AT THE COUNTY COURT

CASES THE JUDGES DISPOSED OF YESTERDAY.

TOWN PEOPLE INTERESTED

Objection Raised to the Transfer of a First Ward License. Some Suits Which Have Been Fixed For Trial.

POTTSVILLE, May 15th. JUDGES Pershing, Bechtel and Weidman occupied the bench this morning at the opening of the first week's session of May Civil Court. Judge Pershing who, for a couple weeks, has been suffering from a cold, seems not much the worse for his indisposition, for after the announcement of some opinions by himself and Judges Bechtel and Weidman, he heard motions and arguments in No. 3 court room with his old-time energy and snavity.

Judge Weidman is hearing the case of M. P. Fowler, of Shenandoah, against Joseph Molloy, of Mahanoy City. This suit was brought to recover some $300 on a book account of 1883. Attorney Hollopeter is conducting Mr. Fowler's case and John Dolphin, Esq., represents Molloy.

John H. Coyle, Esq., issued an execution on a judgment against Joseph Kochonowsky, with instructions to levy on certain Shenandoah realty. This threatens to complicate matters, as James Grant recently purchased this property.

Shenandoah certainly has its troubles in license court. To-day M. M. Burke, Esq., presented the application of Mrs. Bensavage, of the First ward, for a transfer of her deceased husband's license, but Attorney Hollopeter and his client, the owner of the property, remonstrated on the ground that the applicant is not a fit person to conduct a saloon. The matter went over for negotiation between the applicant and the property owner.

Fergus Farquhar, Esq., presented a petition and affidavit asking for an injunction to restrain the School Directors of Ryan township from having a proposed school house built.

The following cases were fixed for trial: Henry Heiser vs. Daniel Bailey, Ann Healey vs. The Borough of Shenandoah, and Patrick Igo and wife vs. The Singer Manufacturing Company.

PERSONALS.

Superintendent Thomas Baird and wife spent the day at Pottsville.

Elmer Dentzer, of Delano, spent a pleasant evening in town with friends.

William Grainger and John Watkins spent Sunday visiting friends at Mahanoy City.

Mr. Philip Wesner and son, of Mc Carmel, visited friends in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Williams spent to-day visiting friends at St. Clair and Pottsville.

Mrs. Etta Spangler, of Penn's Creek, Snyder county, is the guest of Mrs. John Rohland, in town.

Miss Della McHale has returned from Philadelphia to spend a few weeks with her parents on West Lloyd street.

John R. Jones left town this morning to attend the Grand Council of Pennsylvania, Improved Order of Red Men, at Sunbury, in the interest of the local Tribe.

John Lewis, of South West street, has returned from Senanton where he attended the Grand Lodge of the Welsh Ivorians. Mr. Lewis says it was the best meeting the order has ever had in this country and the reports were very encouraging.

D. W. Fries and M. T. Schreffler, of Ashland; Edward Reese, of Central; James Goldsmith, of Park Place, and Rees Rorer and W. J. Miles, of Mahanoy City, were in town last night attending a meeting of the Lakeside festival committee.

Killed at Senanton.

Mrs. Jane Hart, of West Line street, today received a telegraphic dispatch conveying the distressing intelligence that her son, Benjamin, was killed on the railroad at Senanton last night. The deceased was 23 years of age. He left here about five weeks ago to seek work in the upper coal region. The remains will arrive in town to-night.

In Henry & Johnson's Arnica and Oil Liniment is combined the curative properties of the different oils, with the healing qualities of Arnica. Good for man and animal. Every bottle guaranteed.

C. E. Severn, of Chicago, Ill., and brother of B. E. Severn, of town, has been awarded a prize of $50 in gold for the best review of a stamp album published by a St. Louis company. Mr. Severn has a natural talent for this kind of writing and has had under his charge the review department of several philatelic papers.

The Shenandoah Sunday News paid the following complimentary tribute to the HERALD and its contest in its last issue: "The World's Fair contest in the HERALD is progressing wonderfully, and we would not be surprised to see 500,000 votes cast before the contest closes. Those teachers who are holding back at present will come to the front with a rush before many days. The HERALD now intends to favor six teachers which shows a very liberal spirit on the part of our contemporary. The News wishes the successful ones a pleasant trip, but their friends want to keep voting for them to make sure of it."

Within a few days the HERALD will be prepared to make its announcements concerning the special palace car trip to Chicago and return in July next. All who wish to be with this party should send their names to the HERALD office at once.

His Personal Experience.

Hon. James W. Husted, while serving his sixth term as Speaker of the Assembly of the state of New York, writes:

"STATE OF N. Y., ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, ALBANY, Jan. 16, 1890. I desire once more to bear my testimony to the value of Alcock's Porous Plasters. I have used them for twenty-five years past, and can conscientiously commend them as the best external remedy that I have known. Years ago, when thrown from a carriage and seriously injured, I gave them a thorough trial. In a very short time the pain that I was suffering disappeared, and within a week I was entirely relieved. On another occasion, when suffering from a severe cough, which threatened pulmonary difficulties, which I was recommended to go to Florida to relieve, I determined to test the plasters again. I applied them to my chest and between the shoulder blades, and in less than a fortnight was entirely cured. On still another occasion when suffering from an attack of rheumatism in the shoulder to such an extent that I could scarcely raise my arm, I again resorted to the plasters, and within a very few days the rheumatism entirely disappeared. I have them constantly by me, whether at home or abroad. My family as well as myself have found them to be a sovereign remedy, both for external and internal troubles. I never had but one kidney difficulty in my life, and the application of the plasters cured me in a week. I desire, as I said before, to bear my testimony in a public way to their efficacy, and I know of no better way of doing it than by giving you my personal experience."

Another Firm Sold.

Daniel Wannemacher, of Allentown, ex-treasurer of Lehigh county, was a visitor to town yesterday and executed a deed before Justice Shoemaker for the sale of his farm of 143 acres in Union and North Union townships to Elchard and Harry Growcott. Mr. Wannemacher is over 80 years of age, but looks younger and is more active than most men of his age. He exhibits with pride a photograph of himself and twin sister and says the lady is quite as young looking and active as himself.

CASES THAT COME UP BEFORE THE JUSTICES.

GAMBLER COMMITTED TO JAIL

A Pole Lost His Watch and Money at a Sunday Game and Causes the Arrest of the Winner. Other Local Items.

HE cries, attendants and spectators at the First ward temple of justice heard lengthy arguments last night in a law suit before Justice Monaghan in which Anthony Klonoski was the accused and Mathias Donashefski was the complainant. The case arose from losses by the complainant while gambling. On Sunday night a number of Polish fellows indulged in a game of cards for cash stakes and Donashefski took a hand in it. He lost repeatedly and finally dropped the last bill of his fund of one hundred dollars.

After losing all his money Donashefski took a silver watch from his pocket and was allowed to continue in the game until the sum at which the watch was appraised slipped through his fingers.

Yesterday Donashefski made complaint under the gambling act and Klonoski was arrested as the winner and holder of the money and time-piece. The complainant also alleged that he was intoxicated when he played the game.

The accused was unable to furnish bail and this morning Constable Toomey took him to the county jail.

THE BEEF QUESTION.

Manager Mayberry Gives His Side of the Story.

EDITOR HERALD:—Your article in Saturday's edition of the HERALD in regard to high prices of beef and also stating that the Shenandoah Beef Company is in no respect a benefit to the meat industry of this town should not pass unnoticed. Allow me to say that the meeting held at the saleroom of the Shenandoah Beef Company did not, as the writer expresses it, "break up in a quarrel." On the contrary, it was a meeting of business men who are gentlemen and are not disposed to quarrel, and I must say was an orderly meeting as was ever held by a body of men. There was no "lively time," as the writer had been informed, and no one left the room until the meeting was dismissed. Furthermore, the HERALD stated that the desire was to advance steaks from 10 and 12 cents to 18 cents. Allow me to say that the highest price demanded by the dealers at said meeting was 14 cents. A number of dealers expressing themselves on the subject said that the meeting did not interest or benefit them, for they were already getting prices far in advance of the prices mentioned. By this you will see that there was no desire on the part of the dealers to demand prices which the people with limited means could not afford to pay. The writer has had as much experience in the retail business as the large majority of dealers in Shenandoah and knows what he is talking about when the subject is meat. In view of this fact let me give the candid-minded people of Shenandoah who believe in a fair day's wages for a day's work a few figures for consideration. The Shenandoah Beef Company is now supplying top grades of beef for 8 cents which the home-dressed meat dealer will admit he cannot dress for less than 22 cents. How do we do this? Swift & Company buy from 3,000 to 5,000 cattle every day in the year and must necessarily buy much cheaper than the local drovers who buy only 20 cattle a week. Then the freight is much less on dressed beef than on live stock. When beef is worth 8 cents per hundred a hind quarter sells for 9 cents and a fore for 7 cents. Those who buy beef know that a number of dealers are now selling certain cuts for less than cost on this basis. When a hind quarter which costs 9 cents is cut into steaks the waste through fat and bone on a 150-pound quarter is at least 20 pounds, which leaves 130 pounds of beef. The flank weighs 10 pounds and the shank meat 10 pounds, which never brings cost, and deducted from 130 leaves 110 pounds of steak, and allowing $1.50 for flank and shank meat will leave the dealers 110 pounds of steak at $12, or 11 cents a pound. I do not believe any business man in town can realize a profit by selling for credit or cash goods which cost 11 cents and over for 12 cents. Nor do I believe that a candid-minded citizen of Shenandoah is not willing to pay 14 cents for beef steak which sells for 25 to 28 cents in all parts of the country to-day. Furthermore the retail prices of meats has nothing whatever to do with the Shenandoah Beef Company. We are selling fully two cents a pound higher than we were three months ago and the retail dealer has not advanced any; nor have the dealers of Shenandoah expressed any desire to return to the old methods of killing because they know that the beef market is high and our prices much lower than they could dress beef for. Hence the absurdity of hoping that the Shenandoah Beef Company will advance and by so doing drive the butchers to using home-dressed stock. The idea of using home-dressed stock is a quarter of a century behind the present age, and the people of Shenandoah have long ago come to the conclusion which the whole country has reached, namely; that beef should be dressed where it is raised and not freighted for several days without food or water, which results in injury, brings on fever, disease, etc. If the Shenandoah Beef Company have brought the prices of beef to a lower standard it has not been an injury, but rather a benefit to the community. Because in so doing the railroad transportation companies and middle men who buy in very small quantities are the men who suffer. Hence the falsity of the argument used by the gentleman with whom the HERALD had held conversation. Allow me also to add that we are in no way interested in the retail prices; our business is carried on on a cash basis and a customer who cannot pay does not buy. The fact that we opened our saleroom to dealers for a meeting and that the secretaryship was forced upon the manager of the beef company does not prove that the manager was interested. We have established a business which is with you to stay, and we have the support of the dealers because it is for their benefit to deal with us. Our refrigerators come from the west in less than three days, and all the physicians in the country agree that meats are not fit to eat until they have been killed fully that length of time. Your article states that the Shenandoah Beef Company is an injury to the town because through it parties have started into business who know nothing whatever about beef. This is impossible and were it so it only helped break up a monopoly. There are no dealers in Shenandoah to-day building brick blocks and tenement rows, because the monopoly in the beef business has been broken up and that because the western dressed beef has brought prices to a lower standard and the consumers whose protest you printed have received the benefit. The gentleman who says the parties who put down the prices are looking to him for support to raise prices is altogether too self-assuming because the dealers in Chicago dressed beef are fully 4 cents a pound lower to-day than those who claim to sell nothing but home-dressed stock; and some of the learned people of Shenandoah are near-sighted enough to believe that such beef is worth more money. The dealers of Shenandoah are not raising prices that they may accumulate wealth, but that they may be recompensed for their labor and that they have a perfect right to do. The meat industry of this town should not be altogether a charitable institution because times are hard. In conclusion let me say that the article in Saturday's edition is entirely void of logic and the most nonsensical article I have ever read. The Western dressed beef butchers are "masters of the situation," whether prices are high or low, for the market is always much higher for the dealer who thinks that this will revive the old method of killing should the Shenandoah Beef Company demand higher prices. We are and claim to be the poor man's friend and he who thinks he can meet our prices by dressing beef at home is only, as he expresses it, "being led around by the nose."
