NOTHING LIKE THIS

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC is totally unlike any other blood medicine. It cures diseases of the blood and skin by removing the poison, and at the same time supplies good blood to the wasted parts. Don't be imposed upon by substitutes, which are said to be just as good, or as bad. No medicine in the world has performed as many wonderful cures, or relieved so much suffering.

"My blood was badly poisoned last year, which put my whole system out of order—diseased and a constant source of suffering, no appetite and no enjoyment of life. Two bottles of Swift's Specific cured me. There is no better remedy for blood diseases."

FROM ALL AROUND THE STATE.

News From Different Sections of the Commonwealth.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—A game rooster has for some time been the terror of the children in the vicinity of Warren and Blodgett streets, West Philadelphia, and his latest victim, the 2-year-old son of Mrs. Susan McElhron, of No. 54 Blodgett street, is now in bed, with his face terribly lacerated by the fowl's spurs. The injuries, when taken in connection with the shock, may yet prove fatal.

While attending to her household duties Mrs. McElhron allowed the child to go out on the lot in front of the house to play with some other children. He had been gone but a short time when his mother heard his agonized screams, and running to the front door she was horrified to see the large game rooster standing over the child and spurting viciously at the little one's face, each blow drawing blood. A neighbor struck the rooster with a club and stunned it for a moment, but so full of fight was the fowl that, recovering, it was about to attack the newcomer when another blow laid it out.

The rooster is the property of Mrs. Betty Buckley, living on the same street, and Mrs. McElhron says she will have her arrested for keeping a vicious fowl.

Not Due to a Shortage of Water.

LEBANON, May 15.—From an official source it is learned that the explosion of the locomotive boiler here Saturday by which two persons were killed and several others fatally injured was not due to a shortage of water, and some engineers are inclined to believe that it was not due to a defect in the material of the boiler. This being the case, the company has ordered the other engines of this class to the shops in Reading for a thorough inspection. The engine is the most complete wreck ever seen by railroad men. This is the fourth engine of this class that has exploded.

A Receiver Asked For.

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—Common Pleas No. 3 has been asked to appoint a receiver to take charge of the assets and affairs of the Philadelphia Brown Stone Company, limited. The application was made in a bill in equity filed by David McMaster, individually, and as one of the trustees of the company, against Robert Wood, the treasurer, and also a trustee. Mr. McMaster alleges that Treasurer Wood has used these moneys for his personal benefit, instead of paying the firm a large indebtedness.

Forty-Four Farmers Sued.

WEST CHESTER, May 15.—Suit was Saturday begun against forty-four men in Chester county, by B. F. Pettra, receiver of the defunct Standard Mutual Live Stock Insurance Company, of Reading, to recover heavy assessments, which the farmers have refused to pay. The company was organized in 1880, and failed in 1889. Some of the farmers say they do not own the horses that were insured by the company.

Clement Makes a Big Purchase.

WILLIAMSPORT, May 15.—Joseph C. Brighter, Charles I. James and George B. Merrill, the committee from the Lumberman's Exchange, who were given power to dispose of the logs which recently escaped from the booms here, have made a sale. Ira T. Clement, of Sunbury, was the purchaser, and the logs will be saved at his mill at that place. The logs will probably scale 4,000,000 feet.

Struck His Playmate a Fatal Blow.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Michael George, 15 years old, of Forty-Second and Lancaster avenues, was struck by another boy while playing in the street near his home with a pick-axe. The end of the axe went through his skull and injured the brain. Dr. Killiam, of the Presbyterian hospital, considered the case very serious and has but slight hope of his recovery.

Will Not go to the Dissecting Table.

WILKESBARRE, May 15.—To save the bodies of Harris Henland and Isaac Rosen, one of Henland's best-known citizens, was thrown from his carriage and killed. He was a Union soldier in the late war, a prominent member of the Flemington council, Royal Arcanum and a wealthy citizen.

THIS BANK DIDN'T GO TO THE WALL. Money sent to the Plankinton by special train to take it over.

MINNAPACK, Wis., May 15.—The failure of P. A. Lappen & Co. Friday caused a lively run Saturday on the Plankinton bank, one of the heaviest creditors of the collapsed firm. From 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. a steady stream of people poured into the bank and withdrew their money. They were mostly small depositors.

The bank stood the run successfully, and although about $100,000 was withdrawn from the bank, it was not in the hands of depositors who have faith in the institution.

The bank officials called upon the Continental bank of Chicago, for aid and a special train with $100,000 in gold was immediately dispatched to this city. When the special train reached the union depot the treasure box was put on an express wagon and taken to the bank, where a loud cheer went up from the crowd assembled.

No conquering hero ever received a more enthusiastic ovation than was given to this train box as it was taken through the crowded hallways and deposited in the custody of the bank officials.

At a meeting of the clearing house it was unanimously agreed to stand by the Plankinton bank in its trouble. President Day this morning said the bank had plenty of money at its disposal and that all depositors were welcome to come and get their money.

Confidence has in a great measure been restored by the bank keeping open until 4 o'clock, two hours later than usual, on Saturday.

Governor Peck and leading bankers made addresses to the crowd in front of the bank, and assured the depositors that they would receive dollar for dollar.

Bank Officials Indicted. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 15.—The United States grand jury has returned five indictments against the officers of the First National bank. H. G. Allen, president, is indicted for making false entry in the books of the bank on December 10, 1892; for making false statements to the comptroller and for misapplying funds. Creed T. Walker, cashier in 1890, is indicted twice for making false returns to the comptroller. Warrants for the indictments have been placed in the hands of a deputy United States marshal.

Forfeited to the State School Fund. STOKES CITY, Iowa, May 15.—In 1880 Charles Wetmorey came to Iowa from England. In 1886 he took out his final citizenship papers. In 1892 he died, after selling his property to his father, Richard Joseph Wetmorey, of Brentwood, Essex county, England. Under the law no alien can inherit property in the United States, and the property has been forfeited to the state school fund.

Mrs. Edward Myers.

HE WOULD HANG ALMY.

Christie Warden's Brother Declares Himself.

HIS HATRED FOR THE MURDERER.

He Expresses His Willingness to Spring the Trap that Shall send His Sister's Slayer Into Eternity—Almy Has a Talk With His Attorney and Asks that His Body be Decently Buried.

CONCORD, N. H., May 15.—Alvin Burleigh, Almy's senior counsel, came from Plymouth Saturday and spent an hour with his client at the state prison. Almy greeted him very cordially and appeared in excellent spirits.

During the interview Almy stood by his cell door and Mr. Burleigh just outside, with Deputy Warden Robinson close by. Counsel and client discussed the future life. Almy desiring to obtain Mr. Burleigh's views as to the condition of his soul in the hereafter, and also desired to know what he thought of advancement of the soul beyond the revelation of the Bible, and whether it was inspired. He quoted the teachings of various religions upon these questions. He referred to his devotion for Christie Warden, the first woman whom he had ever loved, and said the winter he passed at the Warden home was the happiest of his life.

He had determined while stopping there to be thereafter upright and just. He said that circumstances make or unmake individuals, little things frequently changing the trend of one's life, and cited his present hopeless condition as a striking illustration of the point.

After speaking about the physical features of death by hanging, Almy inquired about High Sheriff Hurlbut, and being assured that he would doubtless arrange the execution so as to make death instantaneous, he commented on the difference in the various languages he had read of.

In reference to death, he said a condemned man, unlike any other mortal, knew the exact time of his earthly career.

Mr. Burleigh remarked that since his confinement in prison one of the judges who sentenced him, the attorney general who prosecuted him and Christie Warden's father, grandfather and grandmother had passed away.

"Yes," Almy replied, "thousands have gone and many others will go before I do." Almy recalled that the sheriff's duty must be very trying one, whereupon Mr. Burleigh said it would be much more trying for the victim than the executioner. Almy said he did not know about this.

Mr. Burleigh said he could not see him again, and asked him if there was anything more he could do for him. Almy said: "My only further request is that I have a decent burial. Under the law my life is to be taken, that ought to satisfy justice, and I think the law should bury me decently."

Mr. Burleigh told him the authorities must surrender the body on application of kindred or friends, and assured him that he would use his best endeavors to have his wish respected.

Almy then said: "I don't want my body sent to Hanover to be dissected. It will make too much newspaper comment and occasion too much unnecessary demonstration over my remains."

Almy was in varying moods during the interview, at times being facetious and lively and again very serious. During his allusions to Christie Warden his eyes suffused with tears. He expressed thanks to the chaplain for all his efforts, but did not say that his feeling of doubt about all the future was dispelled.

Christie Warden's brother, who is here, declared last evening that he would be only too glad to hang Murderer Almy himself, and as it is, he shall certainly witness the execution of his sister's slayer. Young Warden says he wants it understood that there is no sentimental nonsense about him.
