An Undertaker Takes Charge of the Murderer's Remains.

SINO SING, N. Y., May 9.—Late yesterday afternoon Undertaker Rip, who carries on business in the village of Sing Sing, drove up to the prison. He procured the prison physician's certificate of the cause of Harris' death and then drove into the prison grounds. In his wagon was a highly polished oak casket, which was carried into the death chamber where the body of Harris reposed upon a table. The body, dressed in a dark suit of prison-made clothes, was placed in the casket. The undertaker refused to disclose the plans for the disposition of the body. The silver plate upon the cover of the casket contained this inscription: "Carlyle W. Harris, murdered May 8th, 1893, aged 23 years, seven months, 15 days."

Mrs. Harris said to the reporters who interviewed her last evening that Warden Burton had refused to deliver to her the written statement of her son Carlyle, and on account of this she was unable to furnish it to the press. Mrs. Harris was deeply affected.

TO EXTEND THE FIRM'S CREDIT.

New York Bankers Will Help Out the Cordage Company.

NEW YORK, May 9.—It developed yesterday afternoon that the bankers who advanced money to the National Cordage on its raw material, hemp, etc., have decided to extend the company's line of credit. This will enable the concern to continue its business without interruption and will relieve it from financial pressure for the time being.

The receivers of the National Cordage company have decided to stop all transfers of stock. An order will be necessary from the court to authorize someone to sign the certificates and until that is obtained no more stock will be accepted for transfer. An effort will be made to have the receivers make a concession so that stocks in process of being transferred to-day will not be affected by the order.

The plague of breaking lamp chimneys is abroad in the land. There are two sorts of chimneys; brittle and tough. Ninety-nine in a hundred are brittle.

The worst are imported from Germany. The best are Macbeth's "Pearl-top" and "Pearl-glass." Two sorts as to workmanship; fine and coarse. The fine are Macbeth's "Pearl-top" and "Pearl-glass." The coarse are rough and out of proportion; misfits and misshapen; they do not make a good draft; they smoke.

Two sorts as to glass; transparent and gray. "Pearl-top" and "Pearl-glass" are clear, fine and tough—not tough against accident—tough against heat. Call for "Pearl-top" or "Pearl-glass" chimneys.
